ST. PAUL, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15.

THE NEWS.

It appears from our dispatches that the rumor of Secretary Cameron's resignation was well founded and that Hon. Edwin M. Stanton is to succeed him as Secretary of War. The reasons that induced the change in the Cabinet will be looked for with interest. Mr. Stanton has the reputation of being one of the ablest men in the country. He was originally from Ohio; resided several years in Pittsburg, Pa., but for the last ten or twelve years has been a resident of Washington City.

Gen. Burnside's Expedition is reported to be destined for Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds, on the coast of North Carolina.

The telegraphic wires between La Crosse and Milwaukee became disconnected yesterday evening, hence the brief telegraphic report this morning.

A CURIOUS HALLUCINATION.

It is Leigh Hunt, perhaps, who tells a story somewhere of a half-lunatic knave, who imagined that his arrest and prosecution for sheep-stealing was instigated by the personal hostility of George the Third. The King, he said, had always had a spite against him. He had got Parliament to make laws expressly for his annoyance, and, with a view to compass his destruction, had made the chivalrous vocation of sheep stealing punishable with death. The judge and jury he regarded as emissaries of regal vindictiveness and the turnkey as his majesty's prime minister. Led to the gallows he protested that he died a victim of royal persecution—and that his hangman was the Prince Regent in disguise.

Our friend, the Earl, reminds us forcibly of this fantastic varlet. His career runs quite parellel in its essential aspects with that of the chivalrous sheep stealer, except in the circumstance of its peculiar termination—an exception which is due rather to the leniency of our statutes than to any essential defect in the moral analogy of the two cases.

He is possessed of a similar curious hallucination as to the cause of his grievances. Gov. Ramsey is his Georgius Rex. He fancies that Ramsey elected himself Governor in some mysterious way solely to put a stop to Goodrich's snug little Treasury stealing, and that since then Goodrich has been the sole object of Ramsey's Gubernational and personal existence; that the Governor does not sleep o' nights with thinking how to circumvent the prodigious Earl; that the late Inaugural Message ostensibly addressed to the Legislature on public business was in reality a studied assault of the State Administration upon the Earl's extensive personal character; that the Earl is "some pumpkins" in his line—and therefore if he takes the trouble to abuse the Governor—it is a natural and legitimate supposition that any one who may notice his little eccentricities was set on by the Governor. The PRESS being a little severe on his swindling operations is "Ramsey's organ." A few days ago we benevolently attempted to disabuse him of the whim which seemed to occasion him a great deal of unnecessary distress of mind—that the Governor's Message was addressed particularly to the brotherhood of Goodrich. Thereupon the following from the stupendous Earl:

> We are sure that the Governor failed to appreciate that we brought forward the official records for the purpose, and the sole purpose, of proving the fact of his lying, beyond possible question, because, in his reply to our article through his official organ, he fails entirely to discuss, or attempt to disprove, the fact of such lying.
> It is true that he treats Mr. E. S. Goodrich to a great deal of personal abuse. * * *
>
> It is true that he ridicules the personal traits of Mr. Goodrich. * * *

We wonder if the fellow supposes that the sun shines at Ramsey's instigation. If he gets that idea in his head he will be sure to fancy himself the moon, and that daylight is an astronomical trick, intended to throw him into the shade.

We can't allow him, however, to reflect the radiance of the Executive luminary through our columns. We are afraid he will have to be contented with a very sublunary, plebian and unofficial antagonist if he wishes to afford us the little editorial amusement of bandying words with him. It may possibly surprise him to know that Gov. Ramsey is not the editor of this paper; that we are vain enough to fancy that we are competent to attend to our own business; and that until we cease to entertain that opinion we don't propose to divide the editorial responsibility of this journal with any politician or official alive—Gubernatorial or Congressional. You will please, Mr. Goodrich, take notice of our address and direct your lucubrations accordingly. Otherwise they go to the Dead Letter Office without the compliment even of an acknowledgment.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

The Pennsylvania Senate, composed of 23 Republicans and 10 Democrats, elected Louis W. Hall, speaker. The House elected John Rowe, of Franklin county, Union Democrat, Speaker, by a vote 53 to 45 for William Hopkins, of Fayette, also Union Democrat. Rowe was supported by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats, and Hopkins by Democrats who adhere to their party organization.

FREMONT'S POPULARITY IN WASHINGTON.

Horace Greeley lectured the other evening at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, with the President, Vice President, Secretary Chase and other dignitaries sitting by his side. The correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says, "He was rapturously applauded when he spoke of Fremont in flattering terms."

NEWS ITEMS.

—The House Committee on the District of Columbia will, at an early day, report a bill abolishing slavery in the District, similar to that introduced into the Senate by Mr. Watson.

—The Washington correspondence of the New York Times says General Fremont's friends say that he will produce papers seriously compromising prominent persons connected with the Government.

—The Memphis Appeal of the 29th says: All honor to the brave Vallandigham. We trust the South may find an early occasion of manifesting their respect for his grand moral courage.

—Minister Corwin will probably return from Mexico within a month. He has been refused leave of absence upon his earnest request twice repeated, and has other causes of dissatisfaction with the State Department.

—Senator Sumner, not long since, in a speech in the Senate, took Gen. Stone to task for various matters. Gen. Stone addressed the Senator a letter, demanding explanations, and it is said that an interesting correspondence is in progress between the parties.

—General Scott is still in New York stopping at the Brevoort House. He is living a remarkably quiet and secluded life, receiving but few visitors. He does not intend returning to Washington for some weeks.

—Charles M. Jefferds, recently convicted at New York of the murder of John Walton and John W. Matthews, more than a year ago, was sentenced to death on Saturday. The day of the execution is appointed for Friday, February 20th, 1863.

—Col. Henry Dougherty, who was so badly wounded at Belmont, is at the house of his uncle, Col. John Dougherty, at Jonesboro, where he is tenderly cared for. His leg was amputated three times by the rebels, yet so bunglingly that it will have to be again dressed. He is having a patent leg made, and will still command his regiment. His men say they will have no other Colonel.

—Gen. Floyd (the thief) issued an address to his army on the 26th of December, stating that they were at the close of their "laborious and eventful campaign." He tells them that Kentucky has called for help, and that "your country has bestowed upon you the distinguished compliment of calling you to another field of action," viz., Kentucky.

—Gen. Kelly, in command at Romney, has asked to be relieved from his post for a short time, to enable him to regain his health and prepare for active duty.

—The extremely conciliatory proclamation of Gen. Thomas W. Sherman, of South Carolinia, has not induced a single one of the owners of property on the islands to return and accept his protection. Constitutional literature is evidently wasted on South Carolinians.

—It has been widely asserted that a tax of five cents on each telegraph message would raise a revenue of four million dollars. The fact is stated by those who know, that the gross revenue from all telegraph messages in the United States does not much exceed two millions.

—Garrison's Liberator has struck its old flag. The well-known motto at the head of its columns, declaring the Constitution a "covenant with death and a league with hell," has been withdrawn.

—The New York Tribune says there were but few calls made in New York on New Year's. The few ladies who were "at home" displayed their patriotism on Union decorations, &c., but the old customs of the day were generally neglected.

—George Sand has written a new romance, entitled "The Family of Germandre." The Siecle says "it is perfectly pure and moral!"

A BEECHERISM.—The last number of the Independent contains an article on the importance of supplying children with the right kind of reading matter, and winds up with the following remark: "The mortuary reports speak of numbers of children annualy dying from water on the brain. Milk-and-water on the brain is even worse, for the children don't die."

—The Washington National Republican has an eight line criticism on the Port Royal expedition, thus:

> Our objection to General Sherman in his failure to capture Charleston or Savannah, or both, not his failure to emancipate slaves. We believe he has been restrained from advancing by the fear of setting the slaves free, to the injury of men whose hospitalities he recollects much better than he does the instructions of his government.

—Mr. Wickliffe of Kentucky would not answer the question whether he preferred the perpetuation of Slavery to that of the Union, which was put to him in the debate of Monday, in the House of Representatives, by Mr. Lovejoy of Illinois. The inference is that Slavery is dearer to him than the national integrity, or the preservation of Republican fredom. Do the majority of the people agree with him? That is the question on which our destiny depends.—N. Y. Tribune.

—"The war is now merely one for boundaries," said to us the other day a gallant officer of high rank in the army. "But," we answered "suppose the people should make up their minds to strike at the institution of Slavery?"

"Ah?" replied our friend, "that would change the question entirely. But, so long as we go for preserving Slavery, the war can have only one result, namely, the lasting dismemberment of the Union, and the recognition, sooner or later, of the Slave-Confederacy. You can never conquer eight millions of people in their own country, with all its means and resources of defense, unless you make use of the four millions of your natural allies and their natural enemies who live among them."—N. Y. Tribune.

MINNESOTA 8 PER CENT. BONDS.

We notice that there was a sale of these in New York on the 8th, at 75 cents.

REBEL VIEWS OF THE SURRENDER OF MASON AND SLIDELL.

The Southern papers talk enough about the surrender of their envoys, and in a sufficiently ill-tempered manner to show that they both felt an intense interest in the subject, and have been sorely disappointed at the manner in which it has been disposed of. The Richmond Dispatch thinks that the United States have shown themselves to be influenced by a mere love for dollars and cents, and have exhibited a shamelessness so shocking that hereafter the Stars and Stripes will become a badge of degradation and infamy throughout the world. The Dispatch then shows that its wish is father to its thought by laboring to prove that the delivery of the embassadors will only hasten a recognition of the Confederacy by foreign powers.

THE STEVENS' BATTERY.

The monster floating battery being constructed by Mr. E. Stevens for the defense of New York harbor, is so nearly completed that experiments were made on Saturday. The experiments were made at the Elysian fields, Hoboken, where two heavy guns, a Columbiad and Parrott, were placed in position for loading by steam, and fired at a target a quarter of a mile distant. The target represented a section of a bulwark like that of the Stevens' battery, and the balls glanced off, the indication being only a scratch an inch and a half deep. The shot of the Columbiad weighed one hundred and twenty pounds.

Mr. Stevens has expended a quarter of a million of dollars upon his battery beyond the money appropriated by the Government. It is the first of the kind in the world, and the World urges that the work should be completed without delay, as an important portion of the defenses of New York.

SIGNS OF THE BEGINNING.

We have plenty of announcements that the grand advance was just about to begin. We have reasons, however, for attaching rather more importance than is usual in such cases to the following Washington telegram in Forney's Press of Wednesday:

> "Much excitement was produced this morning in consequence of the understanding that a General of a certain division not a hundred miles from Washington had received orders to prepare his command for marching within ten days. In connection with this fact and the sailing of the Burnside expedition, it is no difficult matter to imagine that the Government intends to inaugurate very shortly a movement on a grand scale. The interests of the nation demand that the facts of the case should not be published; but the simple announcement is sufficient to awaken the liveliest interest."

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY TREATY

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post, has the following judicious suggestion in regard to the question of abrogating the commercial treaty with Canada:

> Whether it is wise or prudent to cut off and impede free intercourse with our neighbors under the transient provocation of passionate and ill considered language from a few foolish journals, may well be questioned, but a graver and a higher motive will enter into the consideration of the matter, under the pressure of the exigencies of civil war, which may yet compel us to resort to every possible mode of raising money. It is alleged by the enemies of the Reciprocity Treaty that under it our usual imports from the British provinces amount to twenty millions of dollars, on which duties might as well be paid to the advantage of the Federal treasury. Still, the advantages of unrestricted intercourse with the provinces are so manifest that there is little probability of any disturbance of the treaty.

GEN. FREMONT ON TRIAL.

We some time since announced the determination of Major General Fremont to demand a thorough investigation before Congress of his official acts while at the head of the Western Department. He appeared before the War Investigating Committee at Washington on Monday, and the investigation he has asked for is now in progress.

The friends of Gen. Fremont expressed their utmost confidence in his ability to establish the fact of the correctness of his military proceedings, the integrity of his conduct in all his official transactions, and the corrupt and unjust influences that animated the crusade against him, which resulted in his recall.

The country will look for the report of this investigation, and its results, with no ordinary interest, and we are prepared to learn that he has succeeded in vindicating himself, and fastening the stigma of disgrace upon his persecutors.—Chicago Journal.

THE APPROACHING ADVANCE.

The Commander-in-Chief has determined on a simultaneous attack, and is so drawing the cords, by distributing the troops, making ready the transportation, supplies, &c., that a grand forward movement of 435,000 men will march simultaneously, the immense column extending from the Potomac through Virginia and Kentucky to the Mississippi. The army on the Potomac are now ready for that movement; Gen. Banks, near Winchester, is also ready. Generals Rosecrans, Buell, and Halleck are not yet ready. The utmost diligence and industry are being exerted to have a complete preparation. Rosecrans will be ready by the 20th, Buell by the 15th, and Halleck and Foote by the 25th. The Burnside expedition will leave in ten days on a mission that must necessarily be highly successful.—Cor. Cincinnati Enquirer, 2d.

MR. SEWARD'S TRENT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.

Gen. Wilson returned to-day after a week's absence at home. He reported to Mr. Seward that while gone he heard but one individual express disapprobation of the Trent decision, and that was a boy twelve years old.—N. Y. Times.

SINGING AMONG THE SOLDIERS.—Colonel John Cochran has introduced singing into his regiment, in which all the men and officers are expected to take part, and has established daily religious services through the regimental chaplain, "John Brown's soul is marching on," chorused by a thousand men at evening service parade, gives a Cromwellian earnestness to this war, in at least one camp.

The House then adjourned.

THE RESULTS OF A LIFE DEVOTED TO SCIENCE.

Professor Agassiz, in his article entitled "Methods of Study in Natural History," in the January number of the Atlantic Monthly, speaks with great modesty of his labors in the cause of science. He says of himself: "I have devoted my whole life to the study of nature, and yet a single sentence may express all I have done. I have shown that there is a correspondence between the succession of fishes in geological times and the different stages of their growth in the egg. That is all."

jy28 THOMPSON BROS.

SELAH CHAMBERLAIN Esq., President of the Bank of Chatfield, notified the State Auditor yestesday, of his intention of relinquishing the business of Banking. He returned $28,245 of notes, leaving a balance of only $1,255 outstanding, which will be cancelled as soon as they can be got hold of.

—CARLO, harnessed in his little sled was taken from the front entrance of the Winslow House, while George was delivering a message to Senator Heaton, last evening. The sled was painted green and had PRESS painted on the front and G. R. B. on the back end—Carlo will no doubt find his way home to the PRESS Office, but where is the sled—who will give the desired information?

THE FIREMEN'S BALL.—We trust the entertainment which the Firemen of St. Paul offer to-night at Armory Hall, will attract the attention of our citizens generally. In many respects, the fireman should at least equal, if not rank, the soldier. The home of every citizen is protected by the fireman; even the soldier himself, who is in Virginia, Kentucky or Missouri, fighting for the flag of the nation, must rely upon the firemen to protect his family and his property at home.

Property-holders, and all others, who do not feel disposed to attend the Ball this evening, should at least purchase a ticket. Our Fire Department is a credit to our city, both in regard to its efficiency in times of danger, and its moral deportment on all occasions. We trust there will—as there should be—a thousand tickets sold for this Fireman's Ball to-night.

There will be an elegant supper on the occasion.

MR. A. R. MORRILL.—This gentleman, whose name has been so intimately connected with the prosperity of Hastings for the last two years, as proprietor of the extensive Foundry and Machine Works located here, having sold out, will shortly return to the East to resume manufacturing operations connected with some of the Railroads of the State of Vermont.—Conserver.

GEN. SIGEL'S RESIGNATION—DESPOTIC CENSORSHIP OF THE PRESS.

The St. Louis correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, makes the following statement concerning Sigel's resignation, and the efforts to suppress the news:

> On Thursday night a gentleman attempted to telegraph it to a friend in Cincinnati, but it was suppressed in the telegraph office, while the most of the dispatch went through. On Friday he made the endeavor again, but the Government censor of the telegraph, while virtually admitting that the report was true, peremptorily refused, on the ground that a military order had been issued forbidding the transmission of that intelligence over the wires. We have seen something of this kind before, and are getting used to it. Do you recollect that immediately after Gen. Fremont's removal and return to this city, the Government censor enforced similar telegraphic reticence in regard to him? When the Pathfinder arrived here, and was received more like a conquering hero than a retired General, by one of the largest and most enthusiastic assemblages ever witnessed in St. Louis, that unrelenting censorship did not deem it prudent to let the facts be sent abroad to the press.
>
> The loss of Gen. Sigel is owing to the fact that he was placed in a position where he felt that he could not, consistently with his self respect, remain in the service. He is not an exacting, or even a self-asserting man. On the contrary, we have no General in the department who has borne himself with more peculiar and graceful modesty than Sigel; but to be wholly denied that recognition which is clearly his due, to have the troops he has raised, expressly for service under him, taken away and given to others; and to be placed under officers who are far inferior to him in experience, to say nothing of ability, touches not only a General's pride, but his personal honor.
>
> To say that the masses have full confidence in him would be superfluous; for his fame extends from Maine to Minnesota, and all his reputation here has been honestly earned since the war broke out. The loyal Germans—of whom there are 200,000 in Missouri—sprung to arms upon the fall of Sumter, months before the native born citizens, as a class, left off talking about "armed neutrality," and other exploded theories.
>
> It is only justice to say that, but for the aid of the Germans, the Stars and Stripes would hardly be flying now over a single foot of Missouri soil. They believe in Sigel to a man, and regard him, to a certain extent, as their representative. The rebels often attempt to ridicule his "masterly retreats;" but any one who accompanied either Gen. Lyon, or Gen. Fremont's army on its march through Missouri, has learned from the conversation of the rebels themselves that they fear Sigel more than any other General in our army. In 1849 he commanded the entire revolutionary forces of Germany, amounting to 80,000 men; and if you desire to know what his reputation was in Europe, ask any German who was then in the field, either under Sigel, or in the Prussian army which was fighting against him.
>
> It is said to be Sigel's design, upon the acceptance of his resignation, to resume his former occupation of a teacher in St. Louis.

THE LATEST NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

EXPRESSLY FOR THE DAILY PRESS.

DISPOSITION OF THE CONTRABAND QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.

Tribune Special.—Sometime ago General Hooker, asked Gen. McClellan what he should do with 50 or 60 fugitive slaves who were within his lines at Budd's Ferry. Gen. McClellan replied with an order directing him to enquire in each case whether the fugitive had, or had not been employed in the military service of the enemy. If he had been, Gen. Hooker should employ him, if not, he should exclude him from his lines, thus morally liberating him, and leaving the final disposition of the bondsmen to the civil authorities. It is understood that a similar rule will hereafter be applied in every case occuring within the lines of the army of the Potomac.

ANOTHER MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

A new Military District has just been constituted—the District of Key West—consisting of Tortugas and Fort Taylor. It will be under command of Brigadier General Brennan.

TRIAL OF GEN. M'KINSTRY.

Gen. McKinstry will be brought to trial at St. Louis as soon as his accounts have been fully examined by the committee now in session there.

RECOGNITION OF HAYTI AND LIBERIA.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs will soon report a bill for the recognition of Hayti and Liberia. The bill makes provision for the appointment of a Charge to both of these countries, to be empowered to act as Commissioners of Emigration.

MINORS IN THE ARMY.

The Senate Military Committee will soon report a bill to repeal the law making it obligatory upon the Secretary of War to discharge from service all minors, on proof of their minority.

SECRETARY CAMERON—HIS FOREIGN MISSION AND HIS SUCCESSOR.

(Times dispatch.)—There is much doubt expressed to night whether Mr. Cameron will be confirmed as Minister to Russia, but he will be, I think, without doubt.

Ben Wade was the chief competitor urged upon the President as Secretary of War in place of Cameron.

C. M. Clay returns to take a command in the army. He will be appointed a Brigadier General. The appointment of Stanton as Secretary of War gives great pleasure. They have confidence in his energy and pluck, and believe he will push on the war.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury returned to his post yesterday. One hour afterwards the Chief Clerk was stricken down and is now dangerously ill.

Kentucky News.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 13.

All quiet down the road. A delegation of ladies from Gibson County, Ia., presented a stand of colors at the Louisville Hotel to the 58th Indiana regiment, encamped on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

A letter dated the 27th of December from Charleston, S. C., received here from Col. Woodruff, regrets that the South has not effected his release.

A letter from Catlesbro' of the 11th to the Democrat reports on the 7th on Jennie's Creek, three miles west of Painsville, a skirmish between part of 2d Virginia Cavalry under Col. Bowles and the Federals. The rebels lost six killed, 14 wounded and seven prisoners. The Federals lost two killed and one wounded.

Before Bowles was attacked, Humphrey Marshall addressed his men advising the surrender of their whole forces. His men refused, saying they preferred fighting to such a cowardly course. After the skirmish, Marshall's whole force fled, and 300 picked infantry, and 900 federal cavalry pursued them expecting to overtake them and take Prestonburg on the 10th.

CAIRO, Jan. 13.

Two more columns will be moved into Kentucky to morrow. All transports here have been chartered for that purpose. I am assured from the best authority that troops are on the way here from St. Louis. They will arrive to-night or to-morrow.

Fifty prisoners were taken by Gen. Paine and brought to Birds Point to-day. Among them was Col. Bird from whom the place derives its name. Positive evidence exists that he contributed $35,000 to aid the rebellion, and that he voluntarily sent his slaves to work on fortifications.

A nephew of Gen. Polk was arrested yesterday, near Blondville, Ky., by a scouting party. He had dispatches in his possession to spies.

A reconnoisance made in the direction of Columbus, from Fort Jefferson yesterday, went three miles beyond Elliott's mills, and drove in the rebel pickets. At the same time the gun boats Essex and St. Louis went down the river towards Columbus. At the time the messenger left, heavy firing was heard in that direction.

Message of Gov. Tod, of Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14.

Gov. Tod was inaugurated at Columbus yesterday. His message is brief. The Governor has confidence in the purity and patriotism of President Lincoln, and commends the Presidents determination to restore the Government to its former harmony and vigor irrespective of results upon the domestic institutions of any of the States. He recommends the reduction of salaries of all State officers, except Auditor and Treasurer; the reduction per diem of compensation of the legislators, and reduction on local taxation, the object of these retrenchments being to enable Ohio to furnish more money to prosecute the war. He recommends a new system of taxing Railroads; countenances a tax to support the families of volunteers, and advises that banks be allowed to suspend specie payments, and finally a thorough organization of the State militia.

Reported Engagement at Romney.

FREDERICK, Jan. 14.

Advices from Martinsburg of the 9th, report no regulars of the rebel army there. All the troops at Winchester had left to join Jackson. It is reported that Gen. Jackson had attacked Romney and the rebel loss was 100 killed, 70 wounded and 200 taken prisoners. This was reported by a rebel militia captain. The rebels are said to have burned Bath and will burn other tows to prevent their use by our troops.

News from Fort Monroe.

FORT MONROE, Jan. 13.

The transports Louisiana and New Brunswick with the remaining troops of the Burnside expedition left here last night. A few tugs are still here said to to be part of the expedition.

The bark John Trucks with the Depanieul Zouaves, which went ashore on the passage from Annapolis, has arrived and is still here.

The propellor Matanzas from Port Royal has arrived.

The Spaulding sailed for Hatteras and Port Royal last evening. Commodore Goldsmith is a passenger in the Spaulding.

From Santa Fe.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16.

The Santa Fe mail has arrived with dates to Dec. 29. 2,000 Texan troops are reported to be marching up the Rio Grande river, for the purpose of attacking Fort Craig, and the same number marching up the river to attack Fort Union. The troops stationed at Fort Wise have been ordered to New Mexico. Fort Union is well prepared to receive an attack, but fears are entertained that Fort Craig will be taken, and the Texans advance on Santa Fe.

Considerable excitement prevailed in that place.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.

HOUSE.—The House resumed the consideration from Tuesday of the bill to abolish the franking privilege.

Mr. Porter expressed the hope that Congress would distinguish itself by reforming abuses and making recipients pay postage on documents instead of this being done by the public at large.

Several other gentlemen expressed their views upon the subject.

SENATE.—Several petitions for emancipation of slaves, etc., were presented.

Mr. Powell's resolution was taken up asking the Secretary of War for an answer to the resolution in regard to contracts, &c.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.

The Tribune's Fort Monroe letter of the 12th says common rumor and belief have it that Burnside's expedition, will rendezvous at Hatteras Inlet, and that Pamlico and Albermarle Sounds will be the immediate fields of operation. It is understood the force when fairly afloat on the waters of Pamlico Sound will address itself to Roanoke Island, which is strongly fortified and defended by from 2,000 to 3,000 men. I presume the clearing out of the rebels from all the Sounds will follow. It must not be supposed this is the whole work laid out for the expedition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.

The Secretary of State replied at some length to Mr. Fessenden, Chairman of the Committee on Finance, requesting information regarding the Consular system, and also the reasons which induced the creation of officers and increase of compensation.

KENTUCKY DICTATION.

Kentucky occupied for a long time neutral ground, and even now she has more troops in the rebel than in the Union army. Still she assumes to dictate to the Government, and to order the President to dismiss the Secretary of War. The Border Slave States for a while succeeded the Southern States in dictating to the Federal Government, and now Kentucky is the residuary legatee of all the insolence of all the Slave States. They suppose in Kentucky that because Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln are Kentuckians by birth, the former will do exactly as Kentucky directs. Vain expectation! Mr. Lincoln understands that he is President of the United States, and he will obey the sentiment of the wholly loyal portion of the country, in preference to that of a small part of doubtful loyalty. While Kentucky remains in the Union her slaves cannot be liberated by act of Congress; but she must not be permitted to shield the slaves of rebels. Let her be thankful that her loyalty is sufficient to save her from a general act of emancipation, either by civil or military authority, and let her confiscate the slave property of her rebel citizens if she chooses. But let her not attempt, as Virginia did, to clog the wheels of Government, and thus aid the rebelion. The Free States claim a right to be heard this time, and woe to the rulers who are deaf to their commands. —N. Y. Tribune.

THE ENGLISH AMERICAN VIEWS.

The New York Albion, (the English organ,) in its number for last week, rejoices over the release of Mason and Slidell as "the termination of a dispute that might have brought about irreparable ills." In speaking of affairs in England, it says:

> As to the great Anglo-American difficulty, we gather from various sources that the news of the release of Messrs. Mason and Slidell will be hailed with unbounded satisfaction by the nation at large. Having so often warned our readers against confounding the press with either the Government or the people, we take no pains to anticipate its course. Only this may be said: the Times, which preaches a solemn and misplaced homily to the young Prince of Wales ere the remains of his father are cold, still maintains its bad eminence in stirring up strife between the United States and Great Britain. Its neutrality is all on one side; and to say nothing of the flagrant vindictiveness and injustice of many of its remarks, they are in the worst conceivable taste. The Times will scarcely be content.

TO THE MEMORY OF HON. STILES P. JONES.

The morning's proceedings of the Senate having been concluded,

Mr. DANIELS, of Olmsted, rose and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT:—The presence of a stranger in that seat in this body which was filled with such distinguished ability by my late predecessor, the Hon. Stiles P. Jones, has prepared you for an announcement which it is for me a most painful duty to make.

On the morning of Wednesday, the 25th of September last, surrounded by mourning friends, and in the arms of an agonized family, the late Senator saw the last of earth, and passed to that bourn from whence no traveler returns. As it was my fortune to have been his friend in life, so it was my painful office to close his eyes in the last long sleep of death.

Could the voice of eulogy bring back the dead, I should pray that I might be endowed with the eloquence of the friend we mourn, that I might speak with fidelity and fitness of the admirable traits of character which distinguished him. But the dull, cold ear will respond to no voice but that which shall sound at the judgment day, and I am left to my own unaided utterance, to do justice to the virtues of the deceased.

I need not say how painfully apparent will my own inability appear in view of the brilliant qualifications of the deceased Senator, whose death is to me as well an embarrassment as a sorrow.

In the brief sketch of the life of Senator Jones which it is proper here to rehearse, I repeat the words of a friend of the deceased, written upon the occasion of his death:

"Mr. Jones was born in the State of Connecticut in the year 1822, and was consequently at the date of his death thirty-nine years of age. In 1830 he accompanied his father to Ohio, where, receiving a good common school education, and some subsequent polishing at a High School in Farmington, and the Institute at Austinburg, he entered Oberlin College, from whence, however, he was soon obliged to withdraw on account of failing health. He then, at the age of 21 years, began the study of law in the office of Joshua R. Giddings and Benjamin F. Wade. He was admitted to the bar in April, 1847, and was immediately taken into partnership by Mr. Giddings. His success as a practitioner dated from the beginning of his career. Hardly had he installed himself in his new position, before he was elected to the important office of Prosecuting Attorney for Ashtabula county, which he held for two successive terms. He was afterwards repeatedly urged to submit his name as a candidate for the Legislature, but never with success. He neither aspired nor would listen to any offer of promotion which involved an abandonment, even for a month, of the labors and cares of the profession to which he had devoted himself.

In the fall of 1855, inspired, doubtless, by something of the speculative fever incident to the time, Mr. Jones visited the West, and made an investment in lands in Olmsted county. In March of the ensuing spring he again returned and made his home in Rochester. Here he at once took rank among the foremost of his profession in the State, maintaining this elevation up to the very day of his death.

In the spring of 1860 Mr. Jones was selected by the State Convention as one of the Delegates at large from Minnesota to attend the National Republican Convention at Chicago, and in the fall of the same year, much against his will, he was nominated by his party to the position of State Senator for the county of Olmsted. Out of eighteen hundred votes polled, he received the flattering number of thirteen hundred."

The brief experience of last winter as a member of this body, was Mr. Jones' first and only experience in a legislative capacity. Those of his associates who are here present, will bear witness to the fidelity and zeal with which he labored for the public interests, to the promptness with which he espoused whatever cause seemed to him to be worthy, and to the fearlessness which characterized his opposition and denunciation of any and every measure which in his opinion was not founded on the strictest justice, or which threatened in the remotest degree, the rights, the safety, or the financial security of the people.

There are those who differed, widely and sincerely, I doubt not, from the views taken by the deceased Senator upon many of the exciting and absorbing questions of the time; but I have yet to meet the person who doubted the sincerity of his motives, who questioned the entireness of his integrity, or who failed to admire the singleness of purpose and high moral principle, which distinguished his every word and work.

Characteristics like these, Sir,—honor, honesty, firmness, and fearlessness in the utterance of the truths which they suggested—were qualities which his constituents, who knew him best, the most applauded and admired; and the loss which his death has occasioned, is one that time will heal with exceeding slowness.

Mr President, the brilliance which distinguished the brief career of the deceased as a member of this body, was evidence of that capacity for public service which age and experience would have developed into an elevated and refined statesmanship. Let me not anticipate, however. Let the praises which are bestowed upon our dead friend be circumscribed by the actual accomplishments of his life, and the shaft which will rise to his memory will be broad and high enough.

Mr. President, I have spoken of the deceased only as a public man, in which capacity, much as he accomplished in a little time, he was the least distinguished. Bred to the profession of the law, it was at the bar that he excelled; and one of the most valued tributes which have been paid to his memory, was that of the judge in whose district he practiced, who, in the course of a feeling eulogy upon the character of the deceased, declared that as an advocate at the bar he had no superior in the State. This, from one so capable of judging, and so impartial withal, was a tribute as worthy of him who bestowed it, as of him upon whose memory the honor was conferred.

There is not in all the world so wide a field for the development of what the world calls "sharp practice," as in the profession of the law; but the breath of scandal never dared touch the name of him in whose honor I speak. An unworthy cause he scorned to undertake, and while he would spurn the rich man's plethoric purse, and turn from his unrighteous cause with loathing and contempt, he would take the poor man by the hand, enter with all the fiery vehemence of his nature into the merits of his cause, and if justice were to be got in all the land, justice would be his, without fee and without reward.

I would, Mr. President, that it were proper for me to elaborate more fully upon the character and virtues of the deceased. They who knew him best are they who most delight to speak his praise. Let me be forgiven, then, for seeming to be partial, when I know that I am only just. There are those whose character, like the flame of a lamp, grows brighter the nearer the observer draws. It was thus with that of him of whom I speak; and while those with whom he was associated in this hall, will bear lasting testimony to the talents of the man, it is left for his townsmen and his neighbors to weep with tears of poignant grief, the loss of the man, the brother and the friend.

Resolved, That the Senate has received with profound sorrow the announcement of the death of the Hon. Stiles P. Jones, late a member of the Senate from the County of Olmsted.

Resolved, That the Senate tender to the family of the deceased, the expression of its sympathy on this affecting event; and will, as a testimony of respect for the many virtues of the deceased, wear upon the left arm the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate a copy of these proceedings to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect for the memory of the deceased, the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. HEATON, in rising to second the resolution, paid the following tribute to his late friend and Senatorial associate:

MR. PRESIDENT:—In rising to second the resolutions which have been presented, some considerations as to the transitory existence of man seem to be suggested.

From the dawn of creation to the present hour, the absolute certainty of death and the uncertainty of human life has been constantly and emphatically proclaimed. No spot has yet been discovered on the green earth—the far distant islands, upon the loud sounding sea, amid the genial and balmy climate of the "sunny South," or the brisk and healthy atmosphere of the cold North—where the "grim messenger" does not shake his dusky wings and erect the standard of his sovereign authority. His demands are inexorable, and his decrees are executed with a certainty which knows no change. For ages he has marched over the earth, and poor, weak and fallen humanity has been utterly unable to resist the sway of his power, or turn aside the well aimed arrow with which he destroys human life. There is no house of refuge where mortal man can escape his detection and be free from his deadly embrace. He scorns all distinctions, and smites and brings the proudest Emperors and Kings with the poorest and humblest of the land, to the common grave. He is found upon the mountain's brow, at the side of the bubbling fountain and the silvery rivulet, upon hill top and through every valley, in every hamlet and city, and on every sea and ocean which has been penetrated by the enterprise of man. The mightiest naval armaments have sometimes been appalled by his presence, and the greatest armies have melted and sank before his approach like the snow-flake before the sun.

In view of all these mighty conquests over human existence, has the solemn lesson not been preached every day and hour for thousands of years, that the lamp of life soon goes out, that this earth is not man's eternal abode, but that there is an immortal part within, over which even death has no control, and which is destined to exist through endless ages?

These reflections may not be inappropriate, so long as it has been considered meet and proper in this body to take notice of the death of one whose memory is worthy of being cherished by the entire State. When last looking upon the earnest but agreeable countenance of Senator Jones, little did I conceive that it would be my fortune in this public body to speak of his pilgrimage to the portals of the tomb. When I last grasped that warm and friendly hand, I did not then realize the sentiment of the poet—

"Art is long, and time is fleeting,
And our hearts though stout and brave,
Still like muffled drums are beating
Funeral marches to the grave."

My first personal acquaintance with the deceased Senator, commenced at the opening of the last session of our Legislature. Circumstances brought us together, along with other valued friends, on terms of close intimacy. The favorite little circle in which we were accustomed to mingle from day to day—the group where those who were near and dearest of all earthly objects to him formed part—the many pleasant incidents attending it, will have a lasting place upon the tablet of memory. It was here, after the daily labors of the Senate chamber were over, that we learned many of the characteristics of our friend. The open and generous traits of the Senator soon placed his associates in full possession of his whole character. He had no faculty of concealment. He loathed and despised prevarication and double-dealing, either in the execution of any duty or in the expression of an opinion. Hypocrisy was an utter stranger to his brave and manly heart. He was a true and devoted friend, a bold and magnanimous opponent. Earnestly devoted to the public welfare, he was intenseley aroused at any seeming attempt to wrong the people. His vehement and eloquent denunciations of the spirit of public extravagance and expenditure will not soon be forgotten by those who had the pleasure of hearing them. He spoke in no spirit of malice for the purpose of wounding any man's feelings, but indulged in his impassioned speeches only from a conviction that he was wrestling with some great evil or giant wrong. He was a man of quick perceptions. His mind was stored with the amplest evidence of legal learning as well as historical research. Possessed, as he was, of marked ability and talent, he would have been conspicuous for boldness and eloquence upon a more prominent theater than fell to his lot. The special notice which is taken of him in this public body today, is only a deserved and merited tribute to his memory. He was emphatically an honest man, and were it in my power to place his name on some monument erected to perpetuate the remembrance of the gifted and the eloquent departed of our State, conspicuously among others, I would engrave in legible characters the name of STILES P. JONES.

The Senator evinced a deep interest in all matters of national as well as State importance.

Before his return home at the adjournment last spring, the threatening cloud of war had already appeared in the Southern horizon. He frequently spoke of the pending troubles and ardently desired that no traitor hand would be raised to aim a blow at our glorious Union. After the bloody drama had actually opened by the cruel bombardment of Fort Sumter, every pulsation of his heart was for the preservation of our Government and the triumph of our flag. Within a few days of his departure to the land of spirits he left upon record for the admiration of his friends, the clearest evidence of his unfaltering devotion to his country. As the death damps were almost ready to gather on his brow he dictated a letter in response to an invitation to become a candidate for a prominent office, which breathed the truest sentiments and the most fervid patriotism. The exhibition of such loyalty and devotion at this hour when the wild and wicked attempt is made to dash the Ship of State upon the rock of destruction, is the same which should animate every patriot heart.

But I must no longer, in imagination, linger at the tomb or indulge in the melancholy pleasure of dwelling upon the memory of our genial and warm-hearted friend. In the very zenith of his usefulness he has been summoned to that "bourn from whence no traveler returns." The silent grave is now his long, last resting place on earth, and the wild winds shall sing his requiem until the dawn of that Great Day when the voice of Omnipotence shall summon a slumbering world to the Bar of Eternal Justice. His eloquent voice will no longer ring in the public forum or be heard in defence of the wronged, or in the encouragement of the unfortunate and broken hearted. Amid the sad wail of domestic grief he passed gently down to the Jordan of death when the Angels of Mercy wafted his spirit to the presence of his Redeemer, and there, while assuming the white robes of immortality and at the commencement of its pilgrimage over the green fields and silvery streams of eternal happiness, it is ever ready to exclaim "Oh! Death, where is thy sting, oh! Grave, where is thy victory!"

REMARKS OF SENATOR BENNETT.

MR. PRESIDENT:—Occupying a seat near and having a partial acquaintance with the late Senator, I cannot repress, altogether, the emotions that induce me to give utterance to my feelings, elicited by the tribute of respect paid to the character of the late distinguished Senator, whose virtues we now commemorate.

We cannot fail to cherish in our memory his brilliant talents, his firm and independent adherence to his convictions, his manly and courteous deportment, his quiet and unostentatious manner, his noble and generous heart. With a character and talents, and energy that would seem to remove every obstacle, with literary and legal attainments that would afford all the helps of knowledge, his path seemed open and unobstructed to the most distinguished sphere of activity, to the highest positions of usefulness. But he is cut down We bow in submission to the Divine will, to inscrutable purpose of Him in whose hands are the destinies of all men, and can only in our hearts exclaim—'His ways are not as our ways.'

His youth and character gave promise of a long and bright career of usefulness. The people could well point to him as a conservator of their hopes, as the fearless champion of right, if he stood alone in the contest. They could well regard him as an increasing light in the galaxy of fame. But his star is set. We see the brilliancy of its track, but the light has faded from our view. We can only cherish his memory and emulate his virtues.

This providence, Mr. President, should teach us this lesson—that how earnest and eager soever we may be, in our chase after earthly good, we should not forget our solemn destiny, that death is following in our footsteps—that he

"Pursues us close through every lane of life
Nor misses once the track."

That if we could turn our vision from the false and ephemeral glitter of worldly hopes, if we could take off our eyes from beholding vanity, we might see the shadows of death creeping over us, and the gloom of the grave gathering around us. If we could close our ears to the useless and ceaseless din of strife and confusion on every hand, we might hear the solemn warning, "Set thy house in order, for thou shall die and not live."

We are admonished, Mr. President, by this event, to greater diligence, to more honest and active energy in the discharge of the duties that immediately surround us, in the discharge of all public and private duties, and our high and solemn obligation to Him "in whose hand our breath is and whose are all our ways."

SENATOR CLEVELAND'S REMARKS.

MR. PRESIDENT:—The brilliant talents, the rare social qualities, and the high moral worth of the lamented Senator, relieve the present occasion from the coldness of a barren ceremonial. Besides, it is a striking fact that he was the first Senator who has died during his term of office since Minnesota became a State. He is a representative man, and his, the first of a long line of illustrious names whose talents and virtues shall be commemorated in this hall.

I know nothing of the deceased Senator's personal history, or legal career, beyond what the papers contained upon the occasion of his death. Of his political history I know a little. He was a member of the State Republican Convention which assembled in this city two years ago, to elect delegates to the National Republican Convention, then soon to assemble at Chicago. He was himself chosen a member of that delegation. He took part in the deliberations, and his voice swelled the acclaim of that mighty assemblage—the culmination of a political revolution, which has changed the history of the Republic, and bids fai[r] to convulse the world. The since varied fortunes of some of that delegation, warrant a moment's notice. The Chairman holds a Federal office, and, among the mountains of Sierra Nevada, is toiling to lay the foundations of another "golden State," soon to become the rival of California: One represents his Country at a foreign court. One has returned from legislation to law, and two hold commissions in the army of the Union; of whom, one, the gallant Lieutenant Colonel of the Minnesota First, likes sick at Harrisburg, (would to Heaven it were not so!); while he, whom we now mourn—death has arrested

"His shining course of victory."

At the time of the Convention first referred to it was my good fortune to make the acquaintance of Senator Jones. I confess I admired the man—his character had no disguises—he was frank and generous to a fault—his presence over other men seemed magnetic—he was enthusiastic, affable and winning. One secret of his power, was, that he brought into the rough arena of politics, the amenities of refined, private intercourse. Oh, enviably happy must she have been who shared with him the "sweet converse" of home!

The next time I met the departed Senator, was on this floor. You, who were his brother Senators have not forgotten his playful satire, his flashing wit, and the thrill of his clarion eloquence. His store of language was affluent; he had a fund of happy illustrations, and a fertile imagination; he captivated, if he did not always convince his antagonists; he plunged into forensic contests, for the joy he had in the "fury of the fray." When he spoke upon a subject that possessed him, his soul seemed to get on fire—fire, alas! that too soon, consumed the fragile crucible.

It was my fortune to measure swords with him in this hall of high debate. With pleasure I take to myself the consolation, which a member of the British Parliament did, who often boasted, that he had been floored in debate by the great William Pitt. The cleave of the Senator's "Damascus" left no festering wound.

His death is a calamity to the State—to his friends an irreparable loss. For himself, having reached a high round of a lofty ambition, it was hard "to pass so young,

Unsyllabled by Fame's immortal breath."

To die in the prime of manhood, on the threshold of usefulness, is hard at best. To die thus, when one's country is prosperous, and at peace, is painful enough But to feel the palsying touch of the Destroyer, when home and fatherland are in peril and imploring for help—just now, too, on the eve of the last decisive battle in the western world, between liberty and slavery—between democracy and despotism—and have no share

"In the sudden making of splendid names,"

O, God! is a bitter cup. He did not complain. Life's fitful fever over, he sleeps well. Let him rest. It is sweet to rest. His unfinished tasks remain to us.

Over the lamented grave of our fallen brother, let us drop the tear of regret, then, renew the high resolves of youth, gird on our armor and go forth better and manlier to the battle of life.

Mr. SMITH of Ramsey addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—I should fail to represent on this occasion the wishes of a large number of my constituents, and do violence to my own feelings, did I not give some expression evincing the profound sorrow with which the intelligence of the demise of Senator Jones was received by all our people who had the good fortune to know him personally.

My own acquaintance with him commenced shortly before the session of the last Legislature.

One could not, however, who regards the human countenance as an index of character, fail to perceive Mr. Jones to be an earnest, straightforward, honest man—one above the petty shifts and desires that necessarily accompany the conduct of those who act from purely selfish and sordid motives—our first impression of men, formed upon our knowledge of human nature as indicated by the countenance, voice, bearing, conduct, and sentiments expressed by any one whom we for the first time meet, as a general rule, are just and correct; although we sometimes change on further acquaintance; yet we almost always find that we are again compelled, by some new development, to return to our first impressions and to acknowledge the correctness of this general rule.

The favorable impressions I formed at our first interviews, became strengthened by a daily intercourse with him during the session, rendered perhaps more intimate and confidential, on account of having come here from the same State. The friendship thus formed and interchange of opinions and sentiments did not terminate with the session, but up almost to the day of his death, we were in correspondence. I feel sir, that not only by his immediate personal friends is his loss to be deplored, but that the people of his District, (whose interests he so faithfully guarded,) and of the State at large, by this inscrutable dispensation, have been deprived of the services of one of the best and purest men of the State.

From his age, temperate habits and apparently vigorous constitution, we all had reason to expect that a long and useful career was before him, and that our young State would have the benefit of his services in various positions of usefulness he was so well qualified to occupy.

As a lawyer, Senator Jones justly ranked among the first in the State.

He had enriched his mind by an investigation and study of the great principles upon which the common law is based. He evidently was no superficial student, and consequently was above the quirks and quibblers resorted to by those who understand nothing else.

As a legislator, he patiently investigated every subject upon which he expected to be called on to act; and upon one of the most important matters of the session, his judgment compelled him to act in opposition to the views of Senators representing localities adjoining his own.

Yet notwithstanding the confidence he had in the opinions of those Senators, he felt that he alone was responsible to God and his constituents for his official action. He therefore resolved to follow the dictates of his own judgment, and to do what seemed to him best calculated to promote the public good, regardless of popular opposition.

Those who knew the nature of the ties he severed in thus separating from those who had always acted with the Representatives from Olmsted upon all questions affecting local interests, and of the pressure from his own district to induce a continuance of that action, can alone fully appreciate the firmness of the man.

He lived, however, to see the people of Olmsted county almost as one man endorsing his course and acknowledging the correctness of his conclusions.

As a Senator, he occupied the position of guardian of the public treasury, and by his watchfulness and vigilance he did more than any other man (except, perhaps, the Senator from Washington) to prevent an extravagant waste of public money.

As a debater he stood unrivalled. His eloquent phillippics in relation to the corruptions in the management of the affairs of the State University and upon all other occasions when it was known he was about to speak were always listened to by a full Senate and crowded lobby. Of him as a politician, it is perhaps not improper for me to say that he was willing to sacrifice place and position to bury partisan strife and animosity, forget the past and make any and all sacrifices for the purpose of uniting the whole people of the loyal States in the common purpose of suppressing the rebellion and restoring the Union to its original integrity and asserting the supremacy of the Constitution and laws. To do this he believed it would not only require the moral power but the united physical energies of the whole people.

Whilst we so sensibly feel the public loss, what must have been the feelings of the bereaved members of his household?

To them we can only express our sympathy and tender our sincere condolence. For ourselves we can at least cherish his memory and endeavor to profit by his good example.

REMARKS OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE.

Lieut. Gov. DONNELLY, having called Mr. Reiner to the Chair, proceeded to speak on the occasion as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I should poorly respond to the promptings of my own heart did I not unite with the Senate in its proceedings on this occasion. As presiding officer of your body, it was my privilege during the last session to be brought into almost daily contact with the deceased Senator, in whose honor these resolutions are offered, and I learned in that time to appreciate not only his clearness and force of mind as a public speaker, but his many admirable and endearing qualities as a man and a citizen. Although he came among us unheralded by any distinguished reputation, it needed but his first effort to place him at once among the leading intellects of the Senate and among the first minds of the State. When the news of his untimely death reached us, it fell with a suddenness and an unexpectedness that added not a little to the bitterness of the blow. We had parted from him full of energy, full of hope, full of endeavor;—a few short months passed and the grave had closed over his career of active usefulness;—he had disappeared from our midst.

"Like ships that have gone down at sea,
When heaven was all tranquility."

There is, Mr. President, something peculiarly touching and melancholy in the death of the young. The mind naturally associates with the idea of old age the termination of all earthly labor: the form bows as it approaches its last resting place, the vital forces shrink and abate, the harmonious round of life seems almost complete, and even the snows which fall softly and lightly upon the trembling head are a fit accompaniment for that winter which must close in upon every mortal career. But in the death of the young, nature appears reversed, and the purposes of Providence become obscured from our sight. We behold the bounding pulse of life arrested in mid career, the slowly accumulated stores of learning scattered, the well grounded anticipations of usefulness destroyed, and all the plans and hopes of an honorable ambition dashed rudely to the ground. Such a fate, Mr. President, has been not inaptly symbolized in the symmetrical shaft of marble, rising in tapering beauty from the earth, but midway broken and shattered by the lightnings of heaven.

In the case of our deceased associate we perform more than the ordinary offices of friendship. While we lament the death of the citizen, and extend the offering of our sympathy to those near and dear ones, whose grief no grief of ours can measure; we are at the same time called upon to mourn the extinction of an intellect bright with genius, which would, had it been spared, have shone as a light for the feet of his fellow men, and assuredly have shone only upon that broad path of human progress to which his heart was so ardently devoted. The poet Andre Chenier, the purest genius of the French Revolution, when the frenzy of the populace brought him to the guillotine, struck his head against one of the posts of the scaffold and said, "It is a pity, for I had something here!" His grief was not for the life that was about to be extinguished, but that the harvest of his intellect, in all its richness and abundance, would never ripen for the benefit of his race.

If, Mr. President, the silence and the dust of the grave have fallen upon the lips of our dead friend, let be our duty to atone in part for the inequality of fate, and, in the proceedings of this body erect an humble but enduring monument to his memory. And let us gather from the lesson of his life this one cheering conviction: that though we appear but for a moment upon the bustling and crowded scene of existence, though we quickly pass through it and are as quickly forgotten, no span of life is short which compasses within its range devotion to any true and just principle. The immortality of a great truth attaches to its votaries; and he has not lived in vain, and cannot die unrecorded, who during his career, however short, and within his sphere of action, however limited, has striven to advance, if it be but a foot's pace, the cause and the interest of his fellow man.

The CHAIR put the motion upon the resolutions, by requesting the Senators in favor of their passage to rise. They were passed unanimously.

Mr REINER (in the Chair) said:

The resolutions are adopted, and our heartfelt tribute of respect to the memory of the Hon. Stiles P. Jones has been rendered while realizing in our hearts the sentiment of a gifted poet:

"Aye! weep and sigh, 'tis manliness
To be heart-broken here,
For the grave of earth's best nobleness
Is watered with a tear."

By the adoption of the resolutions the Senate stands adjourned.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear

The PRESS will continue to ADVOCATE THE CAUSE OF JUST AND RIGHTEOUS GOVERNMENT;

The interests of American labor;

THE PERPETUITY OF THE UNION

and the preservation of Republican institutions

THE VIGOROUS PROSECUTION OF THE WAR

for the suppression of the Slaveholders' Rebellion;

The use of every available means to crush it effectually, without regard to the preservation of the peculiar institution for which the war was begun;

The PRESS will give the current history of the war;

"The Best, Cheapest, and Most Successful Family Paper in the Union."

A COMPLETE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE TIMES.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
Splendidly Illustrated.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects.—New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

HARPER'S

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as can not be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies, in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature, London.

No Magazine in Europe or America is so well known; none has half as many readers; and, we may safely say, none has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversified, elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magazine of the day. The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant.

TERMS.

The Magazine may be obtained of Booksellers, Periodical Agents, or from the Publishers, at Three Dollars a year, or Twenty-Five Cents a number. The Semi-Annual Volumes, as completed, neatly bound in Cloth, are sold at Two Dollars each; and the Muslin Covers are furnished to those who wish their back numbers uniformly bound, at Twenty Five Cents each. Twenty Two Volumes are now ready, bound in Cloth and also in Half Calf.

The Publishers will supply Specimen Numbers gratuitously, to Agents and Postmasters, and will make liberal arrangements with them for circulating the Magazine. They will also supply Clubs of Two Persons at Five Dollars a year, or Five Persons at Ten Dollars. Clergymen and Teachers supplied at Two Dollars a year. Numbers from the commencement can now be supplied. Also, the bound Volumes.

The Magazine weighs over seven and not over eight ounces. The postage on each number, which must be paid quarterly, in advance, at the office where the Magazine is received, is Three Cents.

PROSPECTUS
SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.
THE BEST MECHANICAL PAPER IN THE WORLD.
SEVENTEENTH YEAR.
VOL. VI.—NEW SERIES.

A new volume of this widely circulated paper commences on the 4th of January. Every number contains sixteen pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is devoted to the interests of Popular Science, the Mechanic Arts, Manufactures, Inventions, Agriculture, Commerce and the Industrial Pursuits generally, and is valuable and instructive, not only in the workshop and manufactory, but also in the household, the library and the reading room.

TO THE INVENTOR.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the previous week; thus giving a correct history of the progress of the inventions in this country. We are also receiving every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

CHEMISTS, ARCHITECTS, MILLWRIGHTS AND FARMERS!

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found a most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and practical information pertaining to the interests of millwrights and mill owners will be found published in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN which information they cannot possibly obtain from any other source. Subjects in which planters and farmers are interested will be found discussed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN; most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

D. 1861, at 2¾ o'clock P. M., in book "R" of mortgages, on pages 535 and 539, whereby the said Lyman Dayton and Maria B. A BAD SPECIMEN OF PHOTOGRAPHY.

We are afraid that Mr. Lincoln would hardly recognize himself in the representations by which the Pioneer & Democrat, by virtue of the Earl's recent visit to Washington and of Seward's magic imprimature, professes to mirror the sentiments and policy of the National Administration.

It used to be said during the Presidential campaign of 1860, that Mr. Lincoln's friends were quite disgusted with the numerous zealous, but unsuccessful attempts to daguerreotype the countenance of the Republican candidate, and that the ill-favored and ungainly prints in the shop-windows, professing to represent that really pleasant and fine looking gentleman were coarse and tenderous caricatures, circulated by his enemies to bring him into popular contempt. Not that the pictures were not genuine photographs, but that the dagnerreian artist had failed to catch the expression. It was the honest and genial soul of the man—glowing through and lighting up the rugged and homely lineaments—and shedding the mellow radiance of a sort of moral moonlight over his harsher features—that the mere mechanic artist could not render.

The Pioneer operator, we are sorry to say, has revived the experiment of taking Mr. Lincoln's picture, only to crown the atrocity of the failure. His instrument—a Cameron obscurer, our devil says—is a very good one of the kind; the Earle forming the concave Democratic, and August the convex Republican glasses of the double lens. Mr. Lincoln's "statuesque and marble attitude," it must be admitted, has been preserved with preternatural immobility and patience for a distressing length of time; the lights have been studied and the shades adjusted around him by Congressional and political connoisseurs of great celebrity and skill; the instrument has been shifted to the right and left, backward and forward, and all around the central figure, to get him square in the focus of a "satisfactory arrangement;" the photographic impression has been steeped in the alchemy of Federal patronage, and nursed in acid and flames; but the picture, as it comes out of the dark laboratory at last, in yesterday's Pioneer, turns out to be the most hideous travesty of a Presidential portrait ever yet produced. The artist, you see, couldn't, for the life of him, catch the expression. We don't blame him. Truth is, experience has shown that you can't paint the Soul of a man with mere inanimate machinery.

To truthfully transfer the spirit of a man to canvass you must comprehend and feel him and sympathize with the passion you would portray. That it cannot be successfully done by a mere piece of mechanism is shown by the Pioneer's abortive attempt yesterday to represent Mr. Lincoln in the following passage, referring to the appointment of Mr. Stanton, a Democrat, as Secretary of War in place of Mr. Cameron:

"His policy [Mr. Stanton's] whatever it may be will guide the Administration."

That is, Mr. Lincoln is to play tail to Mr. Stanton's supposed pro-slavery kite. But again:

"Three facts are indicated by the appointment of Mr. Stanton; First, that the war is to be prosecuted with the utmost possible vigor. Second, That it is to be prosecuted according to the Presidential programme within the limits of the Constitution and that it is not to degenerate into a crusade against slavery."

In other words, Mr. Stanton will reverse the Cameronian maxim and take care that the war is prosecuted with the utmost possible vigor for the preservation of slavery; and if in accomplishing this supreme object the Union should be destroyed—why the Union had no business to be in the way—and so much the better for slavery.

"Third, That the President does not consider himself the President of any political party—but as President of the United States; and that he is not only ready but anxious to affiliate with all patriots of whatever political creed."

Anxious to affiliate especially with such excellent, old, rabid, Democratic, pro-slavery Secession patriots as the editor of the Pioneer & Democrat. Anxious particularly to affiliate with the "patriots" who threatened soon after his inauguration, if he attempted to execute his oath and maintain the authority of the Constitution in the seceded States, to light the flames of insurrection in the free North. Anxious, tenderly anxious, above all, to affiliate, Mr. Goodrich would have us suppose, with that interesting class of "patriots" to whom slavery is superior to the Union, its preservation the core and essence of the Constitution,—the one thing needful, the summum bonum, the universal solvent and final end of all things.

We are inclined to think the Pioneer is as mistaken in its conception of Mr. Stanton, as it is incapable of comprehending Mr. Lincoln; that the latter may turn out to be as loyal to the spirit of the times as Dickinson, Butler, Cochrane or other quondam Democrats; and that the former will yet show that he is the Lincoln of 1859 and 1860, and prove true in policy, as he is in sentiment and feeling, to the principles which he so nobly advocated in private life, and upon which he was elected to the Presidency, by the great party of freedom under, and of loyalty to, the Constitution and the Union.

THE PAPER BILL FOR THE JOURNALS.

By the following extract from a letter of O. Brown Esq, dated the 9th, the error in the bill for paper for the Journals of 1861 is accounted for, and readiness to correct it expressed:

"Since my return from your place I have examined my paper room, and find nine reams of Journal paper left. At the time the printing account of Journals was settled, I had made no examination or enquiry concerning the paper My foreman says he usually allowed about one quire to each form for bad impressions, and that two or three bundles of the paper were not full counts. For the paper on hand I will satisfy the State, or for any other errors in the account."

FROM THE SECOND REGIMENT.

A correspondent writing from Camp Dana, Kentucky, Jan. 3d, says:

"Companies B, C, E, F, G, and I are in camp at this place; Company D is at Sheperdsville, about 9 miles distant; Company K is at Galesburgh, distant 7 miles, while Companies A and H are at Lebanon Junction, 4 miles away. Thus, we are now doing the same work, which, a month ago it took three regiments to perform. While on the road, we were frequently complimented upon our sturdy appearance, and we have now shown ourselves worthy of the good opinions then expressed.

It is now—when the men are compelled to stand guard, at times, for six successive days—that the health and strength accumulated by a residence in Minnesota begins to show itself. While other regiments have hospitals full to overflowing, we do twice the work with scarcely any positively unable to do military duty; and they are mild cases.

THE NEWS.

—Dr. Cheever delivered a lecture at Washington city on the evening of the 10th on the justice and necessity of immediate military emancipation, maintaining that slavery was annihilated by the act of rebellion; that the Government could only crush the rebellion by conquering the rebel States and reducing them to Territories; that our armies were acting only as a police force, to guard the ghost of an institution that has had no existence under our Government; that loyal slave States were delaying the progress of our arms more as friends than they could as open enemies; that we should arm the slaves and proclaim, if not by the President, then by act of Congress, the freedom of every individual in the land who yields allegiance to the country. The lecture was redeived with vociferous applause, and is significant of the rapid change of public opinion at the capital of the nation.

—It is said that Count Richburg has written instructions to the Austrian Minister at Washington, similar to those of Thouvenel, on the seizure of Mason and Slidell. He pronounces the seizure contrary to international law. Similar views are expected from Prussia and Russia.

—It is said that Howland & Aspinwall were employed by the War Department to purchase Burnside's vessels, spending one million dollars, and receiving twenty five thousand dollars profit.

—General McClellan's health is improving so rapidly that it is thought he will be able to take the field next week, if required.

—An officer who was in a recent skirmish at Little Bethel is ready to make affidavit that the enemy's force was composed o' 50 negroes, flanked by white rebels, and while the whites who fell were left on the field, the negroes were carried away.

—The reported attempt to burn the hospital at Alexandria turns out to be a mistake. The barrel of safety fuse found and the number of boxes of matches, were left in the building by former occupants. Pieces of fuse were found lighted, but by whom or for what purpose is unknown, but there were no combustibles prepared, and no train laid.

—Mr. Osborne, the President of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, has telegraphed to State Treasurer, Mr. Butler, that the 7 per cent. tax in full, in gold, is paid to the order of the State of Illinois at the American Exchange Bank, New York.

—Cairo dispatches to the Chicago Tribune states that the traitors along the Mississippi below that point are getting nervous and uneasy at the prospect of meeting a just punishment for their manifold transgression at the hands of the Union flotilla which is looked for shortly. It is said that our movements down the river have prevented the departure of 30,000 reinforcements for Bowling Green. Desertions among the 30 days' men are numerous. Hollins' battering-ram lies just below Island No. 1.

—Further advices concerning the action between our gunboats and those of the rebels last week below Cairo, develop the fact that three rebel gunboats appeared in sight off Island No. 1, and formed in line of battle and opened fire on our boats, which lay opposite the island. The Essex and St. Louis immediately opened their guns upon them, when the rebels backed out and retreated down the river, followed by our gunboats, which chased them under their batteries below Belmont, disabling one of the rebel steamers. Capt. Porter, commanding the Essex, enclosed in a bottle attached to a buoy the following challenge: "Come out, you cowardly rebels, and show your gunboats." The engagement lasted half an hour.

—The four pickets shot near Bird's Point, of which mention was made in our telegraphic column a day or two ago, were assassinated by citizens and not by rebel cavalry as reported, in consequence of which, Gen. Grant has issued an order to General Paine instructing him to clear out the whole country for six miles around Bird's Point, bringing into camp all citizens with their subsistence, and requiring them to remain under penalty of death; and that all parties found within these prescribed limits are liable to be shot.

—John Schenck, one of the proprietors of the St. Louis Presbyterian, has been arrested, charged with service in the rebel army as chaplain.

—Henry J. Moore has been elected President of the Union Merchant's Exchange, at St. Louis, the new commercial body which has arisen in consequence of the secession proclivities of many of the members of the former institution. A proposition from the old Chamber of Commerce to surrender the hall and property, conditioned on continuing the new organization in a body, was rejected.

—The New York Herald says Ex-President James Buchanan is about to publish a volume entitled his life and times He can't wait until he is dead, but now, when he should esteem it his best chance to be forgotten in the clamor and passion of war, he must rush before the world with a history of himself.

PERSONAL.

—Miss Hudson, of Berne New York, composer of the song so much rendered now a days, "The Death of Ellsworth," has gone to the Potomac to become "daughter" of the Ellsworth regiment. She is intelligent and good-looking, and probably will not long remain the "daughter."

—Horace P. Tuttle discovered a telescopic comet at the Harvard College observatory on Sunday morning, near the star Ista Virginis. This is the tenth comet discovered by Mr. Tuttle within four years and a half. Its right ascension is 14h. 13m.; declination 6° south.

—Benjamin Stark, the secesh United States Senator from Oregon, was born at New London, Conn. He is disgracing even the slim common school education which he received, by following in the footsteps of that other Connecticut traitor, Benedict Arnold.

—John B. Haskin, late member of Congress from Westchester, New York, has been offered a position on the staff of General McClellan, and will probably accept.

—Marshal Pelissier, Duke of Malakoff, landed at a Spanish town recently, on a visit to his wife's relations. Because the General commanding there did not put on his Sunday clothes to meet him, the vulgar, pompous Duke rated him in the most insolent style for his want of respect, etc. The Spaniard was equally fiery, but expressed his wrath in cool irony, so that the Arab-burner shut up in a moment. Louis Napoleon felt it his duty to apologize to the Queen of Spain for the circumstance, but could not reprimand Pelissier, as the latter represents an ugly and powerful Orleans interest.

NUMBER THREE.

General Halleck's celebrated order, closing his lines against the "contraband" class, which has been explained away by Mr. Frank Blair for the satisfaction of Congress and others, has now, it seems, also explained itself away—by falling into practical desuetude. A St. Louis correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes:

"Gen. Halleck's Order No. 3 is the laughing stock of the army, and, if the truth must be told, Gen. Halleck has himself violated the spirit of its by ordering negroes to be seized to repair the railroad and by releasing the sixteen held in custody by the sheriff. The order is continually represented as a dead letter in every camp in the State. They will not execute it, and the officers are loth to attempt to force them to it. Fugitive negroes are treated the same as fugitive white persons. They are subject to the same distinctions in our lines as white, and if set to work, allowed to earn their rations by service. What a pity that it is not rescinded by name as in practice."

AFFAIRS AT PORT ROYAL.

The telegraph correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, under Washington date of Saturday last, sends the following, touching matters at Port Royal.

"Flag officer Dupont in transmitting Commander Rodger's report of the fight at Port Royal ferry, says that his own attention had for some time been drawn to the enemy's design of shutting up our troops in Port Royal Island by placing obstructions in Wosaw river, and Whale Branch; by constructing batteries at Port Royal ferry, at Seabrook, and near Boyd's creek; and by accumulating men in the vicinity in such a manner as to be able to throw twenty-five hundred or three thousand men upon one of these points at short notice. On December 28th Gen. Sherman informed Com. Dupont that the time had arrived for arresting peremptorily the enemy's designs, and for doing it in such a manner as would effectually serve their subsequent purpose. The account of the battle adds no news. Stevens expresses great admiration of Rogers, and Dupont heartily praises Stevens. Some can see in this good feeling a back handed blow at Sherman, whom Dupont is since reported as censuring for inactivity."

THE VOICE OF THE STATE PRESS.

The Scott Co. Journal referring to the bestowal of Federal patronage on the Pioneer says:

The author of this great wrong, whoever he may be, will yet be found out, and the Republican Party of Minnesota will shun him as they would a viper. Whether he occupies a high position or not, he is marked, not because the United States patronage was taken from the PRESS, but because it was given to a paper which is as much a marketable commodity as coffee or calico, and which will yet, by its treachery, judging from its past course, meet out retributive justice to the author of this infamous act.

GOVERNOR HICKS.

Governor Hicks, of Maryland, who left his chair of state yesterday, should not retire into private life without the grateful mention of every true lover of the Union. Probably no single man has done so much to foil the schemes of the rebel conspirators, and to save the national capital, as he. When the secret history of last winter's plots comes to be written, it will be shown, if we mistake not, that it was his Roman firmness that was the chief obstacle to a contemplated hostile demonstration upon Washington before Buchanan left office; and it was his steadfastness afterwards that held the State to its moorings, through all the stormy spring, in spite of a secession majority in the Legislature and the traitorous frenzy of the Baltimore mob. He alone, of all the Governors of the slave States, responded favorably to the Proclamation of the President calling for volunteers; and on no occasion did his loyal spirit fail him.

"Among the faithless, faithful only he."

The hour having arrived, the Senate took up the resolutions introduced some days since by Mr. Cleveland, in regard to the confiscation of the property of rebels, and a more vigorous prosecution of the war.

Mr. CLEVELAND, addressed the Senate in favor of the resolutions, showing that the law of nations fully justified the confiscation of the property of persons in arms against the Government, and that such a course would more effectually than any other, weaken the enemy.

The resolutions were read a second time, and referred to the committee of the whole.

The bill making appropriations for defraying the expenses of the present Legislature was taken up, read a third time and passed.

The Senate having refused to coecur in the resolution providing for the publication of the Constitution in the Legislative Manual,

On motion of Mr. BURT, that clause was stricken out by the House.

The Senate memorial upon the National defence of the Northern Minnesota frontier, was read a first time and referred to the Committee on Federal relations.

The Senate memorial for the sale of pine lands, was also read a first time and referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. STEVENS introduced a Joint Resolution providing for an appropriation of $100 to J. C. Hooper, to defray expenses incurred by him in furnishing refreshments for the soldiers of the Fourth Regiment, at the recent inauguration of the State officers.

Messrs. Stevens and Severance spoke in favor of the resolution, and Mr. Benson opposed it on the ground that the members should defray the expense instead of taking the funds belonging to the State for such a purpose.

After considerable discussion a majority of the members concluded that it would appear somewhat better to pay the expense themselves, and a substitute was adopted recommending the payment of the debt by the members and officers of the House and Senate.

The House then adjourned.

THE FIFTH REGIMENT is progressing rapidly. In addition to organizations already mentioned, we must now note a new one of forty men from the neighborhood of Pine Island, Goodhue county, under command of Lieutenant Morehouse. Goodhue is bound to have a regiment in the field before the war is over.

Col. Crooks' company is also certain to be a successful "institution." It is now entirely "out of the woods," and will be full shortly.

THE SUPPER at Ingersoll's Hall this evening, given by the ladies of the Jackson Street Methodist Church, will of course be remembered by everybody who has a few dimes to dispose of in a good cause. Those who attend the festival will find their money's worth and considerable more into the bargain.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.

DISPERSION OF HUMPHREY MARSHALL'S MEN.

The War Department received intelligence that a dispatch from Col. Garfield, dated Paintsville the 8th, confirms report of the disposition of Humphrey Marshall's force—his whole army flying in confusion. Another dispatch from Col. Garfield to Gen. Buell, dated Prestonburg, states that he, with 1,100 men, flogged Marshall's force of 2,000 with two cannon. We fought them till dark, driving them from all their positions. Twenty five dead rebels were found on the field. Their loss cannot be less than 60. We took 25 prisoners and a quantity of stores. Our loss is two killed and 28 wounded.

The rebel batteries on the lower Potomac continue to exhaust large quantities of powder without effecting anything.

The Reliance was fired at thirty-eight times on Monday night while running down the river from Cockpit Point and the batteries lower down, but she was not touched. The batteries at Shipping Point and Cockpit Point kept up a constant fire of shells toward the Maryland shore this P. M., which all burst high in air and did no damage to any one.

FOREIGN NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.

[Herald's Dispatch]—Notwithstanding the absence of any cause, for serious apprehensions of a foreign war, it is the desire of the government and of the commanding General that the militia of all the loyal States shall be fully and efficiently organized, and in this connection Gen. McClellan strongly urges the organization and practical preparation of artillery corps in all the seaport and lake towns with a view to have in readiness for any emergency an effective body of well drilled artillerists for defence of our seaport coast. It is designed that these corps shall be provided by the Government with guns and equipments and to be paid by the United States whenever called into actual service.

Among the rumors in circulation it has been whispered that the Secretary of the Treasury intends to withdraw to resume a seat in the United States Senate. This is all conjecture.

Col. James Kearney, topographical engineer, recently placed on the retired list, died on Friday last, aged 78 years.

The Committee appointed to inquire into the matter of fortifying Western lakes and rivers, have got to work at last. So far they have decided on recommending a fortification at the Straits of Mackinaw, leaving it to a commission to select the precise locality.

The U. S. Treasurer's last weekly statement shows that the total amount on deposit was $7,700,000, on which drafts had been drown to the amount of $6,000,000 The bullion fund is $1,102,000. The available balance in the States under insurrectionary control is stated at $4,500,000.

MORE CABINET RESIGNATIONS IN PROSPECT.

[Special to World]—The city is full of rumors respecting the resignation of at least two more members of the Cabinet. Hon. Caleb B. Smith, Secretary of the Interior, and Hon. Montgomery Blair, Postmaster General, are the gentlemen indicated.

Important News from Cairo.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.

A special dispatch to the Journal from Cairo says that Gen. Grant and staff embarked on the Chancellor this morning and took the field at Fort Jefferson. Dispatches have been received from the advance column under Gen. McClernand. It is on the march and will encamp at Mayfield., Ky to night. Camp Beauregard is so near Mayfield that the rebels must fight or run

Gen. Grant reviewed the troops composing the second division this forenoon and informed them he should march thirty miles by to morrow night.

The greatest enthusiasm prevails among the troops.

CAIRO, Jan. 14.

The gun boats Essex, St. Louis and Taylor, made a reconnoisance down the river to-day; approached within a mile and a half of Columbus; fired several shells into the rebel camp. The rebels returned the fire from 3 or 4 guns without doing any damage to our boats. The effect of our shells is not known. No obstruction in the river nor masked batteries on the shore were discovered as heretofore reported.

Gen. McClernand's column moved in the direction of Blandville to day. Gen Paine's force moved forward this morning from Bird's Point. The 2d regiment, Douglas brigade, will arrive to night. The 7th Iowa, 8th Wisconsin and 45th Illinois are expected to morrow.

Foreign News.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Jan. 15.

The Arabia from Liverpool, 4th, passed Cape Race last night, and a summary of her news obtained. She has two batteries of artillery on board for Hallifax.

The steamers Anglo Saxon, from Portland, and the Glasgow from New York, arrived out on the 3d. Confidence in peace gained strength daily.

Consols had advanced to the quotations current before the Trent affair.

There was a strong conviction that the Europa due at the departure of the Arabia would bring a solution of the Mason and Slidell affair.

A suspicious steamer was cruising in the English channel believed to be the Privateer Sumter, more likely the U. S. gun boat, Tuscarora.

The ship Sheppard left Liverpool for New Orleans.

From the character of the rise in consols on the 31, it is referred that the Hansa may have taken out advices to the Government from Lord Lyons of some information having been given by the Cabinet at Washington, that Mason and Slidell would be given up.

The London Herald says speculation appeared to be guided by private information from American diplomatic circles. The same journal in an editorial says, it behooves both England and France to consider whether the time has not arrived for recognizing the Southern Confederacy.

The London Daily News remarks, as yet the Washington government have not spoken, but if the the theory of some of its cotemporaries be correct, that the Government really resides in the New York papers, the question of peace was really decided when the Hansa left. The same paper says the arbitration principle has been ridden to death by injudicious friends and condemns the policy of dividing English policy at the present time.

The London Times exposes some of the strong delusions entertained by the American people in regard to their own omnipotence and invulnerability.

The coupons for the January dividends on Virginia bonds have been returned by Messrs. Baring and Bros. with the answer: "No advices to pay" The same answer is anticipated relative to the debts of other Southern States.

The London Morning Post regrets that the Washington Cabinet has evinced no alacrity to avail themselves of the respite granted by England and derives unfavorable deduction therefrom.

The Daily News per contra, finds in the delay encouraging signs of moderation and a general disposition on the part of the Washington Government to act with reason and justice.

The Paris Temps, is assured that the United States Attorney General will give an opinion that Mason and Slidell should be delivered up.

The Cologne Gazette says the Prussian note to Washington, does not treat the Trent affair from the point of view of public right but urgently counsels peace. It says should America reject the demands of England, the powers will send a collective note to Washington urging peace.

The Times reproduces a letter written to Wm. Brown of Liverpool, in which Mr. Seward repudiates the idea that the American Government could ever be guilty of so gross a violation of its faith, as to confiscate in time of war money invested in American securities in time of peace. The Times in an editorial on the subject, thinks it is not an inopportune moment to bring forward this declaration, the more particularly as England has been menaced by threats of confiscation by journals, evidently in communication with the Washington Government. The article concludes by expressing hopes for peace, but declaring that threats will accomplish nothing. The only solution being the release of prisoners.

Mr. Cardwell, M. P. in a speech at Oxford, anticipated that America would accede to England's demands, but if not he believed that England would have just cause for war. He deprecated the attacks made on American institutions and urged that the present was not the time for irritating comments.

Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.

HOUSE.—Mr. Conway introduced a joint resolution to promote the the efficiency of troops serving in the Department of Kansas.

Mr. Lane introduced a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to enquire into the propriety of establishing a military post at or near Evansville.

Mr. Corning, from Committee on Ways and Means, reported a joint resolution that in order to pay the ordinary expenses of Government and the interest on the national loan, and have an ample sinking fund for its ultimate liquidation, a tax be impos d which with the tariff on imports will secure an annual sum of not less than $150 000,000.

Mr. Vallandigham advocated the postponement of the resolution until Monday week.

Messrs. Horton, Bingham and Morrill urged its immediate passage.

The House refused to postpone the resolution by a vote of 36 against 113 The resolution was then passed by a vote of 133 against 5.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson from the military committee reported back the bill to increase the clerical force of the War Department and Bureaus.

Mr. Grimes moved to amend so as to add four clerks to the Navy Department. This was agreed to, and the bill passed.

Mr. Sumner presented a petition from the Farmers Club of Concord, Mass., stating that the country is flooded with unreliable seeds and asking that a duty be placed on seeds.

On motion of Mr. Lane of Kansas, the joint resolution to promote the efficiency of troops serving in Kansas, was taken up.

Mr. Saulsbury said that the New York Tribune in calling attention to this resolution, said that it would occur to the reader that it meant something. Did it mean a policy dangerous to the country and which he believed was condemned by the President in his message. This joint resolution gives to the commander in Kansas power given to no other man. It invites every free negro and runaway slave and Indian to come and be armed. If there was a lingering hope for the Union in the heart of any man in the South, the adoption of this joint resolution would extinguish all such hopes. It might be said of the South that they employed negroes, but it was a curse on the Southern Confederacy, and he neither wanted to learn morals or patriotism from it. Being in the old Federal Union for which every aspiration of his heart goes forth, he condemned this policy as destructive of the last hope of the Union. There would not be any Union men left in the South if this policy was adopted. He moved to insert in the resolution the word white before the word persons.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, said that the commander in Kansas is Major Gen. Hunter, who was as well known for his prudence as for his gallantry. This bill, in case he is cut off from communication with the government, is to give him power to fill up the army in the country where he was. The resolution does not give him power to arm the slaves or even white men.

When every white soldier was a knight errant and had for his esquire a slave from the rebels, then we would begin to see the beginning of the end. He would put the slaves to work on the fortifications but would not put arms in their hands. The resolution provides for no other expense except subsistence.

Mr Harlan said if the resolution was to confer a benefit on the colored people he could not see why the Senator from Delaware should object to it, but he (Harlan) could not see why the colored people should not bear arms. He did not think it could be offered as a reason for not doing so that they were enemies of the country.

There were 4,000,000 men whose loyalty could not be doubted, and yet all their force and energy is marshalled against us by the rebels. He did not see why we should not employ these four millions of men for the Government.

Mr. Lane of Kansas said he had not intended by the resolution to commit the Government to the policy of arming the slaves, but if he (Lane) had command of the army while he would not commit the Government to any policy he would say to the slave "I have no arms but if you can find arms get them and I will use you as a soldier." (Suppressed applause in the gallery.)

Mr. Trumbull from the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the numerous bills in reference to the confiscation of the property of slaves, &c., reported them all back with one original bill as a substitute for the whole, namely, to confiscate the property and free the slaves of rebels.

PETITION FOR EMANCIPATION.

The New York papers of the 7th publish the following form of a petition, which has received the sanction of such high names as Wm. Cullen Bryan, Wm. Curtis Noyes, Judge Edmonds, Samuel R. Davis and others, who recommend it in the following circular:

The undersigned having prepared with care after mature deliberation the accompanying petition on the subject of "Emancipation," recommend it to the public for general adoption and circulation. Copies may be obtained from either of the subscribers. New York, December, 1861.

PETITION.

To the President of the United States and to Congress:

The people of the United States represent: That they recognize as lying at the very foundation of our government, on which has been erected the fabric of our free institutions, the solemn and undying truth that by nature all men are endowed with an unalienable right to liberty.

That so far as this great truth has been in any respect departed from by any of our people, or by any course of events, the toleration of such departure has been caused by an over-shadowing attachment to the Union, and by conscientious fidelity to those with whom we had voluntarily united in forming a great example of free government.

That such departure—whether willing or unwilling, whether excusable or censurable—has nevertheless given birth to a mighty power in our midst—a power which has consigned four millions of our people to slavery and arrayed six millions in rebellion against the very existence of our government; which for three quarters of a century has disturbed the peace and harmony of the nation, and which has now armed nearly a half a million of people against that Union which has been hitherto so dear to the lovers of freedom throughout the world.

That by the very act of the slave power itself, we have, all of us, been released from every obligation to tolerate any longer its existence among us.

That we are admonished—and day by day the conviction is gaining strength among us—that no harmony can be restored to the nation, no peace brought back to the people, no perpetuity secured to our Union, no supremacy established for our Government, no hope elicited for the continuance of our freedom, until slavery shall be wiped out of our land utterly and forever.

Therefore, we do now address you, as coheirs with you in the great inheritance of freedom, and as free men of America, most earnestly urge upon the President and upon Congress—

That, upon the varied events which are constantly occurring, and which will more and more occur during the momentous struggle in which we are engaged, such measures may be adopted as will ensure emancipation to all the people throughout the whole land, and thus complete the work which the revolution began.

GUARDING VICTORIA BRIDGE.—The Montreal Advertiser says heavy gates, to close the tube of the Victoria Bridge, are in course of preparation, and a strong picket guard will be stationed at each entrance. When the gates are hung, they will be opened to allow the passage of trains, and immediately closed; and the doors of all passenger cars will be locked to prevent any person leaving them while passing through the tube. These precautions are taken to prevent the blowing up of the tube.

WHAT THE COUNTRY SAYS.—That the hour for action by the Union army has fully come, and that a forward movement cannot be delayed without great danger to the nation. Though our army has not gone into winter quarters, winter in its full vigor has come to their quarters.

THE London papers have begun their reminiscences of Prince Albert, and some pretty stories are told of the royal courtship, one of which states that he played the part of a royal lover with all the grace peculiar to his house. He never willingly absented himself from the Queen's society and presence, and her every wish was anticipated with the alacrity of an unfeigned attachment. At length her Majesty, having wholly made up her mind, found herself in some measure embarrassed as to fit and proper means of indicating her preference to the Prince, but acquitted herself with delicacy and tact. At one of the palace balls she took occasion to present her bouquet to the Prince at the conclusion of a dance, and the hint was not lost upon the polite and gallant German. His close uniform, buttoned up to the throat, did not admit of his placing the Persian-like gift where it would be most honored; so he immediately drew his pen-knife, and cut a slit in his dress in the neighborhood of his heart, where he deposited the happy omen.

LIEUT. MAURY has written a long letter to an officer of the British navy, which is published in the London Athenæum, of Dec. 21st. The refined Maury says the National soldiers "are, for the most part, mere hirelings," and makes a variety of assertions in a corresponding vein. He says of "Lincoln's men:"

"They talk of a reconstruction of the Government and a reunion of the people. Simply, and in a few words, reannexation to the British Crown is more possible."

The drift of secession is undoubtedly into a colonial condition under a despotism. The Southern aristocracy are looking and leaning that way.

AN APPEAL TO THE LEGISLATURE OF MINNESOTA IN BEHALF OF THE INTERESTS OF WOOL-GROWING.

It cannot be denied but that the growth and prosperity of every State mainly depends upon its Agricultural and Manufacturing interests, properly protected by judicious legislation. They are the source from whence all other branches of industry mainly derive their support. They gave the impetus to so many of our States of the West which made such rapid strides in population and wealth. They held out all possible inducements to attract emigration, and by the cheapness and fertility of their lands have rapidly grown to be great and wealthy States, mainly from the cultivation of the soil.

There are thousands of people able only to acquire a miserable competence by diligent labor, unable to get a home, it being out of their power to pay the price of lands in the older settled States, who anticipate soon to be able to take their effects and remove to the far west, where they can have a home of their own. To them, to any one seeking to emigrate to this western country, (aside from the climate) what inducements have we to offer? You who expect Minnesota soon to be a great agricultural State, how can you ask the emigrant to pass by rich and fertile lands, equal if not superior to ours and contiguous to good markets, and come to Minnesota? Is it to go fifty, seventy-five or an hundred miles into the interior, pay three, four or five dollars per acre for lands, raise wheat, haul it that distance to market, and sell it for fifty cents per bushel?

I have conversed with many such this season, whose ambition scarcely prompts them to another trial, their hopes being at the lowest ebb.

It is an admitted fact that in Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, where land is worth from forty to fifty dollars per acre, wool-growing is the most profitable business they can follow by fifty per cent. Still, the number of sheep kept in Ohio now is only about one third as many as was kept seven years ago, on account of the depredations made by dogs. According to the statistics (I think for the year 1858) the loss of sheep by dogs in Ohio was two hundred thousand dollars.

In Massachusetts, one of the first wool-producing States for its size in the Union ten years ago, now there are scarcely any sheep to be found, for the same reason.

Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa are making rapid strides in wool-growing, but they too will reach the maximum and then recede into other pursuits less profitable, for the same reason, (except Wisconsin, which has an effectual law I am told).

Now, while we have the most salubrious climate in the world, and one that is especially adapted to raising sheep; and as we are too far from market to raise grain and make it remunerative, and compete with States nearer by; and as it has been shown that wool growing in this State will pay from seventy five to one hundred per cent.; and as a majority of the States are raising but little wool for want of protection from dogs; and in view of the increased demand, and high prices of wool for some time to come, let us, I beseech you, in behalf of the interests of the State; of the interests of hundreds already in the business, and in behalf of thousands more at the point of emigrating, have a tax upon dogs or dog owners, creating a fund out of which people can get pay for their sheep killed by dogs, (the only law that can be an effectual protection to the wool grower).

I will admit it will come rather hard upon poor people; for as Swift says, every poor man keeps a dog, and every d—d poor man keeps two. There are some in our towns who must be still poorer by the Dean's comparison: at least from the number of the canine tribe, I should judge so.

I trust such a law would lessen their number throughout the State, that are only a nuisance, and would "drive the wolf from the door" of many who now keep and feed a litter of dogs, and let their children go naked and hungry.

Look well to the interest of your State and constituents, give them the protection needed, ere it is too late. It is no trifling matter. Those who think it is are Neroes, and would fiddle and dance while their own city was being laid in ashes.

COTTAGE GROVE, Jan. 15, 1862.

ROME SOLEMNLY DECLARED THE CAPITAL OF ITALY.—After a long and rather stormy debate the following order has been adopted by the Italian Parliament by a viva voce vote of ayes 232, nays 79:

"The Chamber confirms the vote of the 27th of March, which declared Rome to be the Capital of Italy, and trusts that the Government will provide with alacrity to complete the national armament and the organization of the kingdom, as well as the efficient protection of person and property."

CONTRABAND.—About fifteen or twenty of the contraband population reached this city yesterday, over the ice bridge, which has taken the place of the underground railroad. They belonged, at least some of them did, to a Morton estate, about twelve miles from Platte City. Can any one doubt now that secession is practical and working abolitionism? They began the war to perpetuate the institution, and in six months Missouri is niggerless.—Leavenworth (K. T.) Times.

THE "COLEMAN FAMILY" AGAIN.—The fact has already been noticed in our columns that four sons of John A. Coleman, Esq., of Medina, in this county, are soldiers in Company A, Third Minnesota Regiment. We have now to record that the fifth and only remaining son of this gentleman, seventeen years of age, has joined Capt. Russell's Company of Sharpshooters, a branch of the service for which all five are peculiarly fitted. Mr. Coleman is well and favorably known to our citizens as a man of intelligence and patriotism. He declares that he would enlist himself if he were ten years younger.—State News, St. Anthony.

PRAIRIE PAPERS.

NUMBER VIII.

In my walks last summer, I frequently wondered if the fine old courtesy of bowing had become obsolete—or at least superseded by the queer modes of recognition which seemed to be in vogue. A lingering remnant of the former custom evidently prevails, because nearly every man made some gesture towards the hat, but the number raising it from the head was strangely limited. The usual form was so much easier and simpler than any of the new substitutes, and withal so graceful, that I wonder at the taste which adopts some of the following perversions: First, the military salute, from civilians to ladies, meaning nothing Second, elevating the fore finger to the hat; a manœuvre very suggestive of the Ravels. Third, waving the arm from the breast outward, and nodding at the same time; an indication of as much civility as the salute of that Eastern King who puts out his tongue—according to Bayard Taylor. Fourth,—but I might keep on enumerating the many innovations, until classifying them would be tedious; your experience will continue the catalogue, and perhaps lead you to doubt the reform which is a tacit indifference, if not disregard of the amenities. And here I must mention the extremes of the subject, lest two large classes of citizens feel slighted. Those who wear the hat as inflexibly as Isaac T. Hopper in all circumstances, and make no compromise whatever, touching it. Lastly, the old fogies, and a few elderly young men, eccentric enough to raise the hat with the genuine "outward sign of inward grace."

To these few chosen, might be addressed words of admiring commendation—but they receive their reward from every beaming face, thus courteously recognized, and such appreciation is worth much more than any prosy remarks of mine.

At first the intended and accepted meaning of these word signals, just mentioned, was not very apparent to me, but they seemed to be expressive of deferential regard, and as such I learned to consider them although I now take the liberty of filing my exceptions. Every locality may have its salient, indigenous characteristics, but the essential peculiarities of a gentleman are almost universally the same. The slightest indications of good breeding are respected and emulated because of their significance in the sum of human conduct. And, depend upon it, these minor moralities are far more important in their influence on public opinion than many sterling qualities. The saying of Madam Recamier, that she could sooner forgive a mortal sin than an awkwardness, is true of society, where first and perhaps superficial impressions decide so much. Correct taste depends on correct judgment, and in adopting the finest fashions in dress it is a wonder that many people should not appreciate the due relations to purpose, and likewise emulate the manners which give dress its crowning appositeness.

The garb of a gentleman imposes certain obligations, and unless they are made visible in the combined effect, it is scarcely more than the lendings of a poorly sustained character. How much is not forgiven to the man of refined deportment! In my heart of hearts there is an admiration for the thoroughbred elegance of Burr, beside which the feeling for Jefferson is a cold concession. What woman ever preferred Diogenes or Draco to Alcibiades? De Quincey has a chapter on the difference between French and English manners, and while he concedes that the French excel in the expression of politeness, with the English it is more understood than displayed, and therefore more sincere. Yet he describes the "radiant courtesy" of Sir Humphrey Davy's manner with a subtle sense of the rare charm.

As life is short the bland facile address of courtesy is always winning, no matter from what motive it may spring. The result is happy and beyond that be advised by La Rouchefoucauld and scrutinize no human action too minutely. On the other hand it takes too long to come at the good graces which may be hidden under a sincere sullenness and brusquerie. One relishes pineapples more when stripped of their prickly qualities and rough exterior.

The analysis of "finding out" people will do very well in a novel, but in society it is a bore. Thus it is with characters as with precious stones—they must be polished and placed so as to render every bright attraction apparent. The process is nothing at the time—so the the result is achieved. Hazlett was indignant because the Duke of Cumberland raised his hat to all who saluted him except in the single case of the sweep at the street crossing. But we have grown less exacting in these days and regard the hat as a fixture. When friends and acquaintances pass in the street with a good-humored snap of the head we have learned to accept the "mutilated courtesy," although we sigh that it cannot savor of the old school manner, which we regret and reverence. It was actuated by the principle because I would honor you—because I would honor myself—and thus was perfected that system of etiquette, which gives to song and story its finest charm. Not forgotten in the memorable eulogy of Sir Lancelot was the tribute "Most courtly wast thou of all that sat in the hall with the dames," and Byron's line describing George IV. as having "fascination in his bow," will offset many of his savageries on the "first gentleman in Europe."

Illustrious minds have been celebrated for the minutiæ of courtesy, and it can be no derogation from the manhood of these days to do likewise. With all his fame it must ever be written of Napoleon that he was no gentleman, and even Abbott cannot claim for him that signal distinction. Can his greatness dispense with it? I trow not. Which record would you prefer, the Raleigh cloak tradition, or Napoleon's scene with the Duchess of Weimar?

Bowing is no medieval folly to be sneered at as finical and futile, but a time honored graceful usage, which no man can disregard without capital offense. If you wish to succeed in society, said Mad. de Montmorin to her son, fall in love with all the women, but adapting the spirit of the advice to the emergency, I would say, raise your hat courteously and your head way to their good graces will be secure. Louis XIV. bared his head to the humblest peasant-girl that crossed his path, and his successor used to ride beside the ladies of his Court, hat in hand. Frank Pierce it is said kept his hat on during the inauguration of his young friend, emulous perhaps of Lord Kinsale, who was ever privileged to have his head covered in the presence of Royalty.

There is a world of National character in the fact, that Lord Macartney could perform the Chinese obeisance of knocking his head nine times on the ground, and Mr. Ward could not. On finishing his speech in the States-General, when the Tiers-etat, deputies or commons, crushed their slouch hats firmly on their heads, in a most unprecedented way, regardless of the Kingly presence, I fancy Louis XVI, felt a sharper pang than when he was guillotined. The tendency of the age is subversive, and while the chivalry, facts and characters of history are explained, and written away, it would be well to find adequate substitutes.

Until a better era of courtesy dawns upon us, let the old ceremonies suffice and Chesterfield be still an authority. The men of our time are more generous and more truly kind to women, than any in the heroic past—but they might preserve and practice many forms of that noble refinement with advantage, lest they become too obtuse and matter of fact. Oh, my friends, many of you are good and great, but we dream of men not like you, never perhaps of men half so true, therefore how grateful we would be to have what is now only ideal personified forces by the gentlemen of our acquaintance. Of a verity if they but knew what a gauntlet they encountered in every street, how their slightest gestures were the subject of criticism, we think they would govern themselves accordingly. Happy man, who attracts long lingering looks of approbation, and elicits the unique epithet "divine" which used to be as inseparable from the name of a certain gentleman last summer as sans peur, etc. from Chevalier Bayard's. Xenophon mentions that Cyrus went without gloves on one occasion, and hereafter I will be happy to chronicle that with us the hat is not always a fixture.

ETHEL.

SLAVERY AND THE REBELLION.

The New York World has championed opposition to emancipation as a war measure, yet it thus rebukes the pro-slavery Journal of Commerce:

"Slavery," argues the Journal of Commerce, in an elaborate leader, "is not the cause of the rebellion." If nothing can be urged against immediate emancipation more forcible than an apology for slavery, and an attempt to relieve that institution of the odium of having caused the war, it is the duty of every loyal man to stand aside and give the emancipationists free course. The popular judgment, which holds slavery responsible for this atrocious rebellion, is just. The error of the emancipationists does not consist in ascribing the war to a wrong cause, but in their disregard of the constitutional obstacles and prudential considerations which oppose the immediate realization of their hopes.

When the Journal of Commerce attempts to whitewash slavery it flies in the face of the public opinion of the world. The moral convictions of mankind pronounce slavery unjust; and the terrible evils it is inflicting on our unhappy country should prevent any voice being raised in extenuation of its atrocious wrongs. Hostility to slavery is deepened by this war, because the public sense of its injustice is reinforced by a clear perception of its agency in producing one of the greatest calamities that ever befell a nation.

OVERCOMING THE ENEMY BY WATER POWER.

We take the following from the Washington letter of George Wilkes to his Spirit of this week.

All the military power of the so-called Southern Confederacy, quadrupled, and placed with its material of war, quadrupled also, upon the banks of the Mississippi, could not prevent the armed flotilla, now gathering at Cairo, with its iron boats and batteries, and its fifty thousand men, from passing down that stream almost without impediment, and opening its mouth once more to the commerce of the world. This assurance of the success of that expedition results from the character of the river itself, for the Almighty has so mixed his power with its waters, that no human agency, no engines or obstacles that man may make, can, for one instant, interrupt its flow. Millions and billions of tons of water, pouring with resistless velocity towards the ocean, contribute incessantly to its mighty volume; and should ever an earthquake interpose to fling an island in its channel, the obstruction would either melt before its furious face or it would turn instantly aside, and, with gigantic impulse, carve a new channel through its soft, stoneless valley soil, as deep and navigable as the one it had abandoned. Such is the character of this river, that the channels often change; but on the instant the experienced pilot, who has learned instruction on its waters, knows the new current, as he knows the old, he takes the fresh one without a moment's pause, or apprehension of a failure.

This river, therefore, which bears the mailed fleet upon its bosom, will not fail them for a moment, in their long and momentous journey to the sea; and the only danger which it will have to deal with on its way, will be such as can be offered from the shore. How trifling these will be, after the example which we have had of the futility of the rebel batteries on the Potomac and at Port Royal, upon slowly-moving objects, we can easily divine. The first, and only opposition that can be presented, will be projected from Columbus, Ky.; almost at the outset of the journey. There the Confederates have earth works, and as is reported, some 40,000 men. But were these 40,000 helped by a 100,000 more, and each their columbiads multiplied by ten, the Federal fleet would still go on. Moving at the rate of twelve or fifteen miles an hour, upon the rapid downward current, each battery or vessel will only be under fire at any given point for the insignificant period of four or five minutes. This is well understood by the Confederates, and the immediate result of it is a panic in Memphis, which, indeed, extends its fearful perturbation along the entire downward population of the river.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

"The Best, Cheapest, and Most Successful Family Paper in the Union."

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
Splendidly Illustrated.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects.—New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

TERMS.

One copy for one year	$2 50
One copy for two years	4 00
Ten copies for one year	18 00

An extra copy will be allowed for every club of ten subscribers.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is electrotyped, and back numbers can be had at any time.

Vols. 1, 2, 3 and 4, for the years 1857, 1858, 1859 and 1860, of "HARPER'S WEEKLY," handsomely bound in cloth extra, price $3.50 each, are now ready.

HARPER'S

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as can not be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

The most popular Monthly in the world.—N. Y. Observer.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies, in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American people, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature, London.

No Magazine in Europe or America is so well known; none has half as many readers, and, we may safely say, none has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversified, elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magazine of the day. The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant.

TERMS.

The Magazine may be obtained of Booksellers, Periodical Agents, or from the Publishers, at Three Dollars a year, or Twenty-Five Cents a number. The Semi Annual Volumes, as completed, neatly bound in Cloth, are sold at Two Dollars each; and the Muslin Covers are furnished to those who wish their back numbers uniformly bound, at Twenty Five Cents each. Twenty Two Volumes are now ready, bound in Cloth and also in Half Calf.

The Publishers will supply Specimen Numbers gratuitously, to Agents and Postmasters, and will make liberal arrangements with them for circulating the Magazine. They will also supply Clubs of Two Persons at Five Dollars a year, or Five Persons at Ten Dollars. Clergymen and Teachers supplied at Two Dollars a year. Numbers from the commencement can now be supplied. Also, the bound Volumes.

The Magazine weighs over seven and not over eight ounces. The postage on each number, which must be paid quarterly, in advance, at the office where the Magazine is received, is Three Cents.

PROSPECTUS
SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.
THE BEST MECHANICAL PAPER IN THE WORLD.

VOL. VI.—NEW SERIES.

A new volume of this widely circulated paper commences on the 4th of January. Every number contains sixteen pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is devoted to the interests of Popular Science, the Mechanic Arts, Manufactures, Inventions, Agriculture, Commerce and the Industrial Pursuits generally, and is valuable and instructive, not only in the workshop and manufactory, but also in the household, the library and the reading room.

TO THE INVENTOR.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the previous week; thus giving a correct history of the progress of the inventions in this country. We are also receiving every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

CHEMISTS, ARCHITECTS, MILLWRIGHTS AND FARMERS!

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found the most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and practical information pertaining to the interests of millwrights and mill owners will be found published in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN which information they cannot possibly obtain from any other source. Subjects in which planters and farmers are interested will be found discussed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN; most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

MR. GOODRICH'S MEMORIAL--REDUCED COST OF PRINTING.

Mr. Goodrich, in an elaborate memorial to the legislature, proposes to do the State Printing (other than the incidental,) for certain prices which he specifies, that amounts to a reduction below last years prices of twenty-five per cent. more or less. Now, we object to Mr. Goodrich stealing our thunder. We claim to have anticipated him several days—several weeks even, in the proposition to make a reduction in last years prices. We informed the Auditor a month ago that he might safely estimate the printing for the current year at twenty-five per cent. less in the aggregate, than it cost last year. He, however, put it in round numbers at a figure which is about twenty per cent. less, as will be seen by reference to his report and the estimate of the years expenses in the Governor's message. Not only this, but we have said to the Committees on Printing of both Houses, that we should propose a reduction specifically in the prices. The Committee have the fixing of the prices, and it is for them to ascertain what is reasonable and just, and to adjust prices accordingly. Mr. Goodrich in his memorial states what is not true, that the prices of last year are fixed upon for this year. Such is not the case. Some of Mr. Goodrich's prices are specifically too low others are not unreasonably low if paid for in cash.

The cost of printing has been reduced in St Paul within the last six months, and we proposed to give the State the full benefit of such reduction. But Mr. Goodrich does not indicate what kind of pay he wants, and we assume that he would exact cash, or its equivalent in State Orders, just as he did under the contract of 1858. Now, if the ordinary discount on State Orders—nearly twenty per cent.—should be deducted from the face of them when paid to Mr. Goodrich, he would get, even under his present proposition, very nearly what was paid to the State printer last year; for in all cases the bills for printing last year were paid in State Orders at par; while Mr. Goodrich, as we have said above, received them under his contract of 1858, at just what they were worth in cash.

It would have been instructive to the Legislature if Mr. Goodrich had placed side by side, with the schedule of prices paid last year, and what he now proposes to do the work for, the prices that he formerly received. For example, the price paid Goodrich in 1858 per 1,000 ems $1,00; price paid Marshall in State orders 63 cents, or nearly 40 per cent reduction. Now if Wm. R. Marshall be elected State Printer he proposes just such prices as the committee shall be satisfied are reasonable and just.

He does not propose to work for nothing, nor does he believe the Legislature would gain anything in the long run by getting it done for less than it is worth. In another article we have shown the purpose of Mr. Goodrich in making this low bid. He would expect to make out of the State another year, twice the sum it could save this year, even supposing he did not play with the State the same shrewd game that he played with Ramsey county, and get ten fold the price of his bid. Wisconsin, about ten years ago, had its whole printing done for one year for one cent. Did she save anything by it? No, for the very next year liberal appropriations were made to pay the dishonest scamp who cheated honest competitors by this trick.

If Mr. Goodrich has any sincere desire to lighten the burden of tax payers, we suggest that the legislature invite him to return to the treasury, some of the ill gotten gains of former years. He ought to be able, out of $88 000 or even $54,000 to return, say $5,000, or even $1,000, which would nearly cover the amount he proposes to save to the State by his low bid.

THE NEWS.

—The first sale of Port Royal cotton confiscated and gathered by our troops, was made at New York city, the other day, when seventy-nine bales were knocked off at auction. The price paid ranged from 18 cents a pound to 62½ cents. The 18 cent lot was of a kind never before received in the Northern market, being denominated "waste" among the planters. The higher priced were the first quality Sea Island cotton.

—Four Marylanders have been caught at Liverpool Point, on the Potomac, attempting to carry three men to the Virginia side for four hundred dollars. One of the passengers represented himself as a New York merchant—the others from Baltimore and Alexandria.

—The Mayor of Alexandria, Virginia, making a speech at a Union meeting, recently said if the question was between Liberty and Slavery, let slavery go.

—Col. Chesnet, who was eighteen years in the French Chasseurs, in which he became a Colonel, and with Garibaldi at Naples, offers his sword to our Government, and brings a letter from Garibaldi to McClellan. He speaks no English.

—The Government is said to have decided that if not on ship board before the passage of the act, duty will be exacted on tea

—The arrest of William T. Smithson, banker, in Washington City, is a very important one, from the fact that he has been communicating valuable information to the rebels for a long time. His last communication gave a detailed plan for the capture of Washington, the number of troops and forts located in its vicinity, and what purported to be the plans of Gen. McClellan. It is stated that the evidence of his crime is so clear and so great that he will ultimately be tried by the military instead of the civil courts, on the charge of being a spy.

—The tax bill of the House Military Committee, makes the taxes uncollected in Rebel States a lien on all the lands in the States, if not paid within sixty days after the President's proclamation. The title to these lands is to vest absolutely in the United States. Loyal citizens can obtain reconveyance within two years. Property of every description belonging to persons in the Rebel States, who refuse to make written statements of their income, is to be forfeited to the Government.

—That arch traitor and charlatan, Lieut. Maury, was not long since proposed as a candidate for the honor of being chosen a corresponding member of the French Institute. His claims were referred to a committee of eminent savans, who reported unanimously that the public reputation of Mr. Maury was the work of writers who knew nothing of the subjects they discussed.

—The free States are all loyal. All of the slave States are in rebellion, either wholly or in part. If all the States were free all would be loyal.

—The worst enemies of Humanity are those who prefer the perpetuation of slavery to the preservation of the Republic.

—The New York Evening Post of the 8th says the detectives employed by the Government at Washington have ascertained that certain members of Congress and some army officers of high rank have recently been in correspondence with the enemy.

—Since the arrival of the Vanderbilt at New York with her cargo of unginned cotton, there has been a perfect rush among the dealers in that staple to get a job of ginning—and so great has been the competition that one individual has actually undertaken to do a portion of the labor (probably with an eye to future contracts,) for nothing. A number of ginning mills are now in progress of construction, in expectation of having plenty of the "material" to operate on.

"GOOD BUSINESS FAITH"---WITH SEVERAL ILLUSTRATIONS.

Mr. Earle S. Goodrich per the fraternal August J., yesterday submitted a proposition to the Legislature to do the State Printing on exceedingly reasonable terms, if that honorable body would be just obliging enough to grant him the privilege. He proposed to do it "in good business faith" for twenty-five per cent less than the rates for which it was done last year.

If this benevolent proposition should not win, we are in possession of information which enables us to state that he is prepared to offer to do it for less than cost if the Legislature will only elect him State Printer at this particular exigency of his affairs.

As this proposition is also to be made in "good business faith," it may be well to see how much Mr. Goodrich's protestations of "good business faith" are worth:

FIRST ILLUSTRATION.—Last spring this same Goodrich—bless his generous soul!—put in precisely such a proposition as the above, before the Board of County Commissioners. He bid in opposition to us for the county printing, and succeeded in obtaining it by bidding, in "good business faith," thirty three per cent. less than Wm. R. Marshall on one item, viz: the advertising of the tax list. Our bid was 1½ cents per line; Mr. Goodrich bid at the rate of 1 cent per line. He, of course, obtained the contract. Now mark the sequel. Instead of one cent. per line, the price agreed upon, he has managed, by an exceedingly clever bit of professional jugglery, to obtain ten cents per line, or ten times the price agreed upon in "good business faith."

He succeeded, you see, in getting the contract by underbidding us thirty-three per cent. "in good business faith" of course—but when it came to an actual performance of his contract, he managed to make the County pay him ten times or nine hundred per cent. more than the price proposed, thus making a very fat and handsome thing out of "his good business faith." The Board, it is true, protested, but they found the contract so adroitly worded to suit purposes of his 'good business faith," that they were compelled to accede to his demand. People generally consider this a specimen of pretty high-handed robbery. Mr. Goodrich regards it as a proof of "good business faith."

SECOND ILLUSTRATION.—We might adduce several hundred other illustrations to the same purpose—from the files in the Auditor's office—showing that while nominally doing the State printing, according to specific prices agreed upon with the State, he has, in every instance, by some such technical trick as calling a half a sheet a whole sheet and a half a token a whole token, managed to charge the State more than twice the sum nominally agreed upon. But we have made our readers already familiar with the system of enormous frauds which he carried on for several years under the terms of an arrangement apparently fair in its face, and have exposed the shameless swindles habitually practiced by him under a protestation of "good business faith" ratified by the solemn sanction of an oath. So we need say nothing more under our second head, as the huge taxes under which our people are now groaning afford a sufficiently palpable illustration of this chapter in the history of Mr. Goodrich's "good business faith."

THE RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY CAMERON.

The only information additional to what has been received by telegraph, is the following from the special Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, telegraphed from Washington, 13th:

The great event of the day has been the resignation of Simon Cameron, Secretary of War, and instantaneously with his appointment to the St. Petersburg mission, the appointment of Hon. Edwin M. Stanton to be his successor in the War Office. These changes are sudden, but they pass now into the records of events; and will furnish food for gossip for some weeks to come. The Kentucky influence seems to have had a finger in the pie; and to the differences between Cameron and Lincoln, so broadly shown in the Secretary's report, is attributed their final separation. Whether it was wholly voluntary or not on the part of Mr. Cameron, time must show. Hon. Cassius M. Clay, our late and present Minister to Russia, comes home to exchange his court fivery for the uniform of military service. He has often requested to be thus exchanged, and the news will be grateful to him, at least. Mr. Stanton, the new Secretary, has been a Democrat, and was in Buchanan's reformed Cabinet as Attorney General. He is accounted the first lawyer in America. Some years since he was employed by the Government on the great claims in California, and in the management of the suits showed signal ability. Before his return, a year ago, he changed his residence from Pittsburg, Pa., to this city, and here has since resided. He is the confidential attorney of Gen. McClellan.

The nominations required by this change were made to the Senate to-day—Simon Cameron to be Minister to Russia, and Edwin M. Stanton to be Secretary of War. Owing to the length of the session in the Senate, and the engrossing topic of the Kansas Senatorship controversy, the appointments were not acted upon. They will be confirmed without doubt to-morrow; it being customary in the case of ex Senators or ex-Cabinet officers to dispense with the usual six days' delay.

DESPONDENCE AT RICHMOND.

Statements that the rebels are despairing of success have generally been regarded as inventions of the "reliable gentleman." But here is a paragraph from a source that must be admitted to be good authority. The Richmond Examiner of December 30th, after hinting that some of the leaders are anxious for submission, and are therefore allowing their army to remain idle, says:

"There is a sombre aspect on many faces; and the belief prevails that if the war is not waged in earnest, we are doomed, and that Virginia and all the border States must inevitably be re-occupied by the Federal authorities. But we differ from the faint-hearted in one respect of opinion. We think the army will not submit, whatever may be the stipulations of other."

A COUNCIL OF WAR.

The New York Tribune of January 10, has the following dispatch, which it says was suppressed by the telegraphic censor at Washington:

"On Monday night a council was held at the Capitol between all the members of the Cabinet and the War Investigating Committees. The session lasted three hours. The propriety of silence as to the debate, and the conclusion it was brought to, are obvious. It may not be improper, however, to state that the Cabinet officer whose life has been spent in courts of law led the demand for immediate battle, and that the counsel for delay came from the heretofore belligerent member of the Administration."

—During the last eight months the American Bible Society has issued 803,000 Bibles and Testaments, being 321,000 more than the issues of the like period in the previous year. The average is about 400 volumes each working day, or seven volumes per minute. This increase is owing to the great demand for the Scriptures for the use of the volunteers—over half a million having gone for this object since the commencement of the war. Their receipts so far are over $60,000 behind those of last year.

—Lieutenant Fairfax authorizes an emphatic denial of the assertion of foolish Commander Williams that Miss Slidell used her "little knuckles" on his face. He adds that she "did not strike Lieutenant Fairfax," but on the contrary, behaved, as did all the ladies on the Trent, becomingly, and with "great moderation."

PERSONAL.—Hon. Aaron Goodrich, Secretary of Legation to the Court of Belgium, arrived home on a visit to his old friends and neighbors last evening. The Judge is in most excellent health, and in his usual flow of good spirits.

WE are requested to state that the gentleman who called upon Dr. Reiner, of the Senate, for information in regard to an insane person, can now receive the information sought by again calling upon the Doctor.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—An adjourned meeting of the Mercantile Library Association will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at the rooms (over Mr. Golcher's gun store) for the election of officers for the ensuing year.

THE FIREMEN'S BALL, Wednesday evening, passed off in elegant style. About 150 tickets were sold, and 110 couples were present. The supper was particularly grand and magnificent, and every body appeared to enjoy themselves to their heart's content.

STATE ITEMS.—Eli F. Lewis, Sheriff of Carver county, has resigned, and Fred. Greiner has been appointed in his stead.

Most of the officers elected in Jackson county at the last election have volunteered for the wars, and the Governor has been petitioned to order a new election. This, however, is not within his range of duty under the law.

MILL FOR SALE.—We call attention to the advertisement of Mr. Archibald, who proposes to sell his well known flouring mill at Dundas on Cannon river.

STAFF OFFICERS OF THE THIRD REGIMENT.—By a private letter from an officer of the Third Regiment, we learn that Col. Lester has completed the permanent appointments of his Staff as follows:

Adjutant—Lieut. Cyrene H. Blakely of Company K.

Sergeant Major—William P. Hale, of Company E.

Lieut. Blakely is, when at home, one of the editors of the Rochester City Post—a brother of our worthy friend, the Clerk of the House. Lieut. Howlett is a well known citizen of Hennepin County, and Sergeant Major Hale, of Cannon Falls, we all recollect as the enrolling Clerk of the Senate last winter.

COURSE OF LECTURES.—We are glad to learn that the Mercantile Library Association has perfected arrangements for a course of eight lectures to be delivered at the First Presbyterian Church on Third street. The first lecture will be given on Tuesday evening next by Judge Palmer, and we bespeak for him a large audience of the citizens of St. Paul and such strangers among us as wish to enjoy a good literary entertainment. Last winter passed away without anything of this character, and the effort on the part of the Association to keep some taste for literary culture and to afford a place of resort for intellectual improvement, even in the midst of dull times and civil war, deserves to be appreciated by our citizens and to be rewarded with success. The Association has kept itself alive and out of debt by the individual efforts and contributions of its members, and has taken into consideration the stringency of the time, in fixing the price of tickets at almost a nominal sum, which they hope will bring out a large attendance and pay the necessary expenses of the course.

Tickets for the whole course are placed at fifty cents, and single tickets at ten cents. The list of lecturers has been judiciously selected and gives full assurance that the lectures will be of a high order, and we trust will be a favorite place of resort for all our citizens who can possibly attend them. The lecturers and their subjects will be announced from week to week. Tickets, single and for the course, can be obtained at the Winslow and International Hotels, at all the Book Stores, and of the members of the Lecture Committee, consisting of A. H. Cathcart, Girard Hewitt, S. R. Bond, D. A. Robertson and M. Lamprey.

WE call attention to the card of Mr. Kovitz, the oldest fur dealer in this city. His goods are of the best quality, and no one who deals with him will go away dissatisfied with their bargain.

THE LATEST NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

EXPRESSLY FOR THE DAILY PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.

SECRETARY CAMERON.

[Special to Tribune.]—Secretary Cameron's nomination as Minister to Russia was reported unanimously from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, but was not acted upon.

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

The Senate Post office Committee meet to morrow for the purpose of considering the House bill to abolish the franking privilege. The Committee are not in favor of a total abolition of the privilege and will amend the bill.

SECRETARY CAMERON MADE NO CONTRACTS.

In answer to-day to a call for information, made upon Secretary Cameron by the Senate, he incidentally remarked: "I take this occasion to repeat the statement that I never made a contract since I took charge of the War Department, for any purpose whatever, having always interpreted the laws of Congress to intend that the heads of Bureaus—all of them able and experienced officers of the regular army—shall make all contracts for supplies for the branches of the service severally under their charges."

ADJUTANT GENERAL THOMAS.

[Special to Times.]—It is doubtless true that Adj. Gen. Thomas will soon vacate his place. There is deeper and more general hostility to him than to any other officer in the army, not excepting Gen. Stone. Gen Seth Williams, a popular officer and most indefatigable working man, is named as his probable successor.

GEN. M'CLELLAN MAKES A STATEMENT.

General McClellan was to-day before the joint committee on the conduct of the war, for three hours. They listened to a patient and candid account of his operations in the responsible office to which he was so suddenly, and without his knowledge or procurement, summoned by the President, and by the Nation's voice. The difficulties of his position; the embarrassment of questions arising; the amount of labor to be done; the ferocity and strength of the rebellion he has to vanquish, were grouped together in a manner so effective as to win a sympathy from a member who had imbibed prejudices against him, and the modest and steady assurance he manifested of an early and utter overthrow of the rebels, gave confidence in his capacity and generalship that had not before existed.

Gen. Butler was also before the committee to-day.

SECRETARY WELLES' DEFENSE.

Secretary Welles sent to the Senate to day, a defense of himself, in the matter of charges preferred against him.

THE SENATE ON THE APPOINTMENTS.

The Senate acted to day on a number of army appointments. Thirteen Lieutenants put in commission by Mr. Cameron, and one Surgeon were rejected. Many others will follow.

No nominations have been made since the Cabinet change was resolved on.

Among the rejections by the Senate of military nominations were Watts, as Lieutenant, late a gardener at the White House, and Wood, of Minnesota, as Brigade Commissary.

[Special to Herald.]—The officers of the regiments raised by Gen. Butler in Massachusetts for his coast expedition were commissioned yesterday directly from the War Department.

Col. McQuade of the 4th New York Volunteers is mentioned as likely to be appointed Brigadier General.

PARSON BROWNLOW'S LIFE IN DANGER.

From private advices received here, serious apprehensions are entertained that the heroic Parson Brownlow will be assassinated before he can reach the the Tennessee border even with a pass from the rebel War Department.

THOSE RUMORED CABINET CHANGES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

After the most careful inquiry, it cannot be ascertained that there is any truth in the current reports relative to additional changes in the Cabinet.

COTTON RAISING IN THE NORTH.

The Commissioner of Patents has issued a circular, in which he says the cultivation of cotton in the middle portions of the free States is beginning to attract general attention. It is, however, a principle in vegetable physiology that the tropical plants can never be acclimated in the North except by a repeated reproduction of new varieties by seed. The attempt to grow Sea Island cotton, such as is now brought from Hilton Head, would prove a failure in any other portion of the free States. The only variety capable of successful cultivation in those sections now seeking its introduction, is the green seed cotton, such as is now being extensively raised in Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, and a portion of Kentucky, and which produces the whole fibre. Seed should be obtained from those localities. The modifications of soil and climate will influence the size of the plant, the length and fineness of the fibres, and the product of the crop. Efforts are now making by this Department to procure the proper seed for distribution.

SORGHO CULTURE.

The Commissioner further says the results of the cultivation of sorgho the past year, settles the question of its entire practical success, and that one of the difficulties presenting itself is want of pure seed. To meet this want this division has ordered seed from France for distribution the ensuing spring. The same causes which have produced deterioration here exist there, and well grounded apprehensions are entertained that seed thus imported may not be free from suspicion.

THE POTOMAC BLOCKADE.

Tuesday the rebel batteries on the Potomac fired 26 shots at an oyster pungy, but did not hit it.

Yesterday a fleet of similar vessels ran the blockade without being fired on, and arrived safely at Washington.

STANTON CONFIRMED.

The Senate in extra session to day confirmed the nomination of E. M. Stanton as Secretary of War.

THE BANKS AND THE TREASURY.

The result of various conferences held here by the Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and banking institutions with the Secretary of the Treasury may be summed up thus: First, the general views of the Secretary are assented to. Second, the banks will receive and pay out United States demand notes freely and sustain in proper ways their credit. Third, the Secretary will in the next two weeks, in addition to current daily payments of $500 000 in United States notes, pay a further sum of at least $20,000,000 in 7 3 10 bonds to such public creditors as desire to receive them, and thus relieve the existing pressure upon the community. Fourth, that the issue of United States demand notes be not increased beyond the $50,000,000 now authorized, but it is desired that Congress will extend the provisions of the existing loan act to enable the Secretary to issue in exchange for United States demand notes, or in payment to creditors notes payable in one year bearing—three per cent. interest convertible into 7 3-10 three year bonds or to borrow under the existing provisions either $250,000,000 or $300,000,000. Fifth, it is thought desirable that Congress should enact a general currency law relating to currency and banking associations and embracing the general provisions recommended by the Secretary in his report. Sixth, it is expected that this action and legislation will render the making of United States demand notes a legal tender and any increase beyond what is authorized unnecessary.

New York News.

NEW YORK Jan. 16.

The steamer Saxonia from Hamburg 30th has arrived this morning. No news. She brings two complete batteries of guns and a great number of small arms. She did not touch at any intermediate port.

The specials say it is thought that Gen. Stone will be detached from duty in this vicinity, and sent to the western frontier.

It is not true that Assistant Secretary Scott was tendered the post of Secretary of War. Some important changes will occur in the personnel of the War Department.

Small pox like the typhoid fever, are occurring in this city and Georgtown, and there is considerable alarm among the citizens.

Rumors are rife as to the discovery of frauds committed by those who have been raising and equipping regiments Double rations have been drawn, and other supplies for a force on paper and note regularly recruited.

The Committee of Ways and Means this morning agreed to postpone the one hundred million dollar Treasury not bill for the present, and substitute a bill which provides for the issue of Treasury certificates, bearing interest which will be issued to creditors.

The Bank Commissioners and Secretary Chase having come to the agreement, the Ways and Means Committee are holding a consultation with the Secretary on the subject.

THE SENATE ON CAMERON'S APPOINTMENT.

The Senate was in executive session four hours to day upon the nomination of Cameron as Minister to Russia. The debate is represented as earnest and spirited. No definite vote was taken.

After a debate of several hours, the House adjourned with the understanding that the question would be taken up to-morrow at 1 o'clock.

INVESTIGATING ARMY FRAUDS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

The Government contract investigating committee is now engaged on the subject of the alleged frauds in this vicinity. They discover that the same horses have been twice sold to the Government. Superintendents and inspectors have been bribed to certify to horses sometimes selling to private individuals.

The enormous amounts paid by the War Department has induced a strong competition among Railroad companies, so that many Colonels in the West in removing their regiments East, have received from $1500 to $2,000 bonus; that some sutlers are making 3 000 profit per month; that nearly all the sutlers south of the Potomac sell liquor with the knowledge of the officers; that it is smuggled in boxes marked Government or hospital stores, or packed in barrels and marked beef.

EXCHANGING PRISONERS.

So far about 1 000 prisoners on each side have been exchanged, nearly 500 of whom were connected with the army of the Potomac. This movement inaugurated by our Government, is fully reciprocated by the rebel authorities.

Kansas News.

A continued guerilla warfare is carried on in Johnson and Bates counties, Mo., by roving bands of rebels, and detachments of Jennison's command. A quantity of Government stock has been recovered, and other property confiscated near Columbus, Johnson county The Federal troops were fired on from ambush and 5 men killed.

The Supreme Court of Kansas, are now having arguments on the Gubernatorial question. The attorney for the contestant filed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the State Board of Canvassers to count the vote cast for Geo. A. Crawford, for Governer at the late election.

PARSON BROWNLOW.

This veteran warrior in the cause of the Union is not yet out of his troubles. The Memphis Appeal, of the 29th ult., says that in the Confederate Court at Knoxville, on the Friday previous, a nolle prosequi was entered in his case, on the ground that he had surrendered himself voluntarily, on condition that the Government would agree to convey him out of East Tennessee, and protect his exit.

"Whether Brownlow was well enough to leave the jail last night, or what has become of him we have not learned—though we understand it was the intention of the commander of the post to hold him under arrest, with a view to his safe conduct beyond the lines.

MASON AND SLIDELL.

We had almost hoped that these notorious characters had been finally disposed of, and that their names would no longer form the headings for editorial paragraphs. It seems, however, according to the New York Tribune, that some anxiety is expressed lest a new mishap shall have befallen those erratic Confederate Commissioners. "The gunboat Rinaldo," it says, "on which they took passage, has been nine days at sea, and it is said she was bound to Halifax. Either this common understanding was a mistake, or the vessel has gone to that other place which is sometimes mentioned in connection with Halifax. The orders, however, we believe, were that the Rinaldo should be governed by the wishes of her passengers, but that they should be landed at Halifax unless they insisted upon being taken directly to England. There is an old proverb which forbids the fear that either of these Southern emissaries will be drowned, and it would, besides, be quite in accordance with Mason's character to insist upon holding on as long as possible to the distinction of being on a British man-of-war For both these reasons our anxiety is not overwhelming."

SENATOR SUMNER'S SPEECH.

A brief fragment of Senator Sumner's speech on the Mason and Slidell affair appeared in our columns some days ago. It is now published in full in the New York dailies. He sustains the action of the Government in giving up Mason and Slidell, but goes even further than Secretary Seward. The points he makes and decides are three: First, that the seizure of the men without taking the ship was wrong; because a naval officer has no right to substitute himself for a judicial tribunal; second, that the ship, even if taken, would not have been held liable on account of the rebel emissaries, inasmuch as neutral ships are free to carry all persons not apparently in the military or naval service of the enemy; and, third, that dispatches are not contraband of war.

NEWS AND MISCELLANY.

—About nine hundred and fifty wagons and four thousand mules, with harness, have been recently sent to General Buell's column.

—The rebel Congress has adopted a resolution to the effect that peace should not be concluded with the United States until Maryland is added to the Southern Confederacy. That is modest.

—It is said that the average number of battles a soldier goes through is about five. We know an old maid, says a down East editor, who has withstood fourteen engagements, and has powder enough left for as many more.

—A letter from President Juarez, of Mexico, to a friend in Washington, expresses his determination to make the best fight possible, and to struggle against Spanish dominacion to the bitter end.

—The President recommends that authority be given to charter a vessel to take the contributions of Americans to the World's Fair, London.

—In his address in Albany, Col Mulligan announced that the reconstruction of his Irish brigade had been completed, and that he was his way to Chicago to lead them again to battle.

—One of the correspondents of the Paris Debats gives the following as a curious specimen of the police authorities of Warsaw, being a permission by the Prefect of Police:

"I authorize the bearer of the present card, M. ——, to carry a cane, even with an iron ferule at the end, and this on account of his advanced age and the weakness of his legs.
"PILSUDSKI."

—Madame Jerome Bonaparte is still residing in Baltimore. It is said that she enjoys good health, and though verging upon forescore years, has a hand as pretty, cheeks as plump, and skin as fair as a girl of seventeen.

—Augustus W. Bradford, the Governor elect of Maryland, was inaugurated on Wednesday at Annapolis. His term of office is four years.

—The Richmond Examiner says the rebel army in Virginia "has become a name of terror and dread to the minds of the citizens."

—At a meeting of the Board of Control of the State Bank of Ohio held last week, it was resolved not to suspend specie payment.

—Reports having been circulated that extensive fortifications are being erected at Windsor, C. W., directly opposite Detroit, Mr. Munger, U. S. Consular Agent at that place, has published a card in which he says "these assertions are not only unfounded in toto, but are supremely ridiculous."

—The Detroit Advertiser has it upon good authority, that twelve privates and one corporal deserted a company of English regulars, on Saturday last, and went to Detroit for the purpose of joining the Mulligan Brigade.

—A Methodist brother had occasion to preach a discourse against the doctrine of immersion, but couldn't find the text, until, with great shrewdness, he hit upon this:—"Beware of divers!—and strange doctrines."

—Lieut Maury predicts that Pennsylvania will go with the South. She will have as much of Pennsylvania as she wants; 100,000 Pennsylvanians have already started South; 4,000 have got as far as Drainesville, and are very desirous of continuing their travels.

—Angelo Chiarini, the famous rope-walker, while walking with a wheelbarrow up a tight rope, stretched from the ground to the top of Hoye's Park Pavilion, San Francisco, fell to the ground, a distance of sixty feet, and died of his injuries on the 9th of December.

—A man with a modest appetite dined at a hotel. After eating the whole of a young pig, he was asked if he would have some pudding. He said he didn't care much about pudding, but if they had another little hog he would be thankful for it!

—Senator Sumner, not long since, in a speech in the Senate, took Gen. Stone to task for various matters. Gen. Stone addressed the Senator a letter, demanding explanations, and it is said that an interesting correspondence is in progress between the parties.

—Gen. Mansfield's reason for asking to be relieved of duty in his present position is, that Gen. Wool, by a recent proclamation, stigmatized certain acts of Gen. Mansfield's as "vandalism."

—"It is stated on high authority," says the New York Herald, (very dubious authority) "that an examination of the orders and dispatches by which Gen. Patterson's action was controlled, will show that they could not have been transmitted to him as they were issued by Gen. Scott, but were altered or tampered with in the course of their transmission, and to this cause his failure to move against Johnson when he was expected to do so, is altogether attributable."

—On New Year's day the lady of Baron Stoeckl, the Russian Minister, presented to him a fine heir, and to the Emperor a new subject. The event has elicited many congratulations. Mrs. Stoeckl is an American, nee Miss Howard, of Massachusetts. She has thus added a new link to the bond of amity existing between the two nations.

—The tendency of negroes southward was never so rapid in Missouri and Virginia as now. The involuntary emigration of the negroes of Missouri to Arkansas, and their flight into the free States, will speedily relieve the State of the bulk of them. The following intelligence from Virginia is received through the recently returned prisoners from Richmond:

"The sales of negroes, usual at the close of the year, have been nearly twice as large as on the preceding years. It is manifest that this property is not considered secure in Virginia. The shambles of Richmond, Norfolk and Winchester are unusually lively."

—Among the names that will be canvassed for U. S. Senator from Ohio, for the seat now occupied by Ben. Wade, are Messrs. Wade, Chase, Dennison, Ewing, Schenck, Corwin, Delano, Spaulding, Stanton, Ashley, Groesbeck, and Dorsey.

—The London Critic states that "up to the time of his death, the Prince Consort raised his voice energetically, against the haste with which England was rushing into a war with the United States—an event which he denounced as subversive of her interests, dangerous to the real sources of her power, and certain to be advantageous only to the despotic Powers of Europe."

—The trouble between Messrs. Conway, of Kansas, and Foulke, of Illinois, has been settled, though not in the manner supposed at the early part of the session. Both gentleman appear in their seats as usual. The reason why this personal difficulty was not settled according to the code was that each gentleman contended that the other should send the challenge.

—Among the notices of the dead of '61, prominent place should be given to King Cotton. That powerful Despot, in his efforts to extend his power, received an "internal injury" which speedily brought his reign and life to a close. Had he been content to "leave well enough alone," he might have been ensured many and prosperous days; but in striking for universal dominion he fell to rise no more: A pregnant illustration of "vaulting ambition that hath o'er leaped itself!"—Albany Journal.

—Quite a lamentable accident occurred in the harbor of Annapolis on the night of the 7th inst. A number of soldiers were on the way to the vessel containing their regiment in a small boat, when it was run into by a tug-boat and broken to pieces, seven men drowning immediately. The night was an unusually light one, and it seems to be the general opinion that the accident could have easily been avoided if a proper look-out had been kept on the tug.

—Some one gets off the following little bit of satire which is equal to anything Douglas Jerrold or the London Punch ever perpetrated:

"Brittania's breast with pity swells
Forslaves—their wrongs are ne'er forgotten.
Poor maid! we fear her bosom's swell

—There is a frightful mortality among newspapers in rebeldom. A list of some dozen or more journalistic casualties, which have occurred in Virginia alone during the past few weeks, is published. And many others are in articulo mortis.

—LL. D. Russell is sick with typhoid fever at the New York Hotel.—Rochester Union.

We don't wonder at it. The heavy lying which the great "Our Own" has been lately doing is enough to break the constitution of an ox.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM SECESSIA.

HOW THEY FEEL IN ALABAMA.

There seems to be considerable despondency among the traitors. The Mobile Register, of December 31st, speaking of the present state of affairs, says:

"It seems to be the popular impression—we see it in men's faces when we do not hear it in their words—that the military affairs of the Confederacy are not very cheering just now. We may chiefly account for this tone of feeling by the fact that some time has elapsed since our arms achieved any success of moment. Thus victories seem, at the first glance, to be as much the cause as the consequence of patriotism.

"The affair at Drainesville contributed its mite to the depression of public spirit. We are so unused to adversity, that anything which is not a brilliant success seems defeat. There the invading enemy slew Col. Terry, as noble and brave a man as wears the Confederate uniform, at the pass of Green River. They have crossed that river, which many thought would be their Styx, and are advancing in force. In Missouri, too, our banner seems to trail; for the telegraph tells us that Price is in full retreat. Thus the enemy seem to be progressing along our northern frontier, while all around he lords it on our coasts, organizes his expeditions on our soil, and threatens us with further invasion. These are the points of the situation.

"A lull, a pause, a suspense exists, preceded by minor events, which cause a feeling of apprehension more than of confidence as to the future. We know that the enemy are in great power and meditate mischief, and feel that ere long their blows, the heaviest of the war, must fall. We trust that their hammer will strike our anvil; but we are not sure, for we are in doubt whether at some points there is an anvil to meet the hammer. These points can only be on our coast, for we are ready to meet their worst at Manassas, in Central Kentucky and at Columbus, and also at most points on the coast. But we do not know with what overwhelming force they may not make an onslaught at some unprotected point, and gain a success to inspirit them and dispirit us."

The same paper, after fondly hoping that things were "not so bad after all," gives the key to its hopes, as follows:

"Perhaps we are to pay for too joyous hopes suggested by the Trent affair, in the crushing despondency which will ensue in case of disappointment as to the result. This will be a profitable lesson, teaching us that the reliance of the South is in its own stout arms, not on the uncertain hopes of a short road to independence through foreign intervention. It would seem that we have actually been resting on our arms to hear what Great Britain would say about the insult to her flag, and the enemy seem to be doing the same. The decision of Great Britain is of momentous importance to us, it is true; but whatever it may be, military activity in the meanwhile is our proper course. Yet we do not charge any lack of active intents on the part of our military authorities, but it seems that our people have given much more interested attention to views from across the ocean that to military operations. This is not right. Our hope and trust should be still in our armies in the field, as it has been heretofore—not in outside aid."

THE VIRGINIANS SEE ANOTHER CLOUD.

The Richmond correspondent of a Memphis paper, is engaged in explaining away the brilliant Federal victory at Drainesville, and winds up rather a savage letter with the following severe hit at the rebel authorities in the Rebel Confederacy:

"The War Department has evidently commenced a blunder in withdrawing the entire Confederate force from Western Virginia, as is proved by the immediate advance of the Hessians into the country of Greenbriar, and their occupancy of points never before reached by them. The beautiful country seat of "Glencoe," near Meadow Bluff, belonging to Hon. W. H. McFarland, of this city, constituting one of the most cultivated estates in the mountainous regions of Virginia, was taken possession of last week by a body of three hundred Yankees. The mansion, with its evidences of taste and refinement, will be despoiled by them; and the fine stock, thorough breds, Dover and Durham cattle, Cotswold and Southern sheep, will be drawn off as prizes, or killed for beef and mutton for the depredators But the individual losses will be of little moment in comparison with the advantage gained by the enemy in taking Lewisburgh, and making their headquarters at White Sulphur Springs. Already the banks of Lewisburg are removing their specie and other valuables to places of safety in the East. At the White Sulphur we have established a large military hospital, which, with its occupants, must fall into the enemy's hands. They will find there the largest accommodations in well built brick buildings, some of these luxuriantly furnished. There seems no kind of doubt at this time, that they will push forward at once to the White Sulpur, and unless some protection is afforded speedily, it is by no means impossible that they may get as far this side of the Alleghany as Staunton."

JOHNSON AND ETHERIDGE OF TENNESSEE.

We have elsewhere alluded to Parson Brownlow's discharge from jail at Knoxville and the probability of his being escorted beyond the rebel lines. A letter in the Memphis Appeal written from Kentucky says of two other well known Tennesseeans:

"I understand that the immortal Andy Johnson and Emerson Ethridge have been recently, and are now, in Paducah, making speeches to the Abolition soldiers. Etheridge's district lies immediately back of us, and he would doubtless take the greatest pride in accompanying Lincoln's hordes through the homes of that people who once trusted him as their political leader. There is now scarcely a roof in that district from underneath which has not gone a member to fight for the Confederate States. And while they are thus contending for their homes, this base ingrate is urging on the Northern Vandal to deeds of infamy, crime and shame. It is true, a few of his constituents are on the other side; but they are as nothing compared with the number that are in the Southern army. No matter how the war may terminate, these men will ever be looked upon as traitors to their country and enemies to their God. But let them alone. They have passed without our threshold forever; they no longer belong to our land, or hold communion with us, but now dwell with the stranger."

NEW ORLEANS ENJOYING THE EFFECTS OF REBELLION.

The New Orleans Picayune, of December 23, gives rather a discouraging view of affairs in that once prosperous city. From its market report of that date we learn that the cotton sales for that week "comprised 100 bales on Monday, at 8½c. for middling; 550 on Tuesday at 8c. and 50 at 8½c.; 400 and 100 on Wednesday at 8c.; 100, yesterday, at 8½c. and 25 to-day, all for future delivery, that is, a few weeks after the blockade shall have been removed."

	BALES.
Same time last year	59,600
One week's cotton exports Dec. '61	440
Same time previous year	68,638
Total exports of cotton from Sept. 1 to Dec. 20, 1861	2,541
Same time previous year	871,260
Stock now on hand	11,907
Stock on hand last year	329,550

The report on the business in tobacco shows a corresponding difference between business matters now and then.

MRS. GREENHOW, THE CONSPIRATOR.

Washington correspondent Philadelphia Press, 8th.

It is stated, by those who know, that among the papers taken in the house of that adroit and fearless rebel, Mrs. Rose O H. Greenhow, are a number of most interesting and piquant epistles from many distinguished individuals. Mrs. Greenhow is the widow of the well known explorer, Robert W. Greenhow, who resided in this city for a long time, and afterwards removed to California, where he died. She returned to Washington subsequent to his death, and was engaged in prosecuting certain claims in which her husband was interested, alternately appealing to Congress and the United States Supreme Court. A handsome person, pleasing address, good education and great conversational powers, gave her considerable influence in certain circles here and elsewhere, and, as she was strongly proslavery, made her a special favorite of the Southern statesmen, and of all those who sympathized with them. Thus, she not only attended to her own affairs, but took charge of the affairs of others. Mrs. Greenhow was much more popular with the gentlemen than with the ladies.

Her residence was the resort of most of those in arms against the Government, and if their tender missives to this fashionable and dashing intriguante ever see the light of day, some amusing results will ensue. I give it as the mere rumor, that among her correspondents are the venerable and virtuous ex-President of the United States, James Buchanan, and the equally virtuous, but not quite so venerable President of the so-called Southern Confederacy, Jeff. Davis I have not seen their letters, which are supposed to be under the lock and key of the Secretary of War, but it is suggested that these two apostles of secession, more than one prove that they were not insensible to the great influence of Mrs. G Messrs. Breckinridge and Lane (Joe Lane), are also said to figure in this interchange of opinions, and the polished and graceful Yancey adds some of his choicest contributions to the collection. General Camaron, however, is so prudent and cautious in regard to these letters that I presume they will never be permitted to see the vulgar light of day.

—Speaking of this fascinating female rebel, reminds us that she has been transferred from her prison-residence at the National Capital, in charge of two officers, to a more loyal section of country than Washington city. A correspondent says that she appeared to be in the best possible spirits. When the cars arrived at the Camden station, in Baltimore, an individual, who recognized the lady, attempted to get up a demonstration in her favor; but the cars moved on without any disturbance, and by this time Mrs. G., is probably snugly ensconced in a "cottage by the sea."

ENGLAND MAKING WAR ON THE IRISH SYMPATHY WITH AMERICA.

THE O'DONOGHUE, M. P., AND THE LORD CHANCELLOR OF IRELAND.

The following correspondence has taken place between the O'Donoghue, M. P., and the Lord Chancellor of Ireland, in reference to the speech of the former at the mass meeting in Dublin a short time since:

LORD CHANCELLOR'S SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }
FOUR COURTS, Dublin, Dec. 9. }

SIR: I am directed by the Lord Chancellor to write to you, and state that his lordship has read the report, as given in the Freeman's Journal newspaper of the 6th inst., of the proceedings of what is called a mass meeting of Irish Nationalists, holden at the Rotunda on the evening of Thursday, the 5th inst., and over which you are stated to have presided as chairman The whole tenor of the speeches reported to have been made at this meeting, and the resolutions adopted, plainly indicate the determination of those who took part in it, that it, in consequence of recent occurrences, a war should arise between Her Majesty and the Federal States of Northern America they would, as far as might be in their power, not only withhold all assistance from their lawful sovereign, but would manifest their sympathy and friendship for those who in that calamitous event would be arrayed in open hostility against her. The meeting appears to have concluded with the appointment of a Committee, of which you are named as Chairman, whose object is declared to be to take into consideration the advisability of carrying out an organization in the present state of affairs at home and abroad; and looking to the principles avowed by those who addressed the meeting, it is to be presumed that the organization thus projected is designed to advance those principles, and to disseminate the treasonable views so publicly announced. The whole of these proceedings appear to the Lord Chancellor to be altogether at variance with the true allegiance to which every subject of the Empire is bound, and his lordship has directed this communication to be made to you, as a magistrate of the County of Kerry, and holding Her Majesty's commission, in order that you may make such observation thereon as you shall think proper.

I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant, MARK PERRIN.

DERRIQUIN CASTLE, Kenmare, Dec. 14.

SIR:—I have received your letter of the 9th of December, conveying to me the view the Lord Chancellor has been pleased to take of the proceedings at the recent meeting of Irish Nationalists, over which I had the honor of presiding. And, in compliance with your request, I beg to state for his lordship's information, that it is my conviction that an overwhelming majority of the Irish people feel that they have much more reason to be grateful to the American nation than to the British Government, and that, therefore, in the event of a war between America and England, they would be very unwilling to supply men and money for the purpose, as I stated at the meeting, of destroying American commerce, bombarding American cities, and humiliating the American flag. I candidly avow that those are my sentiments. Further, I have to state that I have already acquainted several with my intention of withdrawing from the Committee nominated at the Rotunda meeting, because, upon reflection, I see clearly that, in the absence of a great number of names, the Committee cannot command the confidence of the country At the same time I think it absolutely necessary that a Committee, manifestly entitled to public confidence, should be appointed to consider how the interests of Ireland may be affected by a war between America and England. Perhaps I may become a member of such a committee, the formation of which must necessarily lead to a most useful national organization.

An apprehension of trespassing too much upon your valuable time forbids me to enter at greater length into details; for inasmuch as I deny the necessity or prudence of a secret system of action, I see no reason why the Lord Chancellor should not be made acquainted with our plans, and his opinion taken upon the feasibility of our proposed organization. I believe the meeting at the Rotunda truly indicated the general feeling of the people of Ireland upon the question of war between America and England, and I am prepared to maintain, at all risks, that it is the duty and the undoubted right of my countrymen, unreservedly, to discuss all questions affecting the interests of Ireland. I cannot be persuaded that his lordship contemplates visiting me with what he, no doubt, regards as punishment, for venturing to discharge this duty, and to assert this right. I am puzzled to understand why you have been directed to address me "as a magistrate," and not as an Irishman. Are the two characters incompatible? Must a magistrate forego freedom of thought and expression? Must he allow others to think and speak for him? Must he take an English view of every question and at once stifle the natural predilections of the Irish heart? Future events shall decide the answer to be given to these queries. I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

O'DONOGHUE.

To the Secretary of the Lord Chancellor.

LORD CHANCELLOR'S SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }
FOUR COURTS, DUBLIN, Dec. 17. }

SIR: I am directed by the Lord Chancellor to inform you that, having read your letter of the 14th inst., his lordship has directed writs of supersedeas to issue, removing you from the commission of the peace of the counties of Cork and Kerry. I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant, MARK PERRIN.

THE O'DONOGHUE, M. P.

A SHOCKING NARRATIVE.

Horrible Account of the Sufferings and Cannibalism of an American Whaler's Boats Crew in the Arctic Regions.

The Boston Journal publishes the statements of Joseph Fisher and John F. Sullivan, deserters from the whale ships Ansel Gibbs and Daniel Webster, of their sufferings; and those of their companions. Their accounts are confirmed by the fact that the Ansel Gibbs, which arrived at New Bedford Nov. 12th, reported the desertion of seven of her crew with a whale-boat in the Arctic regions. Fisher's account says:

"We left the Ansel Gibbs in Cumberland Sound on August 4th, 1860. Our reason for so doing was bad treatment by the Captain. Our names were John Giles, John Martin, Hiram J. Davis, Willard Hawkins, Thomas Colwell, Joseph and Samuel Fisher, of the Ansel Gibbs; and John Sullivan and Warren Dutton, of the Daniel Webster. We took a boat, into which we managed to place a small quantity of provisions, viz: seventeen pounds of hard bread. Our intentions were to make Cape Chidley, on the main land. We landed at several small islands, and finally stopped at Resolution Island. We stopped there a few days, but got nothing to eat except a few small birds. We then started from there across Hudson Strait, and made Cape Chidley, but could not land on account of the bold shore, and, as near as we could judge, landed about thirty miles to the southward. This was about the 20th of August. Our provisions were then all gone, and we had nothing to eat except mushrooms and a few berries that we occasionally found. From there we worked our way to the southward, landing about every day in search of provisions. On the 4th of September we started from there in a heavy gale of wind, which carried our mast away, and we had to run in shore again to splice it. It was here that Warren Dutton died of starvation, on the same day. We were entirely destitute of provisions, and so weak that we could hardly move. Some food must be had or we should all share the fate of poor Dutton. A proposition was made to eat his body, and there being no other alternative, we were compelled to do so.

We stopped here five days, as we could not get away, and by that time the flesh was all gone. Still we were without food. The bones were then broken up small and boiled in a kettle that we had with us; also, the skull was broken and the brains taken out and cooked.

We then got a fair wind and stood out to sea, but were so weak that we could not manage the boat, and drove on an island some ways out to sea. We got the boat under the lee of it, but had not the strength to haul her ashore, and the same night had a hole stove in her.

It was at this time that Sullivan says I tried to murder him, which is a falsehood. I will state the facts, as near as I am able and I call upon the rest of my shipmates to bear me out in the truth or falsity of the assertion:—Sullivan was not generally liked by the men, as he found a great deal of fault and was quarrelsome. He had provoked me several times almost beyond endurance, and at one of our disputes I struck him with a stick that I held in my hand. We then clinched and he soon let me go. Then Samuel Fisher came up and had some words with him, when Sullivan and Samuel drew their knives and Sullivan struck Sam and cut him in the neck, but did not kill him. He bled some and being very weak it might have hastened his death, as he died the next day—but cannot say as to that. As to any intention of murdering Sullivan, it was the farthest thought in my mind. I merely struck him in the heat of passion and my shipmates bore me out in the act, as it was provoked by him.

We ate the body of Samuel as we were dying from starvation; but I did not cut him up, as stated by Sullivan. I was loath to partake of his flesh, as we were cousins, and refused to do so till the certainty was forced upon my mind that unless I did I would be the next victim.

People may blame us for doing as we did; but place any one in our circumstances, with death staring them in the face they would have done the same. The remainder of the narrative, as stated by Sullivan, is correct

Sullivan's account adds:

"After a while we managed to repair the boat and left the Island. We ran in where we thought was main land, but it proved to be an Island; here we left the boat and proceeded on foot, walking about a mile a day. At last we reached the other side of the island in about four days; then put back again to the boat. It took us four days to get back. When we got there we found the boat stove very bad since we left there. We tried to get around the island in her, but she sunk when we got into her; we then left her and went back to the other side of the island to remain there until we should die or be picked up. We ate our belts, knots and sheathes and a number of bear and seal skin articles we had with us. To add to our misery it commenced to rain and kept up for three days; it then began to snow. In this miserable condition we were picked up by a boat's crew of Esquimaux on the 29th of September. The missionaries did all that lay in their power to help us along and provided us with food and clothing and sent us to Naire.

PUNISHMENT FOR DESERTION IN THE REBEL ARMY.

The Memphis Appeal has a letter from Camp Beauregard, Ky., in which occurs the subjoined extract:

"On Friday, all the troops at this station were assembled together and formed into a square, for the purpose of witnessing the punishment of three men belonging to the First Missouri Regiment, convicted of desertion. It is not necessary to give their names or the facts drawn out by the court-martial concerning their crime. They were branded on the left hip with the letter D, which was done with a hot iron made in the shape of that letter; then their heads were closely shaved, and, finally, they were each hit fifty lashes upon the bare back, in the presence of all their comrades, and drummed out of the service to the tune of the "Rogue's March." Volunteers who often speak of quitting the service upon the slightest provocation, without the proper discharges, and seem to regard the act lightly, should take warning from the fate of these poor unfortunate fellows."

GEN. SIGEL.—If this distinguished officer has resigned because his situation in Missouri was rendered intolerable or uncomfortable to him, we most earnestly hope that he will forthwith be appointed to a high command elsewhere. He has done gallant and great service, and we have now very few military men in whom the country has such strong confidence as in him His loss from the army would be deeply and universally regretted as a national loss.—Louisville Journal.

A BRITISH EXAMPLE.—It will be recollected that the Dublin anti-war meeting was presided over and addressed by O'Donoghue, M. P. Immediately after that event, the Lord Chancellor removed him from the commission of the peace, as a punishment for the past and a warning for the future. This is the way in which Great Britain—whose organs profess to mourn over the extinction of free speech in our Northern States—rewards any difference of opinion from the powers that be. But suppose a rebellion movement should be got up in Ireland, would England heed a particle of the advice she has been showering upon us with such profuse and unsolicited energy? We know her better.—Boston Journal.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear

A land force with a provision train was immediately dispatched to their assistance. They will probably march to Jonesborough and come here by railroad. The river is full of floating ice.

XXXVII CONGRESS---FIRST SESSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

HOUSE.—Mr. Dunn, from the military committee reported a bill authorizing and directing the Secretary of War to furnish prisoners of the United States in the revolted States with clothing and other necessaries of life, and for this purpose that he employ such agents as may be necessary. Passed.

Mr. Wilson, from the Committee on the Judiciary reported back with amendments, the bill amendatory of the act of 1857, to enforce the attendance of witnesses. Passed. It repeals that part which exempts witnesses who have testified before any examining commissioner of either house from being used as evidence in account of Justice.

SENATE.—A communication was received from the Secretary of War in answer to the resolution of Mr. Powell, directing answer to resolution passed at last session in regard to contracts, &c. The answer states that the first resolution was received at the Department just after the battle of July 21st, and that since then he has not had sufficient clerical force to properly answer the resolution. The answer also states: "I, myself, have not made a single contract for any purpose whatever. The heads of Bureaus have made all the contracts." The subject was referred.

Mr. King presented a petition that lands of convicted traitors be awarded to soldiers, and also to abolish all fees and perquisites of officers. Referred.

Mr. Wilson introduced a bill to amend certain portions of the articles of war.

Mr. Hale offered a resolution that Ward H. Lamon, U. S. Marshal for the District of Columbia, by his recent order communicated to the Senate, excluding members of the Senate from the jail without a pass from him, (Lamon) has been guilty of a breach of the privileges of the Senate and of contempt of the rightful authority of this body, and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to communicate a copy of this resolution to the President.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, the bill in relation to the arrests of persons claimed or held to labor or service by officers in the military or naval service of the United States, was taken up. The bill provides that any officer arresting any persons held to service or labor shall be discharged from service.

Mr. Collamer offered an amendment, or as a substitute that no officer of the army or Navy, militia or volunteer, shall assume to exercise any authority to arrest, detain, hold or control any person held to service, and that any officer so offending be dismissed from the service. Agreed to.

Mr. Saulsbury offered the following amendment as a new section: "Nor shall any soldier or officer under like penalty in any way entice, decoy, or retain any such person from his or her master or owner." Mr. Saulsbury said that he thought that the officers or soldiers of the United States ought to have nothing to do with the question at all either way.

Mr. Rice moved to add after the words master or owner, the words "who may be a loyal citizen of the United States." Agreed to.

Mr. Wilson opposed the amendment. He was against any kind of justification of slavery. What he wanted was to prevent officers of the army from returning slaves. Some officers have already disgraced the service in this way and God willing, he (Wilson) if he had the power meant to prevent their confirmation by the Senate.

The contested seat of Kansas was taken up, the question being the motion of Mr. Clark to strike out the word "not" in the resolution of the Judiciary Committee that Mr. Lane was not entitled to the seat.

Mr. Lane said he had refused to accept the office on the 22d of July. He referred to the contest in Kansas with Mr. Stanton for the Senatorship and said that four days after he was elected, the Governor whom he had overthrown and his contestant whom he had beaten, declared the seat vacant.

Mr. Bright thought the question a legal one, the President having appointed him to an office not created. The Senator from Kansas could not accept and therefore did not vacate his seat in the Senate.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Lane, Stanton, Clark and Foster. A vote was taken on Mr. Clark's motion to strike out the word "not."

NAYS—Messrs. Anthony, Bayard, Carlisle, Davis, Dixon, Foot, Foster, Johnson, Kennedy, McDougall, Nesmith, Pearce, Powell, Saulsbury, Ten Eyck and Wade—16.

Mr. Dixon offered a resolution that the usual mileage be allowed the contesting member. Laid over.

A COMPLETE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE TIMES.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

Splendidly Illustrated.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects —New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

D. 1859, at four o'clock P. M. of that day, in book "F" of mortgages, on pages 238 and 289.

Default has been made in the condition of said mortgage, and there is claimed to be due thereon at the date of this notice the sum of twenty five hundred and fifty eight 35/100 dollars, ($2558.35) and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the debt or any part thereof secured by said mortgage. The premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz:

PROSPECTUS
SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.
THE BEST MECHANICAL PAPER IN THE WORLD.
VOL. VI.—NEW SERIES.

A new volume of this widely circulated paper commences on the 4th of January. Every number contains sixteen pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is devoted to the interests of Popular Science, the Mechanic Arts, Manufactures, Inventions, Agriculture Commerce and the Industrial Pursuits generally, and is valuable and instructive, not only in the workshop and manufactory, but also in the household, the library and the reading room.

TO THE INVENTOR.
The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the previous week; thus giving a correct history of the progress of the inventions in this country. We are also receiving every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

CHEMISTS, ARCHITECTS, MILLWRIGHTS AND FARMERS!
The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found the most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and practical information pertaining to the interests of millwrights and mill owners will be found published in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN which information they cannot possibly obtain from any other source. Subjects in which planters and farmers are interested will be found discussed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN; most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

THE SAINT PAUL DAILY PRESS.

The Saint Paul Press.

ST. PAUL, SATURDAY, JAN. 18.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

One week ago to-day we challenged the Pioneer to submit to a comparison of the respective circulations of the Press and Pioneer, the result to be made public by both papers. No response whatever, either public or private, has been made to this proposition.

We are entitled, therefore, to take its silence as an admission that the circulation of the PRESS is, as we stated, larger than that of the Pioneer. The simple truth is that our circulation is about one third larger than that of the Pioneer, and it dare not make the comparison.

The force of this refusal of the Pioneer to make public, the facts in regard to our respective circulations, is heightened by the fact, that a similar challenge made by the Pioneer when the Press was but three months old, was promptly accepted by us, and the result made public to our disadvantage. The Pioneer well knows that its circulation is inferior to ours, but it hopes to retain advertisers who would desert it, if the facts were clearly established. It still hopes to impose on the advertising public with a falsehood.

THE RAMSEY COUNTY DELEGATION.

It was a gratifying testimonial of the confidence of the immediate representatives of St. Paul, that with but one exception—and that for purely political considerations—their votes were cast for us for State Printer. Our special acknowledgments are due to Messrs. Carver, Rohr, and Gross for their free and independent votes, unbiassed by any party or political considerations. This, to them, because they are our townsmen and neighbors. To all others whose support was given us, uninfluenced by party association, we tender our cordial thanks.

TO COL. JOHN H. STEVENS.

We are tempted to thus publicly express our thanks to an old friend for his vote in the joint convention yesterday. We had no right to expect Col. Stevens' vote on the score of recent political association. We think we may interpret it as a testimonial of confidence and regard from one whose personal knowledge of us dates back years before either of us dreamed of citizenship in the land of the Dacotahs, and whose friendship we have enjoyed during the fifteen years that we have been residents of Minnesota.

We thank you Colonel, and shall cherish a remembrance of the act, with memories of "auld lang syne."

ELECTION OF STATE PRINTER.

By reference to our Report of the Legislative proceedings of yesterday it will be seen that William R. Marshall was elected State Printer on joint ballot by a vote of 46—embodying the whole Republican strength present on the occasion—against 4 votes cast for Thomas E. Massey and 1 for John C. Wise.

If we feel deeply grateful for this renewed expression of confidence on the part of the Representatives of the people—it is not because we are disposed to regard this result as in any sense a mere personal compliment to ourself—though we might perhaps be indulged in some feeling of personal triumph under the peculiar circumstances of the case.

It is the political aspect of the matter as a triumph of the loyalty and integrity of the Republican party over the designing and reckless demagogues who have tried in this case, as they have been trying months past to break up and destroy the Republican organization for their own selfish and ambitious purposes—it is as a victory of the true-hearted brotherhood of human rights—over corrupt and scheming combinations in the interest of political retrogression and pro-slavery compromises—that this result will be regarded with unmingled gratification by every Republican in the State.

It is a cordial reaffirmation by the Republican party of Minnesota speaking through its representatives, fresh from the people, of the great cardinal principles upon which the present national administration was elected. And is a just and significant rebuke to those men who are seeking to lower the lofty standard of freedom in presence of its armed enemies.

In the name of those principles we desire, then, to thank the Republican majority of the Legislature for standing up as one man in vindication of the unity of the party, assaulted at once by the perfidy of false friends and the malice of hypocritical foes. We thank them, each and all, for the proof that they have given that whatever may be the course of timid and time-serving placemen, the Republican party of Minnesota is true to the core—as steadfast against corruption as they are proof against intimidation.

For our part, we hope to show that the Republican party have not misplaced their confidence in us, either as representing the broad, progressive principles of National reform, or in its local aspects, as the party of retrenchment, economy, and fidelity to public trusts.

—Gen. Schofield has ordered the six months troops raised for State service in Missouri to be mustered out on the 25th inst., with the option of enlisting for the war.

CAMERON'S SUCCESSOR.

Our pro-slavery cotemporary hailed the retirement of Mr. Cameron from the Cabinet and the succession of Stanton as indicative of a determination to prosecute the war without hurting slavery. All our readers know that the Chicago Tribune is fiercely anti-slavery, and in favor of emancipation as a war measure. If it is satisfied with Stanton, nearly every one else will be, who want the war to go on, letting slavery suffer all the consequences of its efforts to destroy the Union.

Whatever are the motives for the removal of Cameron it is certain that Stanton, his successor is sound on the slavery question. He is an intimate personal friend of Chase and Sumner, is known to be in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, and of striking the rebels in their tenderest spot. His position is entirely satisfactory to Cameron. Stanton's personal integrity, ability and vigor of character are unquestioned. He is accounted one of the best lawyers in the country. His nature is that of a bull dog and he is a man of war throughout.

THE NEWS.

—Letters from leading English and French statesmen and American citizens abroad, received, say that if the United States would avoid foreign interference a decided movement to crush the rebellion must be made.

—The United States Senate, it is said, will pass the House bill abolishing the banking privilege.

—The Congressional House Judiciary Committee stands four to four on the bill to confiscate the property and emancipate the slaves of the rebels.

—The Army Appropriation bill reported from Committee of Ways and Means, appropriates nearly two hundred millions. For pay of volunteers nearly nine millions; for pay of regulars one million; for Western gun boats and for armament of fortifications over a million; for ordnance nearly eight millions; for army clothing over thirty millions; for the manufacture of arms at the National Armory nearly two millions; for subsistence of volunteers nearly thirty millions.

—A through express train is in contemplation between Washington and New York once each way, making no stoppages, in eight hours.

—The hospital of the Morgan Artillery, near Alexandria, was burned on Sunday night. The building was General Lee's property.

—The Bank Committees and Boards of Trade from Boston and Philadelphia met with the Finance Committees of both Houses at Mr. Chase's, at Washington, on Monday, where the protracted discussion lasted till nearly midnight. No conclusion was reached, but another effort will be made for united action.

—Captain Kountz, the Master of transportation at Cairo, has been ordered under arrest. He is accused of disobedience of orders and using disrespectful language towards superior officers. He will probably be removed.

—Gen. Halleck issued an order on the 12th inst., abolishing the passport system at St. Louis. It has served its purpose and can now be spared greatly to the relief of citizens of St. Louis and all visiting that city. Gen. Halleck has also written a letter to the St. Louis Democrat reproving an officer for delivering up a negro claimed as a fugitive slave. He states that such was not the intent of "Order No. 3." It was not designed to aid either negro catchers or stealers, but by excluding the persons, to exclude the question. It was not designed that the relation between slaves and master should be determined by any military officer, but merely to keep out negroes avowing themselves fugitives, nor does the order prohibit acts of humanity to such persons, such as furnishing them with food and articles of clothing.

—The gunboats Essex, St. Louis and A. O. Tyler, on Tuesday, ran down from Cairo within one mile and a half of the rebel fortifications, and opened fire upon them, throwing about twenty shot and shell in returning fire. Not more than five shot being thrown, which fell short. It is supposed that our shell did much damage. Flag officer Foote is convinced that he can reduce Columbus with but small loss when he descends the river with the whole fleet. No torpedoes or masked batteries were discovered. If any torpedoes have been planted the large quantities of ice now floating down the river will do them serious damage.

—The Kansas First Regiment reached Lexington, Mo., on Saturday last, and proceed to arrest a number of leading secessionists, among them Mr. Limerick, a banker, Mr. Sawyer, member of the State Convention, and Hunter Thompkins, a rebel desperado. They destroyed 1,500 head of hogs and other property designed for Price's army, and deprived the rebels of their negroes. This course was continued at last accounts.

—Advices from Sedalia, Missouri, represent another large haul of rebel prisoners. On Saturday night six miles from there, sixty men, with equipments, were bagged.

—The North Missouri Railroad is now running on time, the bridge at Mexico having been repaired. Water tanks are carried on the cars.

jy28 THOMPSON BROS.

FRANKLIN'S BIRTH-DAY.—That was yesterday, January 17th. It was a very appropriate way for our Legislature to celebrate it as they did.

LOST.—A young lady yesterday lost a coral necklace, gold clasp, between Canada street and the Adams school house. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

AMPHITHEATRE, TO-NIGHT.—Hiram Marks, the clown, jester and wit, takes a benefit to night at the Amphitheatre, corner Seventh and Jackson sts., opposite the International Hotel. The house will be well warmed, and no doubt will be well filled by the lovers of fun of our city, on this occasion.

We call attention to the advertisement of Kessler & Riehl, tanners and curriers, and wholesale and retail dealers in leather, furs, hides, &c., &c. This old established firm has increased its facilities for supplying the wants of the people. The stock is large and complete, and we advise all who want good bargains to give them a call.

THE SUPPER given by the ladies of the Jackson Street M. E. Church at Ingersoll's Hall on Thursday evening, was well attended, and everything passed off pleasantly. About five hundred tickets were sold. The great attraction of the evening was the music of the Great Western Band. Munger and his associates are improving in the line of their profession every day.

SOCKS FOR SOLDIERS.—The ladies of Anoka have been patriotically serving their country with their knitting needles. Although they have no representative company in the Fourth Regiment, they have been at work for the soldiers thereof. Col. Sanborn has received from them, to be distributed among his men, a fine lot of heavy woolen socks and mittens.

INDIAN SUPPLIES.—We call attention to the advertisement of the Superintendent of Indian Affairs, for supplies for the Agencies in his jurisdiction. The proposals are to be opened on the 28th inst. The Superintendent, it will be seen, does not contract for the receiving, storage and transportation of the annuity goods.

A GREAT MISTAKE.—It was evident to the most casual observer yesterday, after the State Printer question had been decided, that the Pioneer folks made a great mistake in selecting the member of their firm they did as their candidate for legislative favors. Augustus J. was most injudiciously put forward instead of Earle S. As Augustus received "nary" vote, it is certainly made manifest that no member of the Legislature had any confidence in him whatever. We think the Earle would have fared better had he been on the track!

A WORKING SENATE.—There is little talk in the Senate this session. The members appear disposed to be all workers, and to leave talking and buncombe speeches to their illustrious successors whoever they may be. The hour of meeting is ten o'clock. Yesterday at ten minutes to eleven, the President felt it proper (there being no business on the table) to compliment the Senate upon the fact that all the regular orders of the day had been gone through with, including the passage of eleven bills, which by the constitution had to be read at length on the third readings and the yeas and nays called and recorded.

MILITARY MATTERS.—Captain Russell, of the new company of Sharpshooters, has his company nearly full. His roll now shows about 80 reliable names, most of whom are mustered in.

The Second Battery of Artillery, in charge of Capt. W. A. Hotchkiss, (an old artillerist of the Mexican war,) now numbers sixty-five men, fifty-one of whom are mustered in. Mr. H. L. Gordon, late of Company D, First Regiment, is one of the wheel-horses of this company.

Capt. Gould T. Curtis, of Stillwater, is rapidly filling up his company for the Fifth Regiment. He brings over to the Fort about ten or twelve men at a time, and has now some thirty or forty mustered in.

Capt. W. B. Gere has arrived at the Fort, from Chatfield, with about sixty recruits for the Fifth.

TO BUSINESS MEN.—Any person desiring the services of an experienced, competent man, in the capacity of either superintendent, salesman or accountant, in any trading or manufacturing establishment, may be informed of such an one, by enquiring at this office. Satisfactory references can be given.

The Cairo Expedition.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.

A special dispatch to the Times, dated twelve miles from Columbus, 16th, says: "An additional force, with Gen. Grant's staff, left Cairo yesterday at ten o'clock and took McClernand's, Raines' and Cook's columns during the afternoon. I am not permitted to state where we are going, or what troops we have. Pickets are placed in all directions. No skirmish yet."

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

[Tribune's Correspondence]—The joint resolution of the Legislature of New York in relation to the reciprocity treaty with the British provinces, which was referred to the House Committee on Commerce, is committed to Gen. Ward, who has prepared a report. An extension of the features of reciprocity will be recommended, and a removal of the restrictive discriminations which render the operation of the treaty unequal. The committee proposes to make this the occasion of extending our commercial relations with other nations on the continent.

THE WESTERN ARMY.

The committee on the proposed national armory, west of the Alleghanies, has met a sufficient number of times to learn that its members disagree so thoroughly that it will be impossible to secure a majority in favor of any place. IMPORTANT CONGRESSIONAL PRINTING LAW.

Senator Sherman, from the Committee appointed to examine and report as to the compensation of all officers of Government, reported an important bill this morning in relation to printing for Government. This bill proposes that a daily paper be printed under the superintendence of the Public Printer, to be entitled "The Congressional Record," to contain the debates and proceedings of each House in the form and style of the Daily Globe. The number of reporters of each House to have their compensation—their mode of selection and duration in office to be fixed by each House respectively. The bill also provides that the engraving, lithographing and binding may be under the same provisions. Mr. Sherman intends to urge immediate action on this bill, as by its adoption the Government will save nearly a million dollars.

ANNULLING CONTRACTS.

It is understood that the contracts let out by Secretary Cameron for over a quarter of a million rifles and carbines, will be ordered to be annulled by Congress. They will not be available in the present war, and as they are to cost an average of seven dollars each over manufacturer's prices, they involve a loss of nearly nine million dollars to the Treasury.

JIM LANE ENTITLED TO HIS SEAT.

The contested election case of Stanton against Gen. Lane, is considered one of the most interesting that ever came before the Senate. Lane's right to his seat was confirmed by a vote of 24 to 16.

AN IMPRESSED SOLDIER RETURNS FROM THE CAMP OF THE ENEMY.

A Philadelphian who had been impressed into the rebel service in North Carolina, came into Gen. Hancocks brigade yesterday, from Centerville. He was on foot and armed with a Mississippi rifle. He occupied three days in making his way through the enemy's pickets, and brings important information.

XXXVII CONGRESS---FIRST SESSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.

HOUSE.—On motion of Mr. Fenton, over 100 bills from the Court of Claims were referred to Committee on Claims.

The House resumed the consideration of the Pennsylvania contested election case. A vote was first taken on the substitute reported from the minority of the committee on election that Jno. M. Butler is not, and Wm. E. Lehman is entitled to a seat as Representative from the 1st Congressional district of Pennsylvania, which was adopted by a vote of 75 against 37.

The House then concurred on the Senate amendment to the bill to promote the efficiency of the dead letter office.

Mr. Delano made a report from the Committee for the District of Columbia, on a resolution referred to them relative to Marshall Lamon's jail regulations. The committee say that it was strictly in Marshall Lamon's official discretion to make rules to remedy existing abuses. The committee asked to be discharged from further consideration of the subject. The further consideration of the report was postponed.

Mr. Stevens from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill for the suspension of the West Point Military Academy.

He took this occasion to explain why the Appropriation bills were not sooner reported. He stated that the Committee are gathering facts, and work for hours after attending to business in this Hall. He desired to say that the criticisms and libels of the press would not make them move one minute faster than a due regard to the public interests will permit.

News From Fort Monroe.

FORT MONROE, Jan. 16.

The regular Thursday flag of truce took to Craney Island several passengers for the South. The boat brought back several released prisoners, among them Lieutenant Knight of the First Minnesota Regiment. Nine of them lay over to go North.

The only news in the Southern papers is an exaggerated account of the affair between Humphrey Marshall and Col Garfield, in which it is stated that the former was retreating when he was attacked. The fighting is said to have been very hot, and the rebels of course gained a victory with small loss.

One hundred and sixty prisoners of war are expected here to morrow, to be exchanged and sent North.

The gunboats St. Louis, New London and Water Witch left Ship Island for Beloxi Dec 13th. The result was not learned, but as the Rhode Island was leaving the New London was seen returning with three schooners in tow.

The schooner Venus was captured off Galveston by the Rhode Island. She was bound from Point Isabel for Franklin, La., with a cargo of tin, copper, lead and wood, valued at $10,000. She was sent to Ship Island.

The rebel batteries at Pensacola having repeatedly fired at our small vessels, Fort Pickens opened fire on a rebel steamer which was loading stores at the Navy Yard on Jan. 1st. The rebel batteries responded and the firing was continued until evening, Fort Pickens firing the last shot. The rebel guns were well aimed and most of their shells burst inside of our fort; only one of our men, however, was wounded. One of our shots made a large breach in Fort Barancas. In the evening our firing set Warrington on fire. The conflagration continued all night and the place was still burning on the evening of the 2d, when the Rhode Island left. The fire was seen at a distance of 35 miles at sea.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

The letter of Donald McKay, the great ship-builder of New York, urging the expediency and practicability of an immediate and large increase of our navy, is attracting the attention of the Government, and there is believed to be but little doubt that the appropriation by Congress of the money to construct a navy commensurate with our commerce and with our importance as a maritime power, would, of itself, go far towards settling our whole foreign and domestic troubles, by discouraging all idea of European intervention, in the expectation, of which our domestic difficulties had their origin, and have been kept alive. In any event, such a navy would enable us to resume our foreign rank among the nations, if, with our vast mercantile marine and with our remarkable capacity and aptitude for nautical affairs, it did not secure for us naval supremacy. With an adequate navy we are safe beyond peradventure; without it, we are at the mercy of European nations and American traitors.

THE STEAMSHIP RINALDO--IS SHE LOST?

The safety of the British steamer Rinaldo, having Mason and Slidell on board, is becoming a matter of serious doubt. The New York World of the 11th says:

"The general impression was, when she left Provincetown, that she would proceed by the usual route to Halifax, but the length of time which has elapsed warrants the conclusion that, if Halifax was the destined port, the Rinaldo must have been lost in that terrible storm which raged with such unprecedented fury during the night of the 1st instant, and the following day.

"The Rinaldo left Provincetown at 6 o'clock P. M. of the 1st instant, and only two hours afterward's the gale commenced all along that vicinity. All those who witnessed it, and sailors who were out at that time, concur in representing it as the most furious that has been experienced on the eastern coast for many years. The losses to the shipping on the high seas, were extremely numerous. Two vessels, the schooner Edward M. Clark, of Hartford, and another of unknown name, are known to have sunk with all on board during that fearful night. The Rinaldo may have steered for St. Thomas on leaving Cape Cod, but such a course would seem uncalled for and singular. She sailed, as the British consul in this city states, under sealed orders, which Capt. Hewitt, her commander, was to open after leaving port. The Rinaldo had a heavy armament of guns, which would naturally tend to disable the vessel in a storm. They were also mounted on the main deck, a fact which would still further tend to incapacitate the vessel for weathering a severe storm. Two of her cannon weighed over 10 000 pounds each, and the remaining fifteen were all 32-pounders—The Rinaldo is, or was, as the case may be, a screw steamer, with engines of 200 horse-power, manned by two hundred hands."

"It is known that a terrific N. W. gale sprung up at the instant of her departure; and even had she been blown to leeward by its force, a steamship would not, under ordinary circumstances, have been delayed so much beyond her time. We learn, however, that the Rinaldo had but a very moderate allowance of coal on board, having left this port without filling up entirely, and having steamed hence to Cape Cod in six-and thirty hours: Her machinery also had been slightly deranged. As therefore it blew hard from the North, from the 3d inst. to the 6th, we deem it exceedingly probable that Captain Hewitt, one of the ablest of seamen, bore away in due time for Bermuda."

AFFAIRS IN TENNESSEE---THE REBEL ARMY OF THE WEST.

The Catholic Bishop of Nashville has arrived at Louisville.

He states that drafting in Tennessee proved a partial failure. Union men are numerous in that city. They are not outspoken, but often indulge in ridicule of the Confederate Government, and use language which indicates their feeling. The rebel army is a greater terror even to Secessionists than the Union army. If Bowling Green falls, Nashville will be destroyed. Forts are being built near the city, one is situated two miles north of the city, on the Gallatin turnpike, and others east and west of the city.

The Bishop came by way of Bowling Green and Munfordsville. He knows nothing of the force at Bowling Green. No reinforcements had arrived from Columbus. He saw at Glasgow Junction the remains of the splendid tunnel, destroyed on the 5th by rebels. The railroads from that point North has been entirely destroyed—even rails taken away. The turnpike has been obstructed by felled trees. The rebels are endeavoring to draw Union men on Bowling Green. He says the approach to Columbus, Kentucky, is splendidly defended by numerous batteries, chains and torpedoes obstructing the river, and thinks it an utter impossibility for gunboats to live in the water at that point. General Zollicoffer has thrown three regiments of rebels in Jimtown, to keep the rear open and to guard.

—The New York Observer states that a storekeeper, in Brooklyn went to the West Indies with his wife, who was an invalid. She died there. He brought her home in a cask of spirits, buried her in Greenwood, and sold the spirits to his customers. They liked the liquor well enough, and he being a worthy church member and a good citizen, never thought there was anything out of the way in thus disposing of the spirit when the body was out of it.

NEWS AND MISCELLANY.

—Of 17,316 persons employed in the construction of the Roman railways, 6,781 are women, who assist the masons.

—It is said that the Secretary of the Treasury has ordered the devices on our National coin to be so changed as to signify the religious faith of the nation, and its trust in a Supreme Being.

—Jesse D. Bright is to be permitted to remain in the Senate. The charge of treason is understood to be "not proven." But that he he is a traitor at heart, no one doubts.

—A Western clergyman, in presenting a revolver to a volunteer, said: "If you get into a tight place, and have to use it, ask God's blessing if you have time, but be sure and not let the enemy get the start of you. You can say amen after you shoot"

—The most attentive newspaper reader in Congress is Vallandigham, who is so delighted when he sees his name in print, that he straightway seeks to have the compliment repeated, by sitting down and writing a note, correcting whatever statement had been made about him or his course.

—John Chinaman swindled John Bull very adroitly in a recent importation of shawls. Four cases shipped from China and supposed to contain fifty dozen crape shawls, when opened were found to cover nothing but matting and stones.

—The London Engineer asserts that while wages and iron are much higher in America than in England, locomotives of the same weight and dimensions in the United States range at from 20 to 25 per cent. lower prices.

—A correspondent of the Petersburg Express, writing on the 1st, says: "The health of the army (Rebel) we trust, is improving. While our city is filled with the sick, and while death gathers home many a brave spirit, yet we have reason to believe that sickness in our midst is decreasing"

—A Quaker coming into pretty close quarters with a rebel, he remarked: "Friend, it's unfortunate, but thee stands just where I'm going to shoot," and blazing away down came the Secessioner.

—Two hundred and thirty-nine of the returned prisoners are still at Baltimore, in care of the Union Association. There they are suffering for clothes, but are well fed. The department have concluded to pay the three months' men up to the present time, and muster them out. The three years' men are to have a furlough for a month, and to be paid up to the present time. In about a week, the men will receive their money and go home.

—It is estimated that there are some 14 000,000 persons of African descent on this continent. In the United States they number 4,500,000; Brazil, 4,150,000; Cuba, 1,500,000; South and Central American Republics, 1,200,000; Hayti, 2 000,000; British Possessions, 800,000; French, 250 000; Dutch, Danish and Mexican, 200,000.

—The red hot shot used in the British navy and forts is produced by pouring molten iron into shells. A small cupola furnace has been put on board the Warrior for melting the iron to be used for such shot.

—A poor Frenchman, when his wife roused him from his sleep with the cry, "Get up, Baptiste, there is a robber in the house," answered sensibly, "Don't let us molest him. Let him explore the house, and if he should find anything of value, we will take it from him."

—It has been a habit of the London Times never to publish the arguments of an opponent nor to retract falsehoods of its own. It has not learned a new creed, but, in a paragraph of a late article, it confesses past injustice by asserting the precise opposite of its repeated misrepresentations. It has persistently accused our placable and mild-mannered Secretary of State of being the most belligerent and bloodthirsty of diplomats. With an unmoved countenance it now asserts his anxiety to avert war.

—The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce thus compliments Vallandigham: "Since Mr. Burnett of Kentucky has left the House of Representatives, the duties of Mr. Vallandigham seem to have been increased, for I notice by the official report that he took the floor on Tuesday last upwards of thirty different times."

—Carl Schurz is probably on his way from Madrid, leaving the Legation in charge of Mr. Perry, the Secretary of Legation, but his friends declare that he does not come home because "the place is very uncomfortable for him." On the contrary, they say that Mr. Schurz is popular at Madrid both at Court and in society, having overcome all the prejudices against his early revolutionary antecedents, and he probably returns home to engage in the great struggle now going on.

—The Vermont troops in the army of the Potomac are to be envied by all their fellow soldiers. Their State has opened a bank account with each one of them, and regularly passes to his credit $7 per month. This sum may be checked for by the volunteer, if he is a single man. If married, it is paid to his family. If permitted to remain undrawn from the State Treasury for six months, the rate of six per cent. is allowed on it.

—A very tall man was in the streets of Boston when an old lady, who admired his gigantic stature, thus addressed him:—"Mister, were you large when you were small?" "Yes, marm, I was considerable big when I was little."

—The British journals are constantly denouncing the inefficiency of our blockade of the Southern coast. That able and most bitter rebel organ, the Richmond Examiner, views the matter very differently, and being nearer the point of suffering, its testimony is of great value. It says in its issue of Dec. 30:

"The only effective weapon of assault that the public enemy have yet wielded against us, is the weapon of blockade; and, so far, neither Southern ingenuity, statesmanship, nor pride, has been able to provide a single measure for its counteraction."

A VOICE FROM PEMBINA.

Correspondence of the Daily Press.

MR. EDITOR:—In the middle of a stormy day, when possibly human beings are freezing to death at no great distance from here, your old St. Paul acquaintance can think of no better use of his time than by writing a few lines for your paper.

As you are probably aware an election was called under our Organic Act, by Hon. William Jayne, Governor of this Territory, on the 16th day of September last. In the first place, he caused the census to be taken while our people, men, women, children and all, were almost all gone on their annual hunting expedition. Mr. Bates, the Deputy United States Marshal, entrusted with the performance of that duty, was told in St. Paul, while on his way here, that he would find our dwellings nearly all deserted. Nothing could then stop him. Some object was to be attained. He proceeded, and returned about 41 voters. The Governor based his apportionment thereupon. We were, consequently, assigned one Representative and two Councilmen; the latter to be voted for with three precincts, situated in the very extreme Southern end of the Territory. Notwithstanding we had no chance to hold a Convention, or communicate in time with those remote precincts, we held an election on the day appointed. The election was conducted very fairly and honestly. Captain (now General) Todd received all the votes polled at Pembina and St. Joseph, viz: 186 votes. H. S. Donaldson Esq., our candidate for the House of Representatives, had no opposition James McFetridge Esq., and Hon. Charles Grant, received all the votes but about forty, for the Council. Then, what do you think followed? Mr. Donaldson received his certificate of election, while Messrs. McFetridge and Grant were refused theirs. Their opponents were Messrs. H. Cole, and W. W. Brooklings, who received respectively 35 and 50 votes, and they received their certificates on the ground that we had polled more votes than the confounded census had returned. They polled in the Southern part of the Territory, 386 votes, making the two-thirds of all the votes polled. It will be perceived from the above statement that our share of the representation should have been one-third, or seven or eight members of the Legislature. All the difference the census could make, I thought, and do think now, would be to lessen our representation in the apportionment, but never to disfranchise our legal voters.

It does not make any difference with our worthy friend, Gen. Todd, for he was elected independent of our united votes. I understand from his agent, of Yankton, that he is going to resign his position in the army, and serve us in the capacity of Delegate. Such a course will highly please this end of the Territory, for we depend upon his ability, influence and integrity, for justice.

I suppose, Mr. Editor, we have to pay, these days, for past frauds committed on this Pembina Point, that have cheated the people of your State out of the election of a worthy Governor, a few years ago. However, sir, nature has done for this end of the Territory what partial hands can never remove from us. All the natural advantages are on our side.

Level and fertile prairies, game, fish timber, nothing is likely here to hinder our prosperity. They cannot boast at the other end of so many advantages. I have wanted for some time to hear the result of our late census, but have waited in vain, I don't believe it will be published, for reasons well known. Fifteen hundred inhabitants is not an over estimate of our population. I suppose from the way things have been arranged all the public buildings will be located somewhere at or near Yankton, which will not only damage us but will also be adverse to Minnesota's interests by changing the channel of immigration—nous verrons.

A treaty between the United States and the Chippewas, for the land of the latter lying east and west of the Red River will probably set us all right. The late annoyances of these Indians and their interference with the free navigation of that beautiful highway (Red River), and their intention to renew them, will, in all human probability, hasten that long desired treaty. Never a treaty was so needed, for the lives of peace able citizens are daily exposed. The law is put in defiance. Liquor is sold here in an alarming quantity, spreading all over these regions poverty, misery, desolation and vice. The progress of civilization and religion will be paralyzed, so long as this abominable traffic is tolerated or suffered to go on. My candid opinion is our worthy and enterprising citizens, Messrs. J. C. & H. C. Burbank & Co., will not be able to run their fine new boat on the Red River next season, unless we have a military force to keep our Indians in due respect of the law. The past annoyances will be nothing compared with the depredations they intend perpetrating next season.

Their grievances seem to be that the steamboat chases away the fish and game, and destroys their timber, which are considered by them as their very best means of subsistence. They say Uncle Sam should buy their lands and use them as he pleases afterwards. From the several conversations I have held with nearly all the Chippewa Chiefs, since last summer, I infer that there would be no trouble whatever, now, in bringing them to terms.

Last summer I was myself and family exposed to become victims of the ferocity of fifteen or twenty of these unmerciful drunken Indians. Since last fall we have not been annoyed by them at all for the very good reason that they are all gone to their winter quarters. There is no telling, however, whatever, what may happen in the spring, when they will be back. Our hopes are that his Excellency, Governor Ramsey, will see us protected from Indian depredations. The State of Minnesota has been so justly loyal to our mother patry, that the least she could expect from Uncle Sam would be the protection of her frontier citizens.

Believing that your to-morrow wishes of a happy New Year will bring about the best results in the world for the next ensuing twelve months,

I subscribe myself, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOSEPH LEMAY.

PEMBINA, Dec. 31, 1861.

MISS SLIDELL.

The girl stood on the steamer's deck,
While men in arms were thick around;
And from Jacinto's threatening sides
A score of cannon on her frowned:
She bade them leave her father there—
She challenged them to her hurt—
She madly laid her bosom bare,
And fearlessly exposed her—shirt!

COMING DOWN.

The moderate tone of the London Times, is remarkable. In its issue of the 28th it discusses at length the report of the United States Naval Board on iron clad steamers, gives the details of the three vessels now being built, and says:

"The rapidity, however, with which the vessels can be built is remarkable. Two of the builders offer to complete their contracts in 100 days, one only, asks from 15 to 18 months, the rest stipulate for terms varying from four months to ten. It is obvious enough, from these conditions that the American ironsides cannot be like ours. We have now learned from experience not only how costly, but how tedious is the construction of these ships, and we need not suppose that others can beat us in such a race.

"We have presumed in all those cases that the orders were actually given on the part of the board, and despatched according to the prospectus, and on this assumption, the strength of the American navy in iron-clad vessels will be as we have represented. We do not imagine that their productions will sustain a comparison with our own elaborate models; in fact, the board itself suggests that the States have no such mechanical resources as are possessed in England, and that, except for political considerations, it might be best to get the contracts taken in this country.

"It is clear, however, that the native ingenuity of the Americans is awake, and that it will be actively exerted in the case of a war. Their vessels would be rudely but rapidly extemporized, and out of their numerous inventions one or two might be found to answer. Their great advantage in such contests is that they are fettered by no routine, and restricted by no prejudices. When the demand arises government will appeal to the ship-builders of the country, and call forth all their energies. Much money will be misspent, no doubt, and many a miscarriage experienced, but a people at once so clever and adventurous can never be insignificant enemies.

The same number of the Times takes up one of Mr. Seward's published dispatches, and after remarking upon its tone at length concludes thus:

"Upon the whole, if we may assume that the policy of the Federal government is at this moment what it was in July, we should have good hopes of peace. At that time President Lincoln and his colleagues, Mr. Seward included, were plainly anxious to avert war, ostensibly in the interests of humanity at large, but really in their own. Since then, too, the civil contest has gone ill for them, and it has become clear that the 'great maritime nations,' if they should participate in the strife, are not likely to do so to our disadvantage. War, in short, according to all ordinary calculations, ought to be shunned more anxiously by the Federalists now than it was in July last, but whether the very desperation of the case may affect the conclusions of the government, or the government be incapable of pursuing its own policy against the current of popular passion, we cannot attempt to decide."

And still a third article in the same paper winds up in the following style:

"We have two elements in the Federal States—one consisting of the thoughtful politicians and the anxious business men of the country, who, if they can get the start and have their own way, will be disposed to settle matters amicably, by giving up Mason & Slidell—and the other far vaster, and when in commotion far more powerful, consisting of the great mass of the people, who believe that England will never really dare to fight America, and that if she is caught in a war it will be ruin to her, and a glorious triumph for the stars and stripes.

"As far as political motives are concerned the chances are equally balanced. True, a war with England will shut up the Federal ports and deliver the southerners from all attacks on their coast, though the New York public will probably not believe even this. But, on the other hand, there is notoriously a large party which is disgusted with the present contest, and which may be inclined to jump at a war with England as presenting a chance of an easier victory over a more celebrated enemy. Thus the news which is fast approaching us is such as no man can venture to predict. We can only hope that wisdom and justice have prevailed, while, at the same time we lose not a moment in preparing for a more unfortunate issue."

A PHYSIOLOGICAL THEORY OF BULL RUN.

"There is an important physiological fact to be recollected, also, in connection with this subject. For men to fight well and long, they must not have before undergone fatigue and loss of rest. If an army is required to rise early and march several hours, it is a physical impossibility for them to exhibit, for any any length of time, the proper nerve on the field. On the morning of Manassas the Federal army were required to rise at 3 o'clock, after a fatiguing previous day, and a march of a full day's journey before reaching the battle field. They fought pretty well until nature became overtaxed, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, just twelve hours after they had risen from sleep, they took that panic which has brought upon them so much ridicule, and which has excited so much disgust among all intelligent men, except the more observant of our physiologists. The case was very much the same at Bethel. The panic into which they fell is only to be accounted for on physiological principles.

It appears from this, says the New York Times, that "the more observant physiologists" of the secession persuasion are not so sure that Bull Run is to be interpreted as an evidence of a lack of courage on the part of Northern soldiers. There have been events since then that have made "the more observant physiologists" very numerous at the South. But, meantime, Jeff. Davis should keep a sharp eye on the Richmond savan. He is a dangerous customer with his "physiological principles."

—Capt. A. Conner, of Company H, Fifth Louisiana rebels, advertises in the Richmond papers a reward for the return of seven deserters from his single company—two sergeants, one corporal, and four privates. The advertisement by the way, presents a point for Lord Lyons. One of the deserters is described as an Englishman.

"AN INSULT TO THE FLAG."

The English people have rung such changes on this phrase, that we wonder what they will say when they learn that the flag of the American Consul at Southampton, Captain Britton, was deliberately hooted at by a detachment of the Royal Engineers, who were marching past his house on the 19th of December. He had hung the usual emblem at half mast in observance of the death of Prince Albert, when the company gave three groans as they passed, and many of them pointed their rifles at it with menacing gestures. Captain Britton resented the insult in a most spirited manner by making an immediate complaint to the Commander-in-Chief. What reparation or apology has been made we are not yet informed.—New York Post.

RULED STAMPED ENVELOPES EXCLUSIVELY ADOPTED BY THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, AT THE PRICE OF THE UNRULED.

It is desirable to introduce the stamped envelope as a substitute for the stamp.

1st. The use of the stamped envelope is economical; it is furnished to the public at the small price of two mills each, or five for one cent, exclusive of the cost of the stamp, but when the envelope and stamp are procured separately, the former of the same quality as that sold by the Government, costs more than twice as much. By using the stamped envelope instead of the stamp, there is a virtual reduction of postage of one-half to one-fifth of a cent on each letter transmitted through the mails.

2d. The use of the stamped envelope obviates the inconvenient and occasional loss to correspondents, arising from the frequent neglect to attach the postage stamp to the ordinary envelope; the letter in such cases being detained until the person to whom it is addressed is notified of the fact, and the postage due thereon remitted.

3d. The black lines incorporated with this envelope, not only supply a great convenience to many in the superscription of their letters, in a way to which there can be no objection, but they also indicate the proper position on the envelope for the address, so as to leave a sufficient blank for the postmark, thereby avoiding their mutual obliteration, and ensuring the speedy and safe transmission of letters through the mails.

Postmasters are authorized to receive stamped envelopes spoiled in the direction or otherwise, (at the rate of the stamps which they bear), in exchange for other stamped envelopes, upon satisfactory evidence being furnished that the former have not been used to pre-pay letters, great care being taken to guard against fraud. Hence, no envelope claimed to have been misdirected, is to be exchanged at the Post office of a locality to which it is addressed.

Spoiled envelopes thus received should be forwarded quarterly to the Finance Office of the Department, and the value of the stamps upon them will be placed to the credit of Postmasters.

As this is a matter of general interest, editors are requested to notice it for the benefit of the public.

PRIVATEERING A FAILURE.

There has been a long lull in privateering. The piratical act of the Nashville is the last thing of the kind, and that was an affair as profitless to Jeff. Davis as it was dastardly. The Sumter, instead of being a terror of the seas, which she was for a week or two, is now reduced to being the skulk of the West India Isles. It is all she can do to keep out of the way of her pursuers. The small pirate craft which for a while pounced out with impunity from Bull's Bay, Savannah, the Gulf Coast, or the North Carolina sounds, and seized our unsuspecting traders as they passed by, have all been quiet lately. They are neither able to get out from their dens nor to get in again, and are leisurely rotting by the Southern docks; while those who manned them have become disheartened and disgusted at their ill-luck. That fearful Confederate fleet, which has been anchored in James River for half a year, waiting for a chance to run out and devour Northern ships, must be nearly sunk with its weight of barnacles, and the jolly tars who man it must be lean with waiting. The pirate steamboats which Jeff Davis commissioned to prey on the commerce of the inland rivers, the Tennessee and Mississippi, have captured, in the gross, one scow. In fact, it must be acknowledged all round, that Confederate privateering is not much of a success. If the Sumter and the Nashville were nabbed—and it is not creditable to us that they have not been nabbed—the whole system of Confederate piracy might be considered as effectually disposed of. The ravages of the privateers in the Mediterranean, the China Seas, and the Pacific, have thus far existed only as dark and ominous prophecies in rebel newspapers.

Jeff. Davis and Toombs, and L. P. Walker, who at first built so much on the success of their great scheme of privateering, must be somewhat disappointed at the present dull and unsatisfactory state of the business. In April last it was feared that buccaneering on the high seas was going to assume somewhat of its ancient proportions, and the rebels had all sorts of visions of argosies, rich with the spoils of the world, being brought daily into their ports. All the devilish lusts of the pirates of all the earth were appealed to, to bring them to the aid of the rebels. For a short while, various small successes kept up their spirits; but now for a long time past they have had neither successes nor spirits, and there is no better times for them in prospect.—New York Times.

CURE FOR FROSTED FEET.—It is said that frozen feet can be speedily and certainly cured by being bathed and well rubbed with kerosene or coal oil, for a few times at night before retiring to bed. Several persons have already tried it, all of whom unite in pronouncing it an effectual cure, which, if they are correct, is an easy and cheap mode of getting rid of a very sore and troublesome affliction. Those who have tried it inform us that the feet should be well warmed by a hot stove during and after the application of the oil, and it will certainly effect a speedy cure. Persons suffering from the pain of frosted feet will no doubt do well in giving it a trial, for it is surely a very cheap ointment, and one that is very easily applied.—Harrisburg Union.

FREE HOMES TO SETTLERS.

THE PROPRIETORS OF THE town of LAFAYETTE, on the Red River of the North, will make liberal donations of lots to all persons who will settle upon and improve the same. This town is situated 40 miles below Ft. Abercrombie, and 180 miles above Pembina and directly opposite the mouth of the Cheyenne River; is the centre of one of the richest valleys and best agricultural regions in the world, is abundantly supplied with wood and water and the country around it has been recently surveyed and is now open to settlement. The town marks the head of navigation on the Red River of the North, and is easily accessible—the line of stages from St. Paul to Pembina, passing there semi-weekly. No portion of the great west offers greater inducements to settlers.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear

"The Best, Cheapest, and Most Successful Family Paper in the Union."

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

Splendidly Illustrated.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects.—New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

HARPER'S New Monthly Magazine.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as can not be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies, in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature London

No Magazine in Europe or America is so well known; none has half as many readers; and, we may safely say, none has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversified, elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magazine of the day. The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant.

TERMS.

The Magazine may be obtained of Booksellers, Periodical Agents, or from the Publishers, at Three Dollars a year, or Twenty-Five Cents a number. The Semi-Annual Volumes, as completed, neatly bound in Cloth, are sold at Two Dollars each; and the Muslin Covers are furnished to those who wish their back numbers uniformly bound, at Twenty Five Cents each. Twenty Two Volumes are now ready, bound in Cloth and also in Half Calf.

They will also supply Clubs of Two Persons at Five Dollars a year, or Five Persons at Ten Dollars. Clergymen and Teacher supplied at Two Dollars a year. Numbers from the commencement can now be supplied. Also, the bound Volumes.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the previous week; thus giving a correct history of the progress of the inventions in this country. We are also receiving every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. The Bermudian of Jan. 8th, has the following paragraph: H. B. M. steamer Racer arrived here from New York, Friday last. Her advices are to the 29th, and contain news of the highest moment. The American Cabinet has acceded to the just demands of Great Britain, namely the restoration to her protection of the four persons forcibly taken as prisoners from the steamer Trent. This decision must, we think, be hailed with satisfaction by all parties. We are thereby spared the apprehensions of the horrors of international war, and the Americans have shown their good sense in thus complying with the very moderate demands made of them.

The brigade which has left here for the West within the past three days is composed of the 35 and 36th Illinois, 25 and 44th Missouri, and Bacholf's and Hoffman's batteries, under command of Gen. Navigation is entirely suspended here in consequence of the gorging of ice 20 miles below the city and extending to a point some distance above town. Troops are now being sent to Cairo by railroad, but their advance is materially retained by the inadequate means of crossing the river here; the ferry boats not being able to run and the ice not yet sufficiently strong to bear heavy weight. The weather is moderating again, however, and the prospects of a speedy opening of the river are fair.

New York, Jan. 17.

A Harrisburg letter of the 16th says that Gen. Williams is in command of four Union regiments and three 12-pounder Parrott guns. Small bodies are scattered along the river, thence to Cumberland. At New Creek, near Cumberland are four regiments, while seven thousand or eight thousand are at Patterson's Creek, eight miles below Cumberland. Gen. Kelly is at Cumberland. He has three full batteries, besides heavy pieces in position. The rebel Gen. Jackson is near both with 15,000 men and 20 guns. The Ohio and Indiana troops express a warm desire for Gen. Rosecrans to be put in command at Cumberland, and say with 30 000 men he would whip Jackson, take Winchester, and turn the right flank of Manasses within a fortnight.

People who have been Helped.—There is really very little that can be done by one man for another. Begin with sense and genius, keen appetite and good digestion, and the work goes on merrily and well; without these, we all know what a laborious affair, and a dismal, it is to make an incapable youth apply. Did any of you ever set yourselves to keep up artificial respiration, or to trudge about all night with a narcotized victim of opium, or to transfuse blood (your own perhaps,) into a poor, fainting, exanimate wretch? If so, you have some idea of the heartless attempt, and its generally vain and miserable results, to make a dull student apprehend, a debauchee interested, active, or knowing in anything beyond the base of his brain, a weak, etiolated intellect hearty and worth anything. And yet how many such are dragged through their dreary curricula, and by some miraculous process of cramming, and equally miraculous power of turning their insides out, get through their examinations: and then—what then? Providentially, in most cases, they find their level. The broad daylight of the world, its shrewd and keen eye, its strong instinct of what can and cannot serve its purpose—puts all, except the poor object himself, to rights. Happy it is for him if he turns to some new and more congenial pursuit in time.—Dr. Brown.

GEN. SIGEL.

The entire German population of the loyal States is aroused to the highest pitch of excitement over the news of Gen. Sigel's resignation, and the causes that led to it. A great meeting was held at the Cooper Institute, New York, on Thursday night, the proceedings of which have not reached us. The Germans sympathized strongly with Fremont, and now to lose Sigel is rather more than they can bear.

We give elsewhere some account of the circumstances that led to Sigel tendering his resignation. It has not yet been accepted and we trust the President will see that his causes of complaint are removed and justice done him. A St. Louis dispatch of the 15th says:

"We learn from entirely reliable authority that General Sigel is still a Brigadier General in service at Rolla, and that he has no intention of leaving the army."

The meaning of the above probably is that Sigel's resignation has not been accepted, and Sigel will not leave the army until it is

The Washington correspondence of the New York press does not enlighten us upon Mr. Cameron's removal; but the subject is editorially treated.

The Times attributes it to a general want of harmony with the President's views on slavery, and Gen. McClellan's views on the conduct of the war. Cameron's sympathy with volunteers as against the regular army, etc.

The Tribune, with more truth probably attributes the change more to the "fat contracts" of the Department more than to the slavery issue or any indifferences with Gen McClellan, and says:

"Some of these contracts will have to be pitched overboard, and it would be well if the contractors could be sent after them. Gen. Cameron will not be fairly judged unless the extraordinary circumstances under which he has acted are taken into account. A generous public will make due allowance for all that was novel or trying in the situation."

The World regards it in the light the Times does; but that there is a good understanding still between Cameron and the President. It says:

"And the fact that the President has tendered him, and he has now accepted, an important foreign mission, furnishes evidence of unbroken personal relations, which their difference on a single point has not disturbed."

The Herald is silent.

SCHOOL LAW—COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction advises the substitution of County for Town Superintendents, in the modification proposed to our school laws, and the Governor recommends the proposed change. That they have abundant reason for this change we have no doubt.

The County Superintendency is growing in favor, in every Western State, and in New York and Pennsylvania it constitutes the most efficient agent of the school systems. The Hon. J. L. Pickard, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Wisconsin, says in his report for 1860:

"I would advise a change from Town Superintendency to a system of County Superintendency. Rather, I would transfer the duties of the Town Superintendent, so far as regards the examination of teachers and general supervision of the schools, to a County Superintendent, making the Town Clerk ex-officio Town Superintendent, so far as distribution of moneys, and transmission of reports are concerned.

"My reasons for deeming a change necessary may be briefly stated:

1. The system of Town Superintendency has not the confidence or support of a large majority of the people.

2. It has not, in itself, the elements necessary to secure that confidence and support.

"Frequent interviews with the most prominent educational men of this and other States, and letters from all parts of the State, from many Town Superintendents themselves, are the grounds of my first statement. Here I would introduce testimony extracted from letters written on this and other subjects.

"Says one:

'I have seen little good from the office or Town Superintendent. I think a County, on Assembly District Board, whose chairman shall be Superintendent, would suit better than anything I have heard proposed.'

"Another writes:

'I believe that a County Superintendency would greatly improve our school system. Without increasing the expense, it would secure more efficient supervision, more thoroughness and uniformity in the examination of teachers, improved modes of instruction and discipline, better text books, and in all respects improve the condition of the schools of the State.'

"Another:

'Let us have County Superintendents by all means. The present arrangement is next to worthless. Our schools, under it, have no supervision at all. I speak of the general working of the system. There is, occasionally, a man elected Superintendent of a town, who will sacrifice his time and neglect his business, to visit schools and do what he can for them; but such men are rare.'

'If we can have County Superintendents who are competent men, something could be expected from their individual supervision of schools, and their unity of action and effort.'"

One of the most intelligent teachers of Minnesota, and a Town Superintendent of Scott county, advises the adoption of the County Superintendency. In a letter to the State Superintendent, dated Oct. 26, 1861, he says:

"An efficient Superintendency is no doubt very desirable, and while it should be the duty of some intelligent person to visit every school in his town at least once a term, the amount of business involved and the emoluments of the office will not justify any one in taking pains in carrying out the details of the system, or collecting such statistics as the Department of Public Instruction should have.

"A County Superintendent, whose duty it shall be to visit all the schools in the county, and whose duties otherwise shall be similar to those of the present District Superintendent, and in addition to give popular lectures upon the subject of education in different parts of the county, would, in my opinion, constitute a much more efficient agency for carrying out a system of public instruction, than the present plan of District Superintendents."

HON. J. C. COUPER'S VOTE.

We are glad to correct the error in our report of the vote for State Printer, indicated in the following note from Mr. Couper.

St. Paul, Jan. 18, 1862.

Wm. R. Marshall, Esq.:

Dear Sir: I notice by this morning's issue of your paper that my name is not included in the list of those who voted for you as State Printer. I notice you only claim forty-six votes, while the Pioneer and Democrat accords to you forty seven.

I am certain that I voted quite distinctly on the question. I should have been pleased to have had my name recorded that it might not appear as though I was among those who did not vote.

Very respectfully,

J. C. COUPER.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS ON THE 14TH.

By reason of an interruption of the telegraph on the 15th, we did not get the proceedings of Congress on the 14th. We supply below the more important part.

Mr. Powell's resolution was taken up, asking the Secretary of War for an answer to the resolution in regard to contracts, &c.

Mr. Powell of Kentucky urged the adoption of the resolution at some length.

Mr. Cowan of Pennsylvania hoped the resolution would not pass, which he thought was as vicious as the whole. He was opposed to calling for the general reports from the departments, though he was willing to have any details called for if anything was suspicious.

Mr. Powell contended that it was specific. He wanted the people to know about these contracts.

Mr. Trumbull of Illinois thought the resolution should be answered. It now appears that two and a half millions of dollars were given to Mr. Cummings, a civilian, to make purchases. Mr. Trumbull read at some length from the report of the House Investigating Committee the evidence of Mr. Cummings in regard to the purchase of straw hats, pantaloons, &c., &c., and Hall's carbines for $15 apiece, which the Government had sold before for $2 each. Afterwards they were re-sold for $3,50 apiece. Afterwards in August, they were repurchased for the Government by the agent for 12 50 apiece, and turned over finally to the Government at $22 apiece. The committee of the House are trying to prevent the last payment.

The resolution was adopted, yeas 24, nays 3. Nays—Messrs. Browning, Cowan and Harris.

A communication was received from U. S. Marshal Lamon, stating that he had made certain regulations with regard to admission into the jail of the District of Columbia, as follows: Admitting freely the President and members of the Cabinet, the Judges of the Supreme Court, and President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House. Admitting members of Senate on a pass from the President of the Senate and members of the House on a pass from the Speaker of the House. All other persons are excluded without a pass from Marshal Lamon.

Mr. Grimes of Iowa said Marshal Lamon's statement was not a true one. He (Grimes) was refused admission to the jail yesterday, because he had no pass from the foreign satrap who was brought here from Illinois and imposed upon the inhabitants of this District.

On motion of Mr. Grimes, this bill was taken up. Mr. Grimes explained the bill at length, and spoke of the disgraceful character of the jail, where all classes of persons were huddled together.

Mr. Carlisle of Virginia hoped they would come to a vote on it so that slavery in the District may be practically abolished. Time enough had been spent on the bill and he wanted it passed so as to remove one peg on which to hang a sympathetic treatise on the negro race.

Mr. Morrill of Maine said he could not let the correction of an abuse go with a fling at this side of the Chamber. This was simply a bill to correct an abuse against the liberty of every man, and he (Morrill) could not rest under the imputation of disturbing the delicate relations of the negro question.

Mr. Wilson of Mass. thought Mr. Morrill had well taken notice of the remarks of the Senator from Virginia, (Carlisle) The Senator had been talked to by Mr. Mason and he feared that the Senator from Virginia (Carlisle) was treading in the footsteps of his predecessor, but he (Wilson) feared the rebukes of neither. He also wanted to add his word of condemnation to the insulting conduct of Marshal Lamon. The colored people of the District had never been so oppressed for ten years as they are now. A Colonel came to him to-day with an order from a Brigadier General to send back a fugitive slave. Thank God, that name has not been passed upon by the Senate yet. He thought it was time we acted up to our principles, and rebuke these men who disgrace humanity. In regard to Marshal Lamon, we ought to say to the President that he had insulted the Senate, and must be removed.

Mr. Carlisle said the Senator could not have heard what was said. He merely gave expression to his own opinions that the time should be devoted to measures connected with the preservation of the Union.

After further discussion a vote was taken on Powell's amendment to except the fugitive slaves. Lost—yeas 5, nays 35. Yeas—Messrs. Bayard, Kennedy, Pearce, Powell and Saulsbury.

Mr. Clark of N. H. offered an amendment that no person be hereafter confined in jail without a warrant from the magistrate or court, or an order from one house of Congress. Agreed to.

The bill was passed, yeas 31, nays 4—Messrs. Carlile, Kennedy, Powell and Saulsbury.

On motion of Mr. Sumner, the bill for the relief of the British ship Perthshire was taken up and passed. Adjourned.

House.—The House resumed the consideration from Thursday of the bill to abolish the franking privileges.

Mr. Porter expressed the hope that Congress would distinguish itself by reforming abuses, and making the recipient pay postage on documents, instead of this being done by the public at large.

Several other gentlemen expressed their views on the subject.

The bill to abolish the franking privilege was further discussed. The question was taken on striking out the whole of the bill excepting the first section, which absolutely abolishes the franking privilege on and after July 1st.

After further discussion, Mr. Washburne moved to lay on the table the whole subject. This was disagreed to. The bill then passed, 107 against 42. The bill is as follows:

ART MATTERS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITOL.

From the Washington Star, Jan 3d.

Leutze is busy at work upon his great picture for the western staircase of the House gallery. It is to be entitled "Westward the Star of Empire takes its way." The sketch in color is finished, and is in many respects the finest of Mr. Leutze's works. The completion of the painting (the main picture, with the arabesques and smaller designs) will require a twelve month's work at least.

W. D. Washington, according to report, is now a member of the Black Horse Cavalry down in Dixie.

Miss. Lander, the sculptress, who has spent considerable time lately in this city by the bedside of her brother, Gen. Lander, (wounded at Ball's Bluff,) has the good news that her statute has been fished up from the ocean-bed, and is now safe in Boston.

Brady is indefatigably busy in developing new capabilities, for photography; and some of his late processes for depicting outdoor camp life, &c., seem the ultimate "possible" of the art. The art-folk generally will recognize an old acquaintance in a recent acquisition to the Brady corps.—Mr. H. Amidon.

A SECESSION FLAG IN CHATFIELD.

Quite an excitement was kicked up in the Eastern part of our village one day the past week, caused by the report that a secession flag was flying from the house of one of our citizens in that part of town. Several patriotic people on hearing the report stated for the premises, avowing their determination to haul down the flag. On reaching the house, it was found to be a lady's balmoral skirt, that had been washed and hung out of a back window to dry. The husband of the owner of the skirt, declared his determination to stand by that flag so long as he lived—the patriotic individuals vamosed.

Lanman has abjured pencil and palette for the time, and is engrossed with the duties of his office in the House, and with the completion of the Biographical Dictionary.

jy28 THOMPSON BROS.

Death in Capt. Peteler' Company.—The National Republican of the 13th, notices the death of Lucius Bell of Company A. Second Regiment, Berdan's Sharp Shooters.

We are requested by the Trustees of the First Baptist Church to state that the pews in their new edifice will be rented on Monday evening the 20th inst., at 6½ o'clock, at their Church.

Good for the Wilson Family.—Mr. Alex. Wilson of our city has four sons, all of whom are now in the army. Three went off with the Second Regiment in Captain Western's Company, and the fourth, the youngest and last, has just enlisted in Russell's Sharpshooters. We trust to see the Wilson boys all get back home alive and well after the rebellion is crushed out.

Promotions in the First.—The following promotions have been made in the First Regiment, and the commissions forwarded by order of the Governor:

Private Newton Searles, of Company H, to be Second Lieutenant.

Insurance Companies of other States are, by our laws, required to publish, annually, a statement of their financial condition. As the Companies represented in this State, by Agents, no doubt wish to give extensive information of their financial standing, with a view of obtaining patronage, we most respectfully suggest to these agents, and to all who wish to get their business before the people, the great advantage they will have by advertising in the St. Paul Press, which has one-third larger circulation than any other journal in this State.

A Narrow Escape.—On the morning of the 15th inst., at 1 o'clock a. m., the house occupied by W. P. Curtis, of Minneapolis, was entirely destroyed by fire; not a thing was saved. The family, consisting of Mr. Curtis, his wife, two children, and Lawyer Stewart, were only aroused from their slumbers by a company returning from a surprise party, just in time to save them from the devouring flames. Mrs. C. came to the window, broke it out, and handed one child to some one who stood outside, then returned to the bed, took the other child, and got out of the window herself, through the smoke and flames.

Allotments in the First.—Chas. Scheffer, Esq., State Treasurer, recently visited the camp of the First Regiment, and proceeded the allotment of such sums as the soldiers wished to set aside for the benefit of their families. By a letter from him we learn the following results were accomplished:

" B	508.00	"	"
" C	88.00	"	"
" F	260 50	"	"
" G	255.00	"	"
" H	232.00	"	"
" I	196.00	"	"
" K	81.50	"	"
Regimental Band	165.00	"	"

Good for the soldiers of the First Regiment! They appear, amid all their toils and privations, to properly remember the dear ones at home.

Lectures.—The announcement of the names of some of the lecturers engaged to lecture under the auspices of the Mercantile Library Association during the remaining winter weeks ought to be sufficient of itself to insure a ready sale of tickets and a large attendance; for we learn that Hon. E C. Palmer, Hon. John B. Brisbin, Rev. Dr. Crary, Rev. Mr. Kirk, Rev. Mr. Mattocks, J. A. Wheelock, Esq., and D. C. Cooley, Esq, are among the number. While such gentlemen are willing to lend their efforts towards making the course a successful one it cannot be a failure; and we need not feel dependent upon the East for lecturers with such gentlemen in our midst. In fact the furor to hear strangers and "popular lecturers," merely because they are strangers and popular, without regard to their intrinsic merits, does not indicate the highest motives in those who cherish it. Let us try to discover whatever ability in the lecturer line exists among us, and endeavor to make that conduce to our entertainment and profit. We have never yet made a fair trial of this; let us do it this winter.

The lecture by Judge Palmer on Tuesday evening will be upon the following subject—"Social Intervention, or a plea for gossips."

The ladies——but if this subject won't bring them out nothing will.

THE LATEST NEWS

BY TELEGRAPH.

EXPRESSLY FOR THE DAILY PRESS.

Washington, Jan. 17.

The Senate, after an Executive session of three hours, confirmed Cameron as Minister to Russia, by a vote of 25 to 14.

The Republican Senators who voted nay on Cameron's confirmation were Foster, Grimes, Hale, Harlan, Trumbull and Wilkinson. Senator Sherman spoke earnestly against the confirmation and voted for it. Senators Trumbull, Hale and Grimes were among the heartiest opponents of Cameron. The Democrats and Border State men were about equally divided. Bayard and Bright were absent. Pearce and Powell voted nay. A motion to remove the injunction of secrecy from the vote was negatived.

JIM LANE.

General Jim Lane leaves Monday for Chicago. To-day he had an interview with the President and Secretary Stanton and General McClellan, who heartily united in giving him authority to conduct the campaign on his own principles. Lane's staff, which will be that of a Major General, comprises 17 officers, of whom several will be taken from the army of the Potomac. J. C. Vaughan will be 1st Aid de Camp with the rank of Colonel. The column will be amply supplied with everything necessary for a march South from Kansas.

NO MORE VOLUNTEES WANTED.

Senator Wilson's bill in relation to volunteers, introduced to day provides that no greater number shall be mustered into service than are authorized by the act of July 22d, 1861, and that all in excess of that number be discharged.

NATIONAL CURRENCY.

The committee on Ways and Means at their meeting this morning discussed for the first time the scheme reported by the sub-committee for a national currency. They came to no conclusion, intending to pursue the matter tomorrow. They also incidentally examined the plan agreed upon between Secretary Chase and the Northern bankers. The committee are nearly unanimous against it.

BURNING A REBEL LIGHT SHIP.

Washington, Jan. 18.

The Navy Department has received dispatches from Commander Gleason, of the U. S. steamer Mt. Vernon, dated off Wilmington, N. C., giving an interesting account of the burning of a light ship. Having heard that the rebels made use of it as a beacon for guiding vessels in and out of harbor, and for the purpose of annoying our vessels by hoisting lights at night, he determined to take advantage of a hazy night with wind off shore to effect her destruction.

He accordingly dispatched a cutter under command of acting master Alex. Allen, with John P. Foote, coast pilot, and a crew of five men, and a gig under command of acting master Sturgis and a crew of six men; the boats proceeded to within a short distance of the light vessel, on the off side of Fort Caswell. The two officers, a boatswain and a quartermaster climbed on board by a rope which was hanging at the side; the light boat was quite deserted; carpenters had been at work, and the vessel was being pierced for eight guns. No attempt was made to molest the expedition until they had kindled the fire, which effectually destroyed the light ship. The Fort did not open on our boats until they were clearly out of harm's way.

Firing down the Potomac was heard last night between 11 and 12 o'clock. It has since been ascertained that the rebel batteries had opened on Gen. Hookers command on the Maryland shore, but without damage.

STANTON AND CAMERON

Secretary of War Stanton will enter upon his duties on Monday. Mr. Cameron will remain in Washington some days and visit his home before departing for Russia.

NEW BATTERIES ON THE POTOMAC.

The rebels are building a new battery this side of Sewall's Point. The battery at the Rip Raps threw a few shells among them yesterday afternoon, which caused a temporary suspension of operations.

GEN. BUTLER.

Special dispatches state that a member of Congress has a letter from an officer of high rank in the army to a young officer, then in California, advising him to go South, and that young officer is now on Beauregard's staff.

Gen. Jackson has disappeared with his whole force. It is believed that he has retired to Winchester.

There are no rebel forces now known to be in Morgan county. The whole river line is quiet.

New York, Jan. 18.

The Commercial says that private dispatches state that the pirate Sumter has been sunk by a United States gunboat off Cadiz.

It is confidentially asserted to day, that Gen. Wool has sent notice to Gen. Huger, at Norfolk, to remove the women and children from the city. The top masts and spars of the Minnesota were taken down today, and she will, it is said, proceed to Elizabeth river to-night, with the frigate Cumberland. The Pensacola is also lying here, and every evidence of active naval operations are apparent. A flag of truce to-day took the following released rebel prisoners: Col. Pegram, Capt. Sutton, Lieut. J. W. Poole, Lieut. J. C. Lasalle, Dr. R. W. Jeffries and Captain L. S. Johnson and several ladies. The body of Lieut. J. W. Kinzie who had died at Fort Monroe, was also taken. The flag steamer then proceeded up James river about nine miles above Newport News, and met a steamer from Richmond with 150 released prisoners, all of the prisoners were convalescents from the hospital; about 20 had crutches, and a dozen had to be carried on board; some on carts. All of them had been wounded. Dr. Higginbotham accompanied them and the men were loud in commendation of his uniform kindness to them.

NEWS FROM THE COAST.

Information has been received that the rebels have abandoned Roanoke Island in Pamlico sound and it is also said to-day that they are preparing to evacuate Yorktown. The latter is not generally credited. The Wilmington N. C. Journal of Wednesday, has heard nothing of the Burnside expedition and thinks it singular, if it left Old Point on Saturday night as reported. The Raleigh Register of Wednesday says some gentlemen in that city report that they heard on Tuesday heavy cannonading. The editor things they were mistaken as the distance from the coast is too great. The Norfolk Day Book of Friday says nothing has been heard of the Burnside expedition since it left Old Point and the editor professes to be at a loss to know what may be its destination.

The same paper announces that thirteen large steamers, loaded with troops, left Old Point on Thursday, and presumes that they are intended for another expedition to some other point. The editor has been hoaxed, as no steamers except two delayed by the storm, containing the Depenieul Zouaves, left on that day. The prisoners from Richmond also say that up to the time they left, on Friday morning, 8 o'clock, nothing had been heard from it there.

The French frigate which arrived yesterday was the Pomone. Notice having been given a salute of twenty one guns was fired this morning and the fortress immediately replied with an equal number.

The Admiral came ashore this forenoon, accompanied by the flag Captain, and aid de Camp, and was received by Gen. Wool with military honors. After the visit it was announced that the Admiral would to-morrow visit Norfolk, to consult with the French Consul.

From Missouri.

Rolla, Jan. 18.

Indications are that all the troops at this point will move westward except one or two regiments to guard the post.

The enemy's pickets extend 14 miles from Springfield, and Price's force is estimated at about 12,000. It was reported that Gen. McIntosh was coming up from Arkansas with large reinforcements, but the report is not wholly reliable.

GOV. GAMBLE SENATOR FROM MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Jan. 18.

A report has gained much currency here that Gov. Gamble has resigned and gone to Washington, and will there await his appointment by acting Governor Hall, to fill Trusten Polk's seat in the United States Senate.

FROM CAIRO,—40 REBELS CAPTURED.

Cairo Ill. Jan. 18.

Captains Murdock and Webster returned last night from the expedition to Bloomfield. It was a complete success capturing 40 of the enemy, among them were one Lieut. Colonel, 2 Surgeons, 1 Adjutant and three Captains.

Captain Phelps with the gun-boat Canestoga made a reconnoisance up Tennessee river to-day, and shelled a point just below Fort Henry, where a masked battery was supposed to be, but did not succeed in drawing its fire. Nothing from below of importance.

Kentucky News.

Chicago, Jan. 18.

A special dispatch to the Times, dated 12 miles from Columbus, at 9 o'clock p. m. of the 16th, says: A heavy reconnoisance was made this afternoon by Gen. Grant and staff, and Orband's cavalry, resulting in getting reliable information of all the routes leading out of Columbus, towards Blandville and other towns. The distance traveled, over 40 miles, was made in six hours. No rebels were discovered, although at one time a portion of the party were within five miles of Columbus.

Two gentlemen, formerly of Lynn, Mass., reached here from New Orleans, last night. They had passes from Georgia to pass the rebel lines at New Madrid and Columbus.

On Saturday the rebels were in the greatest perturbation on account of the movement of troops from Cairo. The general opinion was that the Federal troops were bound for Tennessee river. The people of this section expect a direct calamity to fall on them in the coming struggle, but as far as possible take no sides since the Federals are in their midst.

Chicago, Jan. 18.

A special dispatch to the Times, dated Cairo, 4th, says: Deserters from Columbus who arrived here last night, report 40,000 Confederate troops at Columbus.

Mr. Collins, of Boston, also arrived here last night form New Orleans, which place he left eight days ago, and escaped by representing himself as the bearer of dispatches from the Belgian Consul, but was detained two days at Columbus. He says the feeling at the South is getting worse—more bitter every day.

[Special to Tribune.]—A gentleman from Columbus reports that a United States war steamer fired into a French war steamer which was attempting to run the blockade at New Orleans.

Our steamer fired twelve shots into the French steamer. The affair created great excitement at Memphis and other points.

MEMORIAL OF THE SAINT PAUL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

At a special meeting of the Saint Paul Chamber of Commerce, held at the rooms of the U. S. District Court, on the 17th inst., W. R. Marshall, President, occupied the Chair, and S. K. Putnam was appointed Secretary, pro tem.

James W. Taylor presented the following memorial, which, on motion of J. W. Cathcart, was adopted, and directed to be forwarded to the Minnesota Congressional delegation:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled:

The Chamber of Commerce of St. Paul, Minnesota, would respectfully remonstrate against any acti n at the present session of Congress, suspending the Treaty between the United States and Great Britain, of June 5, 1854,—commonly known as the Reciprocity Treaty—or proposing in any manner to impair the terms or obligations thereof, unless such action is the result of a new negotiation and agreement between the respective Governments.

I. Your memorialists prefer to rest this remonstrance upon the single consideration of national good faith—the scrupulous regard for treaty obligations which the American Government has always observed and will continue to observe.

For this purpose we invite attention to the Fifth Article of the Treaty, which follows:

ARTICLE 5. The present treaty shall take effect as soon as the laws required to carry it into operation shall have been passed by the Imperial Parliament of Great Britain, and by the Provincial Parliaments of those of the British North American colonies which are affected by this treaty on one hand and by the Congress of the United States on the other. Such assent having been given, the treaty shall remain in force for ten years from the date at which it may come into operation, and further, until the expiration of twelve months after either of the high contracting parties shall give notice to the other of its wish to terminate the same; each of the high contracting parties being at liberty to give such notice to the other at the end of said term of ten years, or at any time afterwards.

This treaty was promulgated by President Pierce on the 11th of September, 1854. The period from its date to promulgation, June 5 to September 11, was occupied in the passage of laws to carry it into operation by the United States, England and the Provinces interested. Under a special article (Art. 6) the treaty did not become applicable to the Island of Newfoundland until December 12, 1855.

From the date of President Pierce's proclamation, September 11, 1854, the period of ten years must therefore be computed, within which the operation of the Treaty is removed beyond the power of Congress. The life and obligation of the Treaty extends to September 11, 1864, and neither of the contracting parties is at liberty even to give notice of its termination until after the "end of the said ten years." Twelve months must also elapse before such notice can take effect.

There is one exception, however, to this conclusion. By the first clause of Article IV it was agreed "that the citizens and inhabitants of the United States shall have the right to navigate the River St. Lawrence, and the canals in Canada used as the means of communicating between the great lakes and the Atlantic Ocean with their vessels, boats and crafts as fully and freely as the subjects of her Britannic Majesty. * * It being understood, however, that the British Government retains the right of suspending this privilege on giving due notice thereof to the Government of the United States."

Article IV then proceeds to provide that if at any time the British Government shall suspend this freedom of navigation upon the St. Lawrence River and the Canadian Canals, the Government of the United States may suspend, as to Canada, the Third Article, which admits an enumerated list of articles, the growth and produce of the colonies and the United States, into each country respectively, free of duty.

Great Britain not having suspended the right of Americans in the St. Lawrence and the Canadian Canals, Congress has no power to act under this solitary exception to the permanent obligation of the treaty.

It is therefore submitted that, until September 11, 1864, and further or beyond that date until the lapse of a subsequent notice of twelve months (if the Government desire to terminate the operation of the treaty,) the Congress and citizens of the United States will scrupulously observe and fulfil the obligations imposed by Article V above cited, as well as all the other provisions of the treaty in question.

II. We venture the further statement, that all parties to this Treaty have hitherto observed its stipulations in good faith. The Americans possess and enjoy their enlarged rights in the British fisheries of the Northeastern coast, and the free navigation of the St. Lawrence; neither government has interrupted the exchanges of the free list prescribed by the Third Article; while upon a subject purposely excluded from the provisions of the Treaty, namely, the tariffs of the United States and the adjacent provinces in respect to articles of manufacture and foreign production, there is no legitimate ground of complaint in any quarter. Prior to 1861, the duties by the Canadian Tariff were considerably enlarged after 1854; but recently the American scale of duties has been advanced in a still greater proportion. In both cases, the changes have been enforced by financial necessity, and do not conflict with the Treaty of 1854.

III. At the regular session of the American Congress, to be assembled on the first Monday of December 1864,—almost three years from the present time,—it will be in order to take measures which shall then appear expedient, in regard to our relations of revenue and commerce with the British Provinces on this continent. Within that period the discussions of our future continental policy may be expected to suggest the terms of a more definite and permanent treaty, avoiding former errors and omissions, and which, as your memorialists hope and believe, will be far more comprehensive and satisfactory than the negotiation of 1854. The closing three years of the decade during which the existing treaty is irrevocable, will probably disclose events bearing directly and impressively upon the question of international relations on our Northern frontier. Some of these we venture to anticipate.

1. Central British America, including an inhabitable area of 300,000 square miles, and extending northwest of Minnesota to the Rocky Mountains, will probably be organized as a Crown Colony of England with the seat of Government at Selkirk. There is good reason to believe that a bill for this purpose will become an Act of Parliament at the session now impending.

2. British Columbia on the Pacific coast, having received a similar organization in 1858, the establishment of the Province of Central British America will go far to realize the hope so gracefully expressed three years since from the throne of England; "That her Majesty's dominions in North America may ultimately be peopled in an unbroken chain from the Atlantic to the Pacific, by a loyal and industrious population of subjects of the British Crown."

3. Minnesota, with the co-operation of the Government at Washington, has relied with confidence upon the probability of such a colonization of the fertile valleys which stretch beyond the international boundary, from the Lakes of Superior and Winnipeg, or the Western limit of Canada, to the Pacific colony of British Columbia. Our mails, our trains of regular transportation, and our steam vessels on the Red River of the North, are already provided as important links of international communication from Toronto to St. Paul, and thence to Fort Garry. The projected Railroads of Minnesota, with extensive grants of land from Congress in behalf of their construction, harmonize in a Northwestern trend to the valleys of the Red River of the North, and the still more remote Saskatchewan. Our whole commercial future has been projected in concert with the victories of peace, even more renowned than war, of which we still hope to witness the achievement in Northwest America, irrespective of the imaginary line of an international frontier.

4. Animated by these expectations, which the march of events has hitherto justified, we invoke the "sober second thought" of the country upon the subject of our Continental Policy. With the suppression of the Southern rebellion; with dispassionate discussions by all the parties interested; with the happy accord of minds like Cobden in England and Chase in America upon the best methods of revenue, and, lastly, with the lessons and suggestions of the next three years, a Treaty, eminently deserving the designation of a Reciprocity Treaty, will probably be submitted to the Congress of 1864.

5. In conclusion, the Chamber merely reiterate the uniform utterance of the authorities and citizens of Minnesota, when we anticipate an adjustment of the relations of the United States and all the British Provinces on this Continent, upon a basis of mutual interest and good will. We do not deny the expediency of a revision of existing stipulations—at a proper time, this community will insist upon a revision; but always in the interest of further freedom, not additional restrictions, of commercial intercourse. We expect to urge the territorial extension of a future Reciprocity Treaty, to the provinces North-west of Minnesota, and an enlargement of its provisions to the proportions of a Zoll-Verein or Customs Union.

With these impressions, the Saint Paul Chamber of Commerce repeats its invitation to the Senators and Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled, to review the stipulations of the Treaty of June 5, 1854, and to avoid all action inconsistent with the public faith. If, however, with the scrupulous observance of international obligations, the Congress can find or make a way, in 1862, to the policy which your memorialists have assigned for the diplomacy and legislation of 1864, the result will be warmly welcomed by the people of Minnesota.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

When the expedition to Cape Hatteras, under Com. Stringham and Gen. Butler, proved so successful, the attention of the Government was forcibly drawn to the plan of harrassing the enemy at his numerous vulnerable points on his vast seaboard. The result was the preparation and departure of the Great Expedition to Port Royal, and the successful issue which followed. At the time of the inception of the latter, Gen. Burnside was intrusted with the preliminary preparations of another, to possess some peculiar and significant characteristics, which should be employed in a like manner, the points of attack being a matter left open for further deliberation. The preparations at first went on slowly, the resources of the Government being employed in fitting out the Port Royal fleet, but since that sailed, the arrangements for the Burnside expedition have gone on with much vigor, until now they rival in many respects, the proportions of any fleet that has yet sailed for the enemy's coast.

THE LAND FORCES.

Since the 20th of October last, regiments of troops have been arriving at Annapolis, going into camps of instruction, and awaiting the departure of the expedition. Inasmuch as the troops were among the most recently raised levies of volunteers, this period has been very usefully improved in perfecting themselves in drill and discipline.

THE BRIGADES

Will each average five regiments. They are constituted as follows. We give them in the order that they will form in line of battle:

First Brigade—Gen. Foster—25th Massachusetts, 23d Mass., 27th Mass., 10th Connecticut, and 24th Mass.

Rhode Island Light Artillery, Battery F—Capt. Belger—6 rifled 10-pounder Parrot guns, and 156 men.

The above force comprises about 16,000 effective men, which is the total force taken from Annapolis. The number of troops which will join the Division at Fortress Monroe, or in what manner they will cooperate with it, is not known at the present writing. The number that can be spared from that point for operations in that vicinity is about 12,000 men.

THE FLEET TRANSPORTS.

The transports comprises a variety of steam and sailing vessels, of different classes numbering 9 steamers, 9 armed gunboats, 19 sailing transports, 1 hospital ship, 2 pontoon bridge schooners, 1 seige train schooner, and 4 horse transport schooners.

The character of the steamers, so far as size and tonnage and concerned, are very much like the second or smaller class of North River steamers. Having been built for sea service, however, they are staunch and strong, sit low in the water, and very sea worthy. Most of them have run for years on our iron-bound coast, from Boston to St. Johns and Halifax. Such as have been purchased by the Government and have been painted black, and have had their names changed.

The gunboat transports are of a very peculiar and formidable character. They are screw propellers, of about 500 tons burden, rigged with masts and sails, and carrying from four to seven guns each. The guns are 12-pounder steel rifled Dahlgreens, 30-pounder rifled Parrots, and mountain howitzers. The reader will observe that the armaments of these boats, with the exception of the howitzers, are all rifled guns, capable of reaching the enemy at a great distance, and effectually covering the landing of their troops, as well as rendering much assistance in a bombardment.

Nearly every sailing vessel in the fleet is towed, and the progress is therefore necessarily slow. Most of the steamers have an average speed of 12 knots per hour, but with their tows they will probably not make more than six to eight. The trip to Fortress Monroe from Annapolis will probably occupy 24 hours.

Gen. Burnside and staff occupy the gunboat Picket, a trim little craft of 150 tons burden, filled up with an elegant cabin, masts and sails. She leads the squadron, though it is not improbable that after arriving at the scene of action, the General may transfer his flag to the noble steamer Cossack. Capt. W. F. Hazard, U. S. Navy, is a naval officer on Gen. B's staff, and will direct the movement of transports.

Each vessel in the fleet is designated by a signal number, and the vessels in each brigade are known by a different colored flag, from which it is known to what brigade it belongs. The first brigade will be designated by a red flag with white figures; the 2d brigade, by a blue flag with white figures; the 3d brigade, by a red and blue flag with white figures. When they go into action they will be signalized and designated by these numbers.

CHARACTER OF TRANSPORTS.

The smallest steamer is the flagship Picket, drawing five feet, and the largest is the Northerner, drawing, when laden, about ten feet. No other steamers draw over nine feet. The gun boat Union, however, owing to the peculiar service for which she is intended, draws less water than any other of the fleet, except the floating batteries. She is a stern wheeler, and formerly ran on the Kennebec river, between Bath and Augusta, Maine. She has two 16-inch cylinders, with six-feet stroke, and her Captain, W. H. Chambers, a shrewd, genuine down-east Yankee, when asked what her draft was, said she could "run close enough to shore to enable passengers to pick apples off the trees, and make good her retreat without touching bottom." With 700 men on board she draws three feet of water. The sailing vessels draw from five to nine feet, and will follow the steam transports to any point. Our readers can readily perceive the facility with which this fleet can enter rivers and bays, and approach and destroy the rebel fortifications.

THE FLOATING BATTERIES:

A very original feature of the expedition is the equipment of five floating batteries, which are designed to do effective service in action. Five of the largest and staunchest canal-boats that could be found on the North River, were selected for the business. They were strengthened and each divided into five water tight compartments. They have but one deck, with strong platforms for the guns. Their armament consists of of Wiard rifled guns, of 6 and 12-pounder calibre.

Each battery carries a crew of ten to sixteen experienced gunners. They will be anchored in position and with their rifled guns can deal with the enemy at great distance. The gunners will be protected by bales of wet hay, and the surface that the batteries present to the enemy is so small that it will be exceedingly difficult to touch them at any range, however short.

BRIDGE FLOATS.

Another feature of this expedition, peculiar to itself, is the preparation of means for crossing rivers and creeks with the greatest rapidity. To this end there have been constructed three hundred bridge floats, built in the shap of small scows.

THE ARMAMENT OF TRANSPORTS.

The peculiar character of the armament of the vessels comprising the transport fleet deserves especial mention. The whole number of guns distributed among the transports is forty-five, and all, with the exception of four, are rifled. The whole matter of arming the transports was left with Norman Wiard, Esq., well known in the West as being connected with many enterprises concocted by his mechanical brain. His steel rifled cannon having been satisfactorily tested by the Government, Gen. Burnside was authorized to employ him for this purpose. He took the entire contract, including the furnishing of amunition, and in two weeks filled it to completion—having in that time manufactured forty-five guns, with carriages and implements complete for both sea and land service, together with 5,800 round of shot, shell and canister for the same. The whole cost thereof was only $60,000.

Aside from this armament, there is on board the schooner Col. Satterly, a siege train of four eight-inch mortars, and on another vessel in the fleet there are four more guns of the same calibre. These are to be largely increased at Fortress Monroe. The same vessels carry 200 rounds of shell for each gun.

There are likewise on board each transport vessel in the fleet 40,000 round of ball-cartridge, and 50 navy revolvers, with a large supply of cutlasses to be used to repel boarders in case any vessel is attacked while separated from the fleet.

ABOUT GEN. SIGEL.

ROLLA, MO., Jan. 10.

Gen. Sigel still remains here, and will not leave until he has orders to that effect. His resignation caused much excitement, and his loss, if we must lose him, will be most deeply regretted. Since the outbreak of the rebellion he has shown more military talent than any of those officers who so bitterly oppose him. When he received orders from Gen. Lyon to march into the Southwest, he was on the move in the shortest possible time. His movement from Springfield toward Neosho was pronounced one of the most rapid marches during the war, and the admirable skill displayed in his memorable fight at Carthage, won for him a brilliant and lasting reputation among our loyal citizens. At the time Gen. Fremont started on his Southwest campaign, it was a matter of common remark that Gen. Sigel outstripped all others in celerity of evolution. On a certain day orders were issued to the five divisions of the army to march from the line of the railroad as soon as practicable. While the other Generals remained stationary and passed the time in swearing about a lack of transportation, Gen. Sigel moved ahead, and almost before we were aware of it had crossed the Osage at Warsaw, fifty miles away, and taken position ten miles beyond that stream. I make the above statement in proof of my assertion that the officer in question has evinced military ability in his career as a commander.

His resignation has been tendered, and though there is some fear that it will be accepted, the hope is entertained that the matter will be satisfactorily arranged and he be able to retain his position. The opposition to Gen. Sigel, which has resulted in forcing him to resign, out of respect to his own honor, arises from the following causes: The regular army officers with one or two exceptions, are very bitter in their denuciations of Sigel, some of them using language that would disgrace a Five Points thief, are graduates of West Point, while Sigel is not. This alone is enough to damn him. He is a foreigner and is the representative of the German element, or "d—d Dutch," as it is elegantly expressed. Had it not been for the Germans who sprang to arms while Americans were talking about no coercion, the Fedeeal flag would not to day wave over St. Louis, or any portion of Missouri south of the Big Muddy. Because Gen. Sigel is of Teutonic blood, that alone is enough to damn him He has shown military skill and ability which which have made his name favorably mentioned everywhere throughout the North. The envy of his fellow officers is thus excited, and many of them are ready to adopt any measures, no matter how unjust for his overthrow. I repeat that envy, accident by birth, the heinous offense of not being a West Pointer, and the equally serious fault of doing something, have caused the vials of red tape wrath to be poured upon Gen. Sigel's head. Fiat Justitia.

THE BURNSIDE EXPEDITION—WHERE THE BLOW WILL FALL.

This magnificent land and naval force is to strike a blow at North Carolina, and ere this, has doubtless well begun its work.

If the reader will accompany our explanation by reference to a good map, it will be seen that Hatteras Inlet opens into the broad expanse of the two great sounds, Albemarle and Pamlico, on the seaward side locked by a line of low sand-bars and spits, while landward the deep indentations of bays and esturies extend far into the interior of the State, constituting its richest agricultural region, its greatest slaveholding section, and, consequent to the latter, its rebel strongholds. Upon these beautiful bays are its principal seaports, and from points easy of occupation through this extent of hundreds of miles of coast, the map will show how short a land movement will place in our hands railroad points of vital importance to the rebellion.

This, then, is Gen. Burnside's mission. He will pass through Hatteras Inlet, the gateway now to us by Butler's victory of the 29th of August last, and now for the first time promising the long-expected fruit of that capture. His immense fleet will sweep these waters, for the navigation of which a glance at the lists in another column will show them well chosen, from size and lightness of draft. He may land a force northward which will be within easy reach of Norfolk to co-operate with a force from Fortress Monroe; or may punish the rebels along the Roanoke, lay Plymouth in ashes, sink and destroy the mosquito fleets of the rebels, and the craft now building on the stocks, for these waters are the source and retreat of the rebel navy. Southward the Neuse gives a broad approach to Newbern, as well as other points of access to the railroads into the interior.

GARFIELD'S VICTORY.

HEADQUARTERS 18th BRIGADE,
PRESTONSBURGH, Jan. 11, 1862.

To Capt. J. B. Fry, A. A. G.:

I left Paintsville on Thursday noon with 1,100 men and drove in the enemy's pickets, two miles below Prestonsburgh. The men slept on their arms. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning we moved towards the main body of the enemy, at the forks of Middle Creek, under command of Marshall. Skirmishing with his outposts began at 8 o'clock, and at 1 P. M. we engaged his force of 2,500 men and three cannon posted on the hill. We fought them until dark, having been reinforced by 700 men from Paintsville, and drove the enemy from all their positions.

He carried off the majority of his dead and all his wounded. This morning we found 27 of his dead on the field. His killed cannot be less than 60. We have taken 25 prisoners, 10 horses, and a quantity of stores.

The enemy burned most of his stores and fled precipitately. To day I have crossed the river and am now occupying Prestonsburgh. Our loss is two killed and twenty-five wounded.

MILLS,

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

"The Best, Cheapest, and Most Successful Family Paper in the Union."

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

Splendidly Illustrated,

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects.—New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic Intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

HARPER'S

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as can not be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies, in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature, London.

No Magazine in Europe or America is so well known; none has half as many readers; and, we may safely say, none has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversified, elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magazine of the day. The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant.

TERMS.

The Magazine may be obtained of Booksellers, Periodical Agents, or from the Publishers, at Three Dollars a year, or Twenty-Five Cents a number. The Semi-Annual Volumes, as completed, neatly bound in Cloth, are sold at Two Dollars each; and the Muslin Covers are furnished to those who wish their back numbers uniformly bound, at Twenty Five Cents each. Twenty Two Volumes are now ready, bound in Cloth and also in Half Calf.

The Publishers will supply Specimen Numbers gratuitously, to Agents and Postmasters, and will make liberal arrangements with them for circulating the Magazine. They will also supply Clubs of Two Persons at Five Dollars a year, or Five Persons at Ten Dollars. Clergymen and Teachers supplied at Two Dollars a year. Numbers from the commencement can now be supplied. Also, the bound Volumes.

S Smoot and David Wellman, if they shall be found in your county, to be and appear before the undersigned, one of the Justices of the Peace in and for said county, on the 16th day of January, 1862, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, at my office in the Third Ward, St. Paul, in said county, to answer to Oscar Cahill in a civil action: and have you then and there this writ.

NOTICE.—WHEREAS MY WIFE Henrietta S. Horn has, without cause, left my bed and board, I hereby forbid all persons whatsoever from trusting her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting from and after this date.

dec28d3w. J. B. HORN.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18.

She has on board the crew of the rebel schooner Venus, captured near Galveston, also a rebel Captain, Geo. J. Wake, of the Louisiana volunteers, who was captured in Barrautria Bay, while on a pleasure excursion.

He admits the presence of the Union sentiment in New Orleans through it is not allowed to manifest itself.

Mexican News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.

The Tribune has important news from Mexico. It appears that so far from being upset by the new revolution, as reported, Juarez organized before the adjournment of Congress a new and stronger cabinet: Doblads, Secretary of State, issued a proclamation soon after his appointment, closing the port of Vera Cruz, increasing the regular army to 52,000 and calling on the States for as many volunteers as they would furnish. It is believed 150,000 troops would be in the field soon. Before Congress adjourned Juarez was invested with full dictatorial powers. The government has laid two direct taxes which the people will cheerfully submit to.

Naval Skirmishers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.

A Port Royal letter says the steamer Isabel was much damaged by shells of the Mohican, while running the blockade. One shell knocked off her entire stern, and she barely got afloat. The fog was dense, but she was discovered by the gunboat Roebuck. The Mohican shipped cable, and chased her under batteries of Morris's Island. The Isabel returned her fire, but without avail.

Another letter reports that the English schooner Gipsy, with 200 bales of cotton, was captured by the the New London, in the Gulf, and taken to Ship Island. The Desota ran into her at the mouth of Mississippi, on account of her acting suspiciously.

ILL HUMOR--DON'T INDULGE IT.

From Lessons of Life.

Children often rise in anything but an amiable frame of mind. Petulant, impatient, quarrelsome, they cannot be spoken to or touched without producing an explosion of ill-nature. Sleep seems to have been a bath of vinegar to them, and one would think the fluid had invaded their mouth and nose, and eyes and ears, and had been absorbed by every pore of their sensitive skins. In a condition like this, I have seen them bent over the parental knee and their persons subjected to blows from the parental palm; and they have emerged from the infliction with the vinegar all expelled, and their faces shining like the morning—the transition complete and satisfactory to all the parties. Three-quarters of the moods that men and women find themselves in are just as much under the control of the will as this. The man who rises in the morning with his feelings all bristling like the quills of a hedgehog, simply needs to be knocked down. Like a solution of certain salts, he requires a rap to make him crystalize. A great many mean things are done in the family for which moods are put forward as the excuse, when the moods are put forward as the excuse, when the moods themselves are the most inexcusable things of all. A man or a woman in tolerable health has no moral right to indulge in an unpleasant mood, or to depend upon moods for the performance of the duties of life. If a bad mood come to such persons as these, it is to be shaken off by a direct effort of the will, under all circumstances.

MARRIED,

On the 26th of November, by his Holiness, the Bishop of Ruperts Land, Mr. Wm. GOMEZ FONSECA and MARGARET, youngest daughter but one, of Mr. Thomas Logan.

DIED,

VOLUME II. ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1862. NUMBER 17.

The Saint Paul Press.

ST. PAUL, TUESDAY, JAN. 21.

Owing to indisposition of some of our workmen, we are unable to get ready for this morning's issue several advertisements, among them that of Mr. Kilpatrick. They will all appear to-morrow morning.

A VICTORY IN KENTUCKY.

We may certainly proclaim what we have long watched and waited for, a Victory.

The rebel army that advanced by the Cumberland Gap under the really able and distinguished leader Zollicoffer, has been defeated and driven across the Cumberland River, leaving 275 killed and wounded behind—Gen. Zollicoffer and Bailey Peyton being among the dead. Gen. Thomas was in command of the Federal forces. Our Minnesota Second Regiment, Col. Van Cleve—is in Gen. Thomas' Division and may have participated in the dangers and glories of the battle. It is probable, however, that only a part of Gen. Thomas' Division was engaged, and inasmuch as the Minnesota Second was, on the 9th, at Columbia on the extreme right of Gen. Thomas' army, it is probable they were not engaged. The meagre particulars received will be found under the telegraphic head.

THE EVACUATION OF ROMNEY.

The telegraph has briefly announced the evacuation of Romney by our troops, who are now on the Maryland side of the Potomac, between Cumberland and Hancock. Gen. Lander, in command, gave the order at dress parade, on Friday evening week, and by the daylight the next morning the whole column, 11,000 men, had reached the Potomac, fifteen miles distant. The immediate cause of the change was the expected danger of an attack from General Jackson's army of rebels, Romney is said to be a poor place to defend.

THE BURNSIDE'S EXPEDITION.

This expedition has entered the Pamlico Sound by way of Hatteras Inlet. We shall soon have news of its operations on the "Old Carlina shore."

THE COLUMN FROM CAIRO.

There has been no battle at or near Columbus. The late advance appears to have been only a reconnoissance in force. It has been successful in getting full information of the country, and the enemy's position. A Bull Run retreat is thereby guarded against.

PLAIN ENGLISH.

"It is our particular pride that we write plain and direct English, comprehensible by any man of common understanding."—Editor of Pioneer and Democrat.

For example, to quote from that most pellucid of scribblers:

"The skull of the gorilla and the hide of the rhinoceros stand as superlative representatives of mental perception and physical insensibility."

Now if it be true that the hide of the rhinoceros is endowed with such superlative intellectual acumen as is here stated on high scientific authority, we would by all means advise our friend the Earle to order a pair of boots of that pachydermatous material forthwith for the improvement of his understanding, which has latterly shown itself somewhat deficient in perceptive qualities.

If by this is meant that the gorilla's skull approaches human shape, it is a new and curious zoological development, which would probably surprise M. Agassiz. If it means what it says, that great naturalist will be still more surprised to learn what fearful depth of sconce the animal assumes for itself. Just look at it. The Earle, for example, "approaches human shape"—is perhaps the mould and perfection of human form—and the Earle, though said to be growing thin lately, is full twelve inches through at the center, and this, he assures us, is not a circumstance to the thickness of the "gorillian" noddle. Humphrey Marshall also "approaches human shape," at least when the fugacious Humphrey does not find it convenient to recede from the Yankee variety of that biped—but even Humphrey's vast diameter of stomach, according to the Earle, is but tissue paper in comparison with the osseous ramparts which immure the "superlative mental perception" of the gorilla.

What a figure head the beast would make for Hollin's sea ram! What a catapulta for seige operations! With what resistless butting a regiment of Union gorillas of the Goodrich type would batter down the oppugnant sconces of that brigade of rebel niggers they talk about down South!

By all means let us open a recruiting office in Congo, and appoint the Earle to muster in a legion of his "superlative representatives of mental perception."

THE GOODHUE COUNTY REPUBLICAN.

We have neglected to notice the change in this paper, consequent on its late editor L. F. Hubbard Esq. volunteering in the fifth regiment F. A. Merideth Esq. succeeds to the editorial coduct of the Republican.

Our best wishes go with Capt. Hubbard.

EAST TENNESSEE.

The Memphis Avalanche publishes a very interesting letter from East Tennessee, from which we make the following extracts:

The rebellion here is only suppressed, not completely crushed. The smouldering fires kindled by Brownlow and Johnson may burst forth at any time. The moment the troops are withdrawn the flames of the revolution will be rekindled in every valley and on every mountain side—in the gorges of the Cumberland mountains, in the secluded valleys, beside the bright and sparkling streams that come leaping down lofty crags and pecipices, dwells the huntsman of East Tennessee.

THE REMOVAL OF SECRETARY CAMERON.

THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS OF THE CASE.

About noon to day rumors commenced to be whispered that Secretary Cameron had resigned his seat in the Cabinet, and the Hon. E. M. Stanton had been tendered the position, and his appointment sent to Senate for confirmation.

On pursuing these rumors to headquarters, we found the case to be, that last summer, a clamor was raised against Secretary Cameron for some three weeks, by the Committee of Boston bankers, and others, to procure his removal on the grounds of dishonesty and incapacity.

The President then referred these charges to Secretary Cameron, who denied them, and said if time was granted he could prove them false.

The President listened to his refutation and turned a deaf ear to his enemies. All went well. Gen. Cameron said soon after to the President, when the return of Cassius M. Clay was discussed, that he would prefer to go to Russia to remaining here. When, on the opening of Congress, it was found necessary to have a fixed policy of war, the President settled on one antagonistical to the views of Mr. Cameron, who set forth his own in his report.

The President insisted that they should be changed, and it was finally done, but not until the differences was spread before the country. From that day Mr. Cameron has sympathized with those men holding different views to those of the President and the balance of the Cabinet, and was forming a clique around them that bid fair to make trouble.

Thinking that unity of action was positively necessary in the Cabinet, for the sake of securing the confidence of the people and pacifying the Border State men, Mr Cameron, this morning, was notified by the President that he had been appointed Minister to Russia, and Mr. Stanton would take his place to morrow.

The nominations were both laid over by the Senate, in executive session, until to-morrow. Secretary Cameron will be confirmed, but a better fight will be made upon Mr. Stanton by John P. Hale, D. Wilmot, and other ultra Republicans. Colonel T. A. Scott has been tendered the position of Assistant by the President, and urged to remain, but it is not decided as to whether he will accept it or not under the new regime.

No onslaught has been made on Mr. Cameron by the Bank President collectively, but the Botton Committee alone urged changes that will secure retrenchment. The Philadelphia Committee took part against Mr. Cameron. There is no foundation for the rumors respecting Mr. Chase. He did not authorize the threat made by Thaddeus Stevens, that if the vote was against the bank note amendment, he would resign.

He is gradually bringing the finances out of chaos on to the dry ground. Mr. Holt would have succeeded Secretary Cameron, but Gen. McClellan urged Mr. Stanton, with whom he is intimate, and who, being younger and more earnest, can endure the severe mental and physical labor of the post.

There is no truth in the rumors of a personal difficulty between the President and Mr. Cameron.

Mr. Lincoln, who has felt uncomfortably on the subject, has written a kind and warm-hearted letter to Secretary Cameron, thanking him for his services and giving assurances of his attachment. Mr. Chase feels deeply on the subject; he is extremely attached to Mr. Cameron, and last evening the President requested him to break the subject gently to the Secretary of War.

After breakfast, Mr. Cameron, unconscious of the impending change, went to his office, and was met by a messenger from Mr. Chase, requesting his presence at the Treasury. He went over and was closited with Mr. Chase over an hour. When he came out his changed manner struck the bystanders.

Mr. Cameron's closest friends were thunderstruck at the announcement, and refused to believe it, and it was only the official announcement to the Senate that could satisfy them. The change will put an end to the intrigue and cabals that were forming to weaken Gen. McClellan and undermine the Administration.

Gen. McClellan has been on terms of warm personal intimacy with Mr. Cameron, and regrets the change; but if it was to be made, no one could have selected one more satisfactory to him than Mr. Stanton.

Nothing can equal the fever into which the army of contractors, jobbers and hangers-on have been thrown. The greatest anxiety prevails about unfinished contracts and half completed operations.

Mr. Stanton is a comparative stranger to the old war lobby, and those who know him are button-holed and kindly treated by general gun-makers, bland beef contractors and pursy paymasters.

It is said that in the Cabinet meeting on Saturday night, where the change was decided on, Mr. Wade of Ohio was urged for the War Portfolio, but Mr. Lincoln, who knew Stanton before his election, was immovable.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.

The relics of Gen. Washington found at Arlington House, (the late residence of Gen. Lee,) and which have been heir-looms in the family, will be deposited at the Smithsonian for safe keeping. They compose the china set presented to Gen. Washington by the Cincinnati Society and French officers; Washington's tea table, tent, and other furniture; besides valuable papers.

Accompanying Secretary Welles' reply to the Senate, is a letter from leading New York merchants saying that they believe Morgan's purchases to have been made with integrity, economy and ability, and with great advantage to the Government. His commission was according to mercantile custom, and resulted in his obtaining good vessels at lower prices than the Government usually pay.

It is said that Cassius M. Clay will not leave St. Petersburg until Cameron arrives, who will leave within a month of his confirmation.

Gen. Lane and staff will leave for Kansas on Monday. The course resolved upon in his case by the President, from his personal knowledge both of Gen. Lane and of the wishes of the people of the West, is heartily concurred in by Gen. McClellan and the new Secretary of War. "There will be no fire in the rear," says the Republican.

Senator Chandler has introduced a bill which provides that any army officer who shall knowingly sign a receipt for goods or munitions of war unless said articles are perfect or good, or sign false invoices, shall be tried by court martial, and suffer death, if found guilty; and that any civilian who shall, while acting for the Department, be guilty of the same, shall be tried by a civil court, and if guilty, suffer death.

Missourians here express the belief that two-thirds of the slaves in that State have gone South since the rebellion.

Cameron's nomination to Russia was opposed by Trumbull, chiefly, and also by Grimes and Kennedy. He was defended by Sumner, Fessenden and the Pennsylvania Senators. It is said that he gained by the debate, all the charges against him being triumphantly answered. He will be confirmed to day.

Important news has been received from Mexico. A new cabinet had been formed with Gen. De Golado at its head. Congress, before adjourning, vested full powers in Juarez. The regular army has been increased to fifty two thousand men, and volunteers enough to raise the army to one hundred and fifty thousand. Vera Cruz has been no longer a port of entry. Tampico, situated on a shallow river, and easy of defence, is to be held against the French.

The Juarez Government, with popular satisfaction, has laid two direct taxes on the people, and has issued a proclamation ordering the civil authorities to respect foreign residents. Comonfort has come forward to support the Government. Full amnesty is offered to the Church Party. The Spaniards find no allies. The few Reactionists left were subdued or were voluntarily coming in.

A bill which was introduced by Mr. Arnold in the House, authorizing the establishment of branch post offices in cities, passed the House to day.

Senator Foot's joint resolution directs the Superintendent of Public Buildings to remove the Army Bakeries from the Capitol, and appropriates $8,000 for the purpose, and to repair damages.

Senator Browning introduced a bill reorganizing the artillery. It divides it into two corps of heavy and light artillery, both under one Major General, each comprising two Brigadiers, ten Colonels, ten Lieutenant Colonels, and thirty Majors. The heavy artillery is to have one hundred and the light, sixty batteries.

Senator Collamer reported back the House bill abolishing franking, with the addition of a proviso continning the privilege to the Post Office and other executive departments, for the transmission of official matter, and to all to whom it has been granted personally or by name.

It was stated in executive session, and not denied, that the celebrated letter of Adjutant General Thomas concerning affairs in Missouri and Kentucky was written at Cameron's instance, and published by his direction; also, that it contained untrue statements of private interviews in Kentucky, held in his presence, and that after the publication Thomas was Cameron's confidential officer and virtually Secretary of War.

THE BATTLE OF BLUE'S GAP.

ROUTING OF THE REBELS BY GEN. KELLEY'S TROOPS.

The Wheeling Press has the following letter from Romney, giving the details of the recent successful expedition by a portion of Gen. Kelley's troops against the rebels at Blue's Gap:

ROMNEY, Va., Jan. 8.

Night before last we were informed that we would move on Blue's Gap during the night. Our information of the country and of the force of the enemy was meagre and uncertain. At about midnight the regiments began to muster and form, and by half-past 12 the column was in motion. The night was excessively cold, and we suffered not a little from that cause.

About half past seven o'clock we arrived at a hight from which we could see the Gap and the bridge. Col. Dunning, who commanded the expedition, seeing an attempt being made to burn the bridge, ordered the 5th Ohio Regiment to advance the double quick. This was done with a shout, and in a few minutes they were on a bank within 200 yards of the bridge, pouring in bullets at such a rate that the attempt to burn and tear up the floor was abandoned. Col. Dunning then ordered his men to charge on the bridge and over it, and compelled a negro woman at Blue's house to show him the road up to the left.

Col. Dunning led the 5th Ohio rapidly into the mountain, to which the rebels had fled. There a sharp engagement ensued; whole volleys of musketry were heard, and it was soon discovered that the rebels were firing from behind a breastwork on the top of the mountain. As soon as Col. Dunning discovered this, he ordered his men to fix bayonets and charge. While this was being done, the rebels left in haste for their camp at the foot of the mountain and back of the Gap.

While the above action was going on, Col. Mason charged up the mountain to the right, with the 4th Ohio, and drove the rebels from the rocks on that side. Some sharp firing occurred in that direction. In the mean time, but when the firing had nearly ceased on the mountains, the 8th Ohio led the way down the Gap, followed by the 1st Virginia, 7th Ohio and 4th Indiana. Col. Dunning having passed on and taken the two pieces of artillery, with their caisons and horses, also a wagon and horse, with the 5th Ohio Regiment, returned and ordered the cavalry to charge. His orders were obeyed with promptness, but the rebels had taken to the mountains. The artillery could not be used, and not a shot was fired from cannon during the action.

The rebels were surprised, and it was a complete rout. We found eight dead bodies on the field, or rather among the rocks; there may have been more, but they were not reported. And singular as it may appear, not a man of ours received even a scratch from a bullet. I can account for this only upon the ground that our guns were some of the best in the world, while theirs were probably inferior arms.

—Cambridge, Mass., has a population of about 25,000 by the last census. The Mayor in his message delivered a week or two ago, says: "Cambridge has in the field a number of men beyond the proportion her population requires. Without a single military organization within her limits, less than a year ago, she has now and has had, in active service nearly volunteers enough to form an entire regiment, with officers fully capable to command it."

LEGISLATIVE DIRECTORY.—We find by analysing the Legislative Directory, which we published in our last, that of the 21 members of the Senate, 2 are farmers; 9 lawyers; 4 merchants: 2 physicians; 1 banker; 1 hotel keeper; 1 real estate broker, and one editor.

Seven of the Senators were born in New York; 4 in Ohio; 3 in New Hampshire; 1 in New Jersey; 1 in Pennsylvania; 1 in Vermont; 1 in Virginia; 1 in Kentucky; 1 in Canada, and 1 in Scotland.

The eldest Senators are Messrs. Dane of Le Sueur, and McClure of Goodhue, both of whom register themselves at fifty-seven. The youngest is Mr. Duffy, of Scott, who is twenty-eight.

All the Senators are married except five. All the officers of the Senate are married except the messenger boys, who probably regard themselves as "o'er young" for that purpose yet awhile.

Of the 42 House members, just one-half—21—are farmers; 6 lawyers; 5 merchants; 3 physicians; 1 painter; 1 miller; 1 lumberman; 1 printer; 1 tanner; 1 professor of music, and 1 civil engineer.

Eleven of the members are natives of New York; 6 of Pennsylvania; 3 of New Hamshire; 3 of Massachusetts; 3 of Vermont; 2 of Maine; 1 of Rhode Island; 1 of Connecticut; 2 of Ohio; 1 of Indiana; 1 of Virginia; 1 of Minnesota; 1 of Canada; 3 of Germany; 2 of Norway, and 1 of Ireland.

The oldest member is Mr. Thomas, of Washington county, who is 56. The youngest is Mr. Aiken, of Houston county who is 27.

All the members of the House are married except four, and all the officers with the exception of the Assistant Clerk, J. Jay Knox, Esq., and the Messengers.

It will be seen that New York furnishes nearly one third of the Legislature, while the States farther East have not the proportion found in Minnesota Legislatures heretofore.

A much larger proportion of married men are members of this Legislature than of any previous one, which speaks well for the prosperity of the State.

LECTURE.—Mrs. Swissheim will lecture in the Freewill Baptist Church, Minneapolis, on this, Tuesday evening, at half past seven o'clock. Subject. "Woman's Wages as Wife and Mother."

Mrs. Swissheim will lecture upon the same subject in St. Paul on Friday evening of this week.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY.—The rooms of the Association are open from 2 o'clock to 10 o'clock P. M., for the reception of patrons. The Librarian, Mr. Mathews, will always be on hand, have the rooms well warmed and by his affable manner make every visitor feel at home. We particularly advise our young men to join this Association. Evenings cannot be more profitably spent in any other way than storing the mind with useful knowledge. the opportunity for which an be enjoyed at the rooms of the Mercantile Library Association.

MINNESOTA CAVALRY.—We learn by letter that the officers of the "Curtis Horse," the splendid Regiment of Cavalry to which our three companies is attached as a Minnesota Battalion, have designated Captain Brackett as the Major of that Battalion This makes him rank the third Major of the Regiment. As the Regiment is made up of companies from different States, Major Brackett, we presume, will receive his commission direct from the President. All the companies now have their horses.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—The first lecture of the course under the direction of the Mercantile Literay Association, will be delivered this evening at Ingersoll's Hall, by Hon. E. C. Palmer. Subject: "Social Intervention, or a plea for Gossips."

We know the lecture will be interesting and entertaining, and we bespeak for the Judge a full audience.

PERSONAL.—Lieut. M. A. Hoyt of the First Regiment is in the city on a brief furlough from camp duty. He arrived on Sunday evening.

THE MAIL, out of La Crosse at eight o'clock on Sunday morning, and having laid over at Wabashaw during the night, arrived last evening at five. Good time!

WM. MANLIN SMITH'S WRITING FLUID.—Mr. D. D. Merrill is the agent for the sale of this article in Minnesota. We can safely recommend it to every one who can appreciate a good quality of ink. We have used it in our counting room for several months and pronounce it far superior to any we have ever used.

Herald's dispatch states the recent letters received from British statesmen, confirm the statement made some time ago in this correspondence, that long before the occurrence of the Trent affair, the French Ministry had endeavored to persuade that of Great Britain to unite with France in breaking the blockade of the Southern ports of the United States. It was stated positively that M. Thouvenal distinctly made such a proposition to Lord John Russel which was politically declined, not because England was not anxious for the opening of the S uthern ports, but because the British Government was unwilling to take an active part in provoking hostilities with this government, although not averse to France taking the task in hand and throwing open the ports for their common benefit.

FROM OUR SOLDIERS IN MISSOURI.

CAMP BENTON,
ST. LOUIS, MO., Jan. 9, 1862.

Correspondence of the St. Paul Press.

Though a stranger to you, I take the liberty to write you a few lines which you are at liberty to publish or consign to the "pigeon hole" as best suits your fancy. I have the honor to belong to the Second Company Minnesota Light Cavalry, which, you are aware, left your State about the middle of last month.

Burbank & Co. had the contract to take us to Chicago. It will be unnecessary for me to state here that everything which that firm undertakes to perform is done in proper time and in a perfectly satisfactory manner. Such was the style in this case. We were conveyed in four-horse coaches from Fort Snelling to La Crosse, a distance of one hundred and seventy miles, in thirty-six hours—having three warm meals during the time. I apprehend that this is the first instance on record where soldiers have "put up" at hotels while traveling from place to place. Why this distinction was made in our favor is more than I know, but I apprehend that Captains West and Brackett can give you some definite information on the subject.

The last squad of our Company reached La Crosse on Saturday, the 20th ult. Here we were obliged to halt until Christmas evening for Captain Brackett's Company—stopping the meantime at the Harrington House. While I dislike very much to be classed with fault-finders, and as much as I dislike the whole race—still I must find fault with Old Harrington. According to contract we were to have one meal at 9 A. M. and one at 4 P. M. Instead of this we would sometimes get our supper at 3 and our breakfast next morning at 11—twenty hours between meals. Had our boys not been uncommonly civil, I greatly fear that the pantry of the Harrington House would some mornings, have been invaded by persons who had no legal right there. The old secessionist attempted at first to enrich himself at the expense of the soldiers, and gave us the kind of food that best suited his own pocket, but Capt. West, ever keenly alive to the real wants of his Company, would by no means allow this. He gave the old fellow such a "raking down" as no man ever got before or since. This was a good lesson to Mr. Harrington—one which he remembered during the remainder of our stay, and one which I hope he will ever after remember. The remainder of the people of La Crosse used us well—the minsiters prayed for us—the editors puffed us,—and all treated us with kindness and respect.

The last squad of Capt. Brackett's company arrived at La Crosse on Christmas evening, and at 2 o'clock Thursday morning we got aboard the cars and started for "Dixie." We took the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad to Minnesota Junction, and the Northwestern Railroad from the latter point to Chicago. Over the first of these roads we were accompanied by Mr. Chamberlain, one of Burbank's favorite agents, and I can, with truth, add that he is a favorite with every member of our company. The whole-souled fellow generously loosened his purse strings, and furnished us with hot coffee to our hearts' content, and charged us—nary a red. Mark Hendricks, another of Burbank's favorite agents, accompanied us over the latter road. He furnished us with hot coffee for dinner, supper and breakfast, at his own expense. I am quite certain that there must be some snug little corner prepared for him in the "mansions of the blessed." If, at any future day it should fall to the lot of any more Minnesota soldiers to take up their line of march for the land of cotton, they will consult their own interests by placing themselves under the charge of these two accomplished gentlemen.

We arrived at Chicago at 7 o'clock P. M. on Thursday. Here we were obliged to halt until Friday, 9 o'clock A. M. At bedtime the two companies—180 men—rolled themselves up in their blankets, and laid down on the floor of the Union Depot. We were so crowded that it would have been imposisble to squeeze another man into the room. Should a company of soldiers ever stop in St. Paul over night, I hope and trust, yea, believe, that they would be supplied with good beds by the hospitable inhabitants thereof. At 9 o,clock A. M. we took the Illinois Central Railroad for St. Louis. Meal-time came, and passed, and no hot coffee made its appearance. The agents of this road preferred to keep their money in their pockets, and the members of our company have concluded to let them ride on their own road hereafter, and not trouble them again.

We reached St. Louis sometime during the next night, and staid in and around the cars until Saturday noon, (28th ult.) when we took "Foot & Walker's Line" for Camp Benton—our present stopping place—a distance of five miles from the depot. We were met by the Minnesota Battery, and the First Minnesota Cavalry Company, with three hearty cheers.

Each company has a dining room, a sleeping room, and a cook house, by itself. victuals are not perfect, we have no one to We do our own cooking now, and if our blame but ourselves. We are unable to eat all the food furnished us by the Government, and, therefore, our friends need feel no apprehensions that we are going to starve at present. As to health, our sick list stands about in this wise: One man sick at La Crosse; one man here has a slight attack of the measles, but is getting better; two or three others grunting with bad colds, but improving. Thus you see that we are blessed with good health, good victuals, and plenty of them.

The First Minnesota cavalry company is already furnished with horses and arms, and the Second and Third will probably get theirs in the course of a week. We have received our pay up to the first day of January. We are attached to a regiment known as "Curtis' Horse," made up of four companies from Nebraska, four from Iowa, three from Minnesota, and one from Missouri. N. W. Lowe, of the regular army, a soldier in every respect, is our Colonel.—We rank as company I.

There are now at this camp about 15,000 soldiers, many of whom have seen some hard service. Their uniforms begin to look rusty, and their ranks have been very materially thinned. These boys say that our uniforms look bright now, but that after taking a tramp once or twice around this State, camping out and fighting rebels, we will look as they do. All of us, both officers and men, are anxious to be in a situation to try it, and should anything of importance occur during any such expedition of ours, I shall be happy to inform your readers of it, provided you will condescend to grant it a corner in your paper.

I am opposed to flattery, on any and all occasions, but I cannot with justice to myself let this opportunity pass without bestowing a slight amount of praise on our commissioned officers, for they richly deserve it. At a time of such a general and enormous rebellion as our country is now cursed with—when such a large and powerful army must be raised at almost a moments notice, of course we must, in some instances, have men for commanders of companies who have little or no military experience, and fortunate indeed is that company which secures as its commander such a man as Captain D. M. West. He is, emphatically, the right man in the right place. Every opportunity that presents itself where he can benefit his men or do the least thing for their comfort, is eagerly grasped at, regardless of any trouble or expense on his part. First Lieut. William Smith, your late townsman, was the best drilled man at Fort Snelling, and he has no equal here, where there are 15,000 troops stationed. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon him. Second Lieut. N. Bass, of Blue Earth county, gives his whole time and attention to his business. He has the whole cavalry tactics in his head, and all it needs is experience to draw it out.—But I am aware that editors do not like to be troubled with long communications, and therefore I will govern myself accordingly, and bring this letter to a close.

VOLUNTEER.

HOW CONTRACTS WERE MADE.

EXPOSURE OF FRAUDS ON THE TREASURY—SPEECH OF MR. DAWES, OF MASS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, 1862.

The House resumed the consideration of the amendments reported to the House from the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union to the civil appropriation bill.

Mr. Dawes, of the Government Contract Committee, said, in explanation of his former remarks, that the charges on the Treasury are now such as to have nearly reached its bottom. He begged leave to call attention to some of the facts touching the manner of the immense pubilic expenditures. One of the very first contracts, in April last, was for furnishing twenty-two hundred cattle.

Those who received this contract put into their pockets thirty-two thousand dollars without moving from their seats; they having sold it to parties who furnished the cattle, and who also made twenty-six thousand dollars by the speculation. Next came the article of shoes. A million dollars' worth of shoes have already been worn out, and a million dollars' worth more are to be manufactured.

On each pair of shoes there has been a waste of seventy-five cents. There were eighty-three regiments of cavalry, each a thousand strong, in the field. It required two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to put each regiment in motion. Twenty millions of dollars were thus required to be expended on the cavalry, before they left their encampments. Many of the horses purchased by the Government were brought hither and literally starved to death, while some parts of this District now present the appearance of a horse Golgotha.

Four hundred and eighty-five out of a thousand horses, which had just reached Louisville, were found to be utterly worthless, while the others were not worth twenty dollars a piece. Some were blind spavined, ring-boned, and afflicted with every other disease which horse flesh is heir to. These four hundred and eighty-five horses cost the Government fifty-eight thousand two hundred dollars, and ten thousand dollars more to get them to Louisville.

They were purchased in Philadelphia and belonged to Col. Williams' regiment of cavalry. He next referred to a contract for the delivery, six months hence, of a million and ninety two thousand muskets, at twenty one dollars a piece, while the same kind of arm was manufactured at Springfield for thirteen dollars and a half.

When we appropriated at the last session of Congress, for arms, &c., $20,000,000, thirty seven millions and some thousand dollars had already been pledged to two contractors—not for the purchase of arms for men in the field, not to protect them in fighting their country's battles in this great emergency and peril, but for some future use, for some future occasion, or to meet some present need of the contractors, I don't know which at this moment. And not only the appropriation of last session has been exhausted, but $17,000,000 put upon it. The riot of the 19th of April, in Baltimore, opened this ball, and on the 21st of April, in the city of New York, there was organized a corps of plunderers of the Treasury.

Two millions of dollars were intrusted to an incompetent editor of a paper in New York, (Cummings of the World) to dispense it in the best manner he could. Straightway this gentleman began to purchase linen pantloons, straw hats, London porter, dried herring, and such like provisions for the army, till he expended in this way $390,000 of the money, and then he got scared and quit, and forgot to pay back $140,000 of the money. There is an appropriation, also, for the supply of wood to the army. The contractor is pledged the payment of $7 a cord for all the wood delivered to the different commands—wood collected after the labor of the soldiers themselves had cut down the trees to clear the ground for their batteries, and then this contractor employs the army wagons to draw it to the several camps, and he has no further trouble than to draw his seven dollars a cord, leaving the Government to draw his wood.

It costs two millions of dollars every day to support the army in the field. A hundred millions of dollars have thus been expended since we met in December, and all that time the army has been in repose. What the expenditure will increase to when that great day shall arrive when our eyes shall be gladdened with a sight of the army in motion, I do not know. Another hundred million will go with the hundreds more I have enumerated. Another hundred million may be added to these, before the 4th of March. What it may cost to put down the rebellion I care very little, provided, always, that it be put down effectually. But, sir, faith without words is dead, and I am free to confess that my faith sometimes fails me—I mean my faith in men, not my faith in the cause. When the history of these times shall be written, it will be a question, upon whom the guilt will rest most heavily—upon him who conspired to destroy, or upon him who has proved incompetent to preserve the institutions bequeathed to us by our fathers. It is no wonder that the public treasury trembles and staggers like a strong man with too great a burden upon him. A strong man in an air-exhausted receiver is not more helpless to-day than is the treasury of this Government beneath the exhausting process to which it is subjected.

Sixty days longer of this state of things will bring about a result one way or the other. It is impossible that the Treasury of the United States can meet, and continue to meet, this state of things sixty days longer; and an ignominious peace must be sub-submitted to unless we see to it that the credit of the country is sustained, and sustained too, by the conviction going forth from this hall to the people of the country that we will treat as traitors not only those who are bold and manly enough to meet us face to face in the field of strife, but all those, also, who clandestinely and stealthily suck the life-blood from us in this mighty struggle, Whatever measures may emanate from the committee on Ways and Means to meet and retrieve this state of things, they will but fall like a dead pall upon the public unless they give this assurance, that these extraordinary and extreme measures to resuscitate, revive and replenish the treasury, are not made to fill further any longer the already gorged pockets of the public plunderers.

CHANGE IN THE CABINET.

From the New York Tribune, 14th.

Gen. Simon Cameron yesterday resigned the Department of War, and Edwin M. Stanton (also a Pennsylvanian, but recently, we believe, a resident of Washington City) was promptly nominated to fill his place. Mr. Stanton has hitherto been called a Democrat, but now knows no politics but devotion to the Union. Nobody more earnestly urges the striking quick and heavy blows right at the heart of this abominable treason, and if he hates anything worse than an open secessionist, it is the sneaking, skulking traitor who clings to the rank and pay of a United States officer while his heart is with those who are plotting and fighting to divide and destroy the country. Unless we are grievously mistaken in Mr. S., the Nation will have ample reason to rejoice over his appointment, while the rebel agents and spies in Maryland and the Federal District will be suddenly impelled to make themselves scarce. We shall be disappointed if some of those in Washington who have richly earned a traitor's fate do not soon receive their deserts.

—The retirement of Gen. Cameron will be attributed by some to his frankly expressed views on the "contraband" question, but (we are confident) incorrectly. Those who read the speech of Mr. Dawes in the House yesterday will be able to give a better guess at the true cause. The truth is that Mr. Comeron has had very unprofitable friends. Himself devoted and patriotic to the heart's core, he has been surrounded and pressed upon by troops of noisy well wishers who would have scorned the idea of selling their God for thirty pieces of silver so long as there was the faintest hope of making it forty. These have bored him into signing contracts by which they have made enormous profits at his expense as well as the country's. Some of those contracts will have to be pitched overboard, and it would be well if the contractors could be sent after them.

Gen. Cameron will not be fairly judged unless the extraordinary circumstances under which he has acted are taken into the account. When he acccepted the post of Secretary of War, war itself was very far from his thoughts. Six weeks afterward, he was startled as by a clap of thunder from a clear noon-day sky: Sumter was bombarded, and scarcely a week had elapsed before Washington itself was virtually besieged and for a time cut off from all intercourse with the thoroughly loyal States. Communication with the North was soon restored, but the leaguer of the Capital continued, and was at length intensified by the blockade of the Potomac. Such were the conditions under which enormous quantities of Arms, Munitions, Provisions, Clothing, &c., were required: they were to be transmitted through a State and city of dubious loyalty to a Capital imperiled and open to assault as well as to blockade. It would not do to wait for safe communications and reasonable prices: arms and supplies must be had with small regard to aught but time; and no one could be expected to deliver at Washington, cattle or anything else at his own risk on such terms as would readily command them in New York. A generous public will make due allowance for all that was novel and trying in the situation; but why contracts should have been made for arms at famine prices, to be delivered six or eight months hence, we confess our inability to say. We trust Gen. Cameron will speak out promptly and frankly, and we shall be right glad to know that none but errors of judgment can be imputed to his administration.

—It is said that the British Legation in Washington use an ingenious cipher for writing their dispatches and telegrams on any important question; and that one of the attaches from the Foreign office at London can translate it as readily as a telegraphic operator can read from the tickings of his instrument.

—One thousand copies of spelling-books recently exchanged for an improved series by the children in the public schools at Worcester, Mass., have been forwarded to Fortress Monroe, at the request of the Massachusetts soldiers there, who are teaching contraband ideas how to shoot.

MR. BEECHER ON MR. GARRISON.

Last Sunday morning, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in announcing William Lloyd Garrison's lecture at the Cooper Institute for Tuesday evening, said:

"The lecture will be on a rather novel subject for Mr. Garrison: that is to say, on Abolitionism, the Abolitionists and their Relations to the War. Probably, outside of the Indians, there is not a man, woman or child on this continent who has not heard that man's name, and heard it cursed. If there ever was a man who, by other men's speeches, has been set upon and trodden down into the mire, it is William Lloyd Garrison. It seems a little unmanly for me to speak in his favor now, when all the community are beginning to have some sense of that heroism which has sustained him against the most violent public opinion, in the Church and out of the Church, in the State and out of the State, for more than forty years. I recollect that twelve or thirteen years ago, when abolitionism was not so popular as now, and when no man thought it right to express a dislike to slavery, without first preparing the ear by cursing the Abolitionists—I recollect that at that far-away period, I took occasion, much to the distaste of many of you (for then you were in a very different state of mind from that in which you are now, on that subject), to say that I thought this man heroic; that I admired him all the more because I did not agree with his extreme methods. I agree with Mr. Garrison in the life-long hatred that he holds toward every form of oppression. I agree with him in every letter and punctuation of his belief, that the Bible abhors slavery, from end to end. I agree wholly with him in this, that every man who is a man, ought to give whatever he has, of head, and heart, and money, and power, to the extinction of slavery. In regard the practical modes and instruments by which slavery is to be reached and extinguished, and almost only in that regard have I had occasion to differ from Mr. Garrison. But after all, differences among men as to the mere methods of carrying out principles are nothing in comparison with the value of the principles themselves. This man has stood fearless and faithful amid universal defections for many years; but the days are soon coming when men will mention his name only with praise."

"JIM" LANE told this story in his recent speech at Boston: I have half a mind to relate an anecdote to show how the slaveholders cling to their property.—[Voices—"Do it; do it."] Well I will. We were marching to Springfield—I was informed by one of my men that a woman in great distress wanted to see me. I told him to bring her to me and he did. She was a big, brawny woman, fat and over forty, and was crying. I asked her what the matter was. She said, "My two sons have joined the confederate army, and your soldiers have taken my two niggers." Said I, "My good woman, that is not the worst thing that could happen to you. I am on the track of your sons, and I shall probably catch them in a day or two and hang them. [Laughter.] She threw her arms about my neck and said:—Gen. Lane, you may do what you want with my sons, if you'll only return the niggers." [Great Laughter.] I disengaged myself from her embrace, but didn't promise to return the niggers."

—Humor is the art of saying happy things that have the effect of making others happy; whilst wit, and especially that grade of it that takes the form of satire, is the art of saying smart things that are the cause of smarting in others.

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT.

From Forney's Philadelphia Press, 11th.

Some time ago, a private in the 19th Indiana Regiment was tried by a court martial for deserting his post, and found guilty, the punishment for which is death. His execution was deferred for some time, and he was kept in a painful state of suspense. At last the time was fixed for his execution, and five regiments were drawn up in line to witness it, while a file of twelve men were in advance to execute the sentence of death by shooting him.

The prisoner was led forward blindfolded and the usual words of preparation and command were given in a low, measured tone by the officer in command. During the intervals between the commands, "take aim," and "fire," and before the last was given, a horseman rode rapidly up the road, waiving in the air a paper which was understood by all present to be a reprieve. Covered with dust and perspiration, the officer rode hurriedly up to the officer in command and delivered to him what really proved to be a reprieve. The shout "reprieve" fell upon the poor soldier's ear, which was already strained to the utmost in anticipation of hearing the last and final word that was to usher his soul into the presence of his Creator; it was too much for him, and he fell upon his coffin apparently dead. The bandage was removed from his eyes, but reason has taken its flight, and he became a hopeless maniac. He was discharged from the army and sent home to his friends. His death had really never been intended, but it was deemed necessary for the good order and discipline of the army to make an impression upon not only himself but the whole brigade. For that purpose, the forms of the execution were regularly gone through with, in presence of five regiments, and the reprieve arrived in good time, as it was intended.

THE PIONEER AND THE FEDERAL PRINTING.

From the Mantorville Express.

AN OUTRAGE.—The Pioneer and Democrat announces that it has been selected as one of the papers in this State to publish the laws of the present Congress. This is an outrage upon the Republicans of Minnesota. From the day when the Republican party came into existence, and weak and unorganized, commenced its warfare upon the abominations of the "Moccasin Democracy" until that party was utterly crushed out in the State and even until the National party was dead and buried in the North by the traitorous acts of their allies in the South, the Pioneer has been the most unscrupulous and vindictive enemy of the Republican organization and its principles. Almost to the very day of the attack upon Sumter it opposed what it styled coercion, namely, the forcible administration of the laws of the Government. Through all the years of Democraric rule in the Territory and State, the Pioneer fattened on public printing at most enormous rates. Does its advocacy and a support of the Administration for the past few weeks entitle it to the preference over the many other papers in the State which have fought the battles of the Republican party from the first, and very often at a great pecuniary sacrifice?

We know not to what influences this selection is due, but we repeat, it will be regarded by the Republicans of the State generally, as a gross imposition and insult.

A COMPLETE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE TIMES.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
Splendidly Illustrated.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We would not so often call attention to HARPER'S WEEKLY if we were not well satisfied that it is the best Family Paper published in the United States, and for that reason, and that alone, we desire to see it undermine and root out a certain kind of literature too prevalent, which blunts the morals of its readers, vitiates the taste for sensible reading, and is already bad in its effects.—New London Advertiser.

Its fresh leaves, its clear type, its entertaining variety, its severe but just criticisms upon the follies of the times, its elegantly written and instructive articles, and its able correspondence, all combine to make it the model newspaper of the country, and one that every family must prize. Its condensed weekly summary of Foreign and Domestic intelligence is altogether superior to that contained in any other journal. Being published too, in a form for preservation and binding, if taken care of as it deserves to be, it will be found in future years as welcome a companion for the family and fireside as the day on which it was first perused.—N. Y. Evening Post.

HARPER'S

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as can not be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies, in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood cuts: and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature, London.

No Magazine in Europe or America is so well known; none has half as many readers; and, we may safely say, none has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversified, elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magazine of the day. The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant.

TERMS.

The Magazine may be obtained of Booksellers, Periodical Agents, or from the Publishers, at Three Dollars a year, or Twenty-Five Cents a number. The Semi-Annual Volumes, as completed, neatly bound in Cloth, are sold at Two Dollars each; and the Muslin Covers are furnished to those who wish their back numbers uniformly bound, at Twenty Five Cents each. Twenty Two Volumes are now ready, bound in Cloth and also in Half Calf.

The Publishers will supply Specimen Numbers gratuitously, to Agents and Postmasters, and will make liberal arrangements with them for circulating the Magazine. They will also supply Clubs of Two Persons at Five Dollars a year, or Five Persons at Ten Dollars. Clergymen and Teachers supplied at Two Dollars a year. Numbers from the commencement can now be supplied. Also, the bound Volumes.

The Magazine weighs over seven and not over eight ounces. The postage on each number, which must be paid quarterly, in advance, at the office where the Magazine is received, is Three Cents.

TO THE INVENTOR.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official list of the claims of all the patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the previous week; thus giving a correct history of the progress of the inventions in this country. We are also receiving every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

H. J. BRAINARD & CO.'S MILLS,

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.
